JOHNSTON STORY THRILLS RECORD CROWD AT CLUB

1,500 Cheer Heroes of Sea Battle.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

The largest audience in the history of the Chicago Union League club yesterday afternoon heard a first hand account of the battle of the Coral sea, told by Stanley Johnston, CHICAGO TRIBUNE foreign correspondent who witnessed it from the bomb scarred decks of the aircraft carrier Lexington.

The largest previous crowd to fill the club's main dining room and the corridors outside it went there eight years ago to hear Winston Churchill and numbered 1,300 persons. Yesterday, 1,500 sought admission.

Johnston, who was making his first appearance before a large audience, told his story simply. He was interrupted frequently by applause for the brilliant daring of America's fighting seamen, airmen, and marines, and by laughter for their lighthearted humor in the midst of one the most devastating sea actions in history.

New Thrill for Audience.

Between these spontaneous outbursts the audience sat in rapt tenseness, in a silence broken only by the speaker's voice. All the hundreds in the room had read Johnston's stories of the battle—a series that has been called the finest newspaper reporting to come out of the present war.

But yesterday's audience was experiencing a new thrill in hearing first hand, from one who had stood among the falling bombs, the story of an historic American victory. And this extended to the high army and navy officials who sat at the speakers' table.

Among these were Comm. R. F. Whitehead, aviation aid to the commander of the 9th naval district; Maj. Gen. George Grunert, commanding the 6th corps area; Col. Edward Roth Jr., chief of staff of the 6th corps area, and Capt. E. A. Lofquist, chief of staff of the 9th naval district.

Many Service Men Present.

In the audience there were frequent islands of color—the khaki and blue of other officers of the army and navy.

In addition to attendance, Johnston's moving story set another record at the Union League club. He did not finish speaking until past 2:30 p. m.—long after the usual dismissal time for luncheon meetings. And tho the audience was made up principally of business and professional men who were taking time from their offices, no one departed until the end.

In analyzing the battle, Johnston emphasized the crushing humiliation dealt the Japanese. It was the worst defeat for Japan since it became a military power and it is this humiliation, Johnston believes, that the American people should celebrate.

McCutcheon Draws Contrast.

Johnston was introduced by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, to whom the gavel was surrendered by Albion C. Cronkhite, president of the Union League club. First, however, Col. McCormick presented John T. McCutcheon, of THE TRIBUNE, dean of American newspaper cartoonists, who as a war correspondent was with Dewey at the battle of Manila bay.

In his brief address, Mr. McCutcheon drew a contrast between this American victory and the farflung battle line in the Coral sea. During the all night cannonading at Manila, the opposing fleets were in contact with each other. The airplane, which brought about the vast change in technique seen in the Coral sea, was not invented until five years after Dewey's great victory.

In his introduction of Johnston, Col. McCormick sketched the correspondent's careers in two wars as fighting man and writer.

"Stanley Johnston joined the Australian army at the mature age of 14½ years," said Col. McCormick. "He fought thru the bloody Gallipoli campaign, observing both the dramatic and technical aspects of the battle.

"In the present war as correspondent for THE TRIBUNE, he was with another Tribune reporter, Guy Murchie, in a fourth floor room of a Dover hotel which was destroyed by a bomb. Murchie fell four floors, but

HERE'S SUMMARY OF NEWS FROM MAIN WAR FRONTS

Latest war developments:

British forces in North Africa abandoned positions on the frontier of Egypt and fell back to defend Matruh, 130 miles east of the Libyan border, in the first step toward the defense of the Nile valley, said dispatches from Cairo. Axis armies passed Sidi Barrani, 60 miles inside Egypt, advancing half way to Matruh. The axis columns were harassed by British mobile columns and aircraft.

In China the American volunteer "Flying Tigers" raided the river harbor of Hankow, sinking three Japanese transports and a warship. The Chinese reported they had pushed back the Japanese 12 miles from a recaptured town in Chekiang province.

Moscow admitted the fall of the railway junction city of Kupyansk, 60 miles southeast of Kharkov, in the German offensive in the Ukraine. The soviet garrison still was in possession of Sevastopol, Black sea naval base, tho its outer defenses were overrun by the enemy.

Germans Take Rail Center in Kharkov Drive

MOSCOW, June 26 [Friday]—(AP).—Falling back again before the hammer blows of what appears to be a full fledged German offensive in the Ukraine, the Russians early today acknowledged the loss of the railway junction city of Kupyansk, 60 miles southeast of Kharkov.

A communique said that while the defenders of Sevastopol beat off continuing heavy enemy attacks yesterday, the soldiers of the Ukraine struggled against "advancing German Fascist troops."

The German drive in the Kharkov sector thus went into its fifth day with the Russians announcing for the first time in weeks the loss of an important town to the Nazis.

Kupyansk, the communique said, was abandoned only after "fierce fighting" against the invaders, who have been using hundreds of tanks in this region, pouring them into the battle in waves to support huge forces of infantry troops.

May Be Drive on Caucasus.

Kupyansk is on the Oskol river, which flows into the Donetz. The town is 40 miles north of Izyum, the northern end of the Izyum-Barvenkova line, the area in which the Russians this spring thwarted a German push toward Rostov by launching their own surprise offensive.

This German drive toward the coveted, oil filled Caucasus now may have started, with the Germans apparently trying to swing around north of Russian positions in the Izyum area.

The Russians have acknowledged loss of ground consistently since they announced early Tuesday that the Germans had taken the initiative on the Kharkov front.

Fourth Week of Siege.

Sevastopol, now virtually a ruins under a pall of smoke and dust, went into its fourth week of resistance to the death with its outer defenses shell-torn and over-run, but its inner fortress line intact:

The battle for Sevastopol was most violent north and south of the port where the Germans were reported dying by thousands in an attempt to deepen their penetration into the defense system.

Aid for the battered defense forces was reported brought to Sevastopol by a warship of the Black sea fleet which steamed into port at the height of the fighting, bringing supplies and reënforcements.

"House to House Fighting."

BERLIN, June 25 [from German broadcasts] (AP).—The German high command acknowledged today for the first time that its forces had undertaken a Ukraine offensive southeast of Kharkov on June 22, anniversary of the invasion of Russia. The Berlin communique reported further gains into the Sevastopol defenses in bitter "forest and house-to-house fighting."

REDS' CHARGES BASED ON STORY OF SURVIVORS

Tokio Once Blamed U. S. for Sinking.

Russians Sink a Sub

SYDNEY, Australia, June 25 (AP).—Members of the crew of a Russian freighter said today that their guns sank a submarine, presumably Japanese, which attacked their ship off the east coast of Australia recently. The freighter's master and two crewmen were wounded.

MOSCOW, June 26 [Friday]—(AP).—A Japanese submarine torpedoed and sank the 4,761 ton Russian merchant vessel Angarstroi on May 1 at a point 32 miles off the coast of Japan, the soviet government charged today in its first mention of a sinking which the Japanese had blamed upon the United States.

The Russian crew, which is in Harbin, Manchuria, on its way home, reported that two Japanese submarines came to the surface just after the Angarstroi sank.

The Japanese press tried to blame an American submarine for the sinking, the soviet radio recalled, and then added: "But this version does not coincide with the facts" as disclosed by the survivors.

Stays with Survivors.

The Japanese submarines stayed with the survivors in small boats until another Russian vessel picked them up and landed them at Dairen, in Japanese held territory at the tip of the Kwantung peninsula of southern Manchuria.

The soviet announcer said the Angarstroi first was halted by Japanese warships on April 24 at a point 130 miles off Japan, and then escorted to a Japanese port for inspection. Later the Russian ship was released, and the ship was homeward bound when torpedoed.

JAPS CHARGE A PLOT.

Tokio in its first announcement of the sinking early in May said an American submarine had made the attack, and charged that it was carried out "in an effort to create friction between the soviet union and Japan."

This charge was repeated several times later, the last time on June 21, but both American and soviet sources meanwhile remained silent until the Moscow broadcast early today.

Japan and the soviet union have a neutrality and friendship pact, tho they are on opposite sides in the war.

There have been several reports in recent weeks of Japan rushing troops toward the Siberian border. Russia always has maintained strong forces in that corner of her vast empire.

[The Chungking newspaper Kuo Min Kung Pao yesterday predicted that Japan would invade Siberia within a month. It saw the opening of a peace offensive in the recent visit of the Japanese envoy in Moscow with Foreign Commissar Molotov, which it likened to the visit of Saburo Kurusu to the United States before the Pearl Harbor attack. The Chinese paper asserted a peace offensive is a favorite trick of Japanese militarists before launching a new aggression.]

Hunt for Clews in Murder of Two North Shore Women

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

North shore authorities, investigating the murder of two young women, sought clews last night thru questioning of persons who had seen the victims in the hours preceding the attacks. The crimes, which shocked neighborhoods in Highland Park and Waukegan, appeared to be unrelated, altho both women had been felled by blows on the head from heavy instruments and left to die in lonely woods.

The women were Miss Alta Fulkerson, 36 years old, of 656 Michigan avenue, Highland Park, and Miss Thoried Arna Larson, 24, of 825 Ash street, Waukegan. Both lived with their parents.

Several Under Suspicion.

Police Chief Martin Kopp of Highland Park said several persons were under suspicion in the Fulkerson slaying, but there was no indication of how close to finding a suspect the investigators were in the Larson case.

Miss Fulkerson's body was found at 7:50 yesterday morning in heavy underbrush 70 feet behind the home of Peter Cimbalo, 650 Chicago avenue, Highland Park, a block and a half southeast of her home.

Miss Larson died later in the day in St. Therese hospital, Waukegan, having regained consciousness only briefly since last Sunday when she was found near a wood off Belvidere road [state route 120] near Skokie highway [U. S. route 41].

HIGHLAND PARK MURDER

Miss Fulkerson was a slight woman, weighing 75 pounds, 4 feet 6 inches tall, dark haired. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Fulkerson. Her father is a pensioned North Shore line conductor. She was graduated from Deerfield Shields Township High school [now Highland Park High school] 18 years ago.

There had been nothing to disturb the even tenor of her life. Police were told that she managed the household and had no men friends, seldom leaving the house.

On Monday morning her parents left home to to visit another daughter, Mertha, in Ellison Bay, Wis. They asked Alta to accompany them but she declined because the automobile was crowded. While her parents were gone she slept in a bedroom on the first floor of the two story frame building instead of in her room upstairs. Police learned that the doors to the house were never locked.

Newlyweds Live Upstairs.

On the second floor lived Sergt. Chester Lewis of Fort Sheridan and his wife. The Lewises were married 10 days ago and moved in to room with the Fulkersons.

Sergt. Lewis said that about 3:30 Wednesday morning he heard a commotion and cries downstairs. He said he assumed that Roy Richardson, 13 years old, a nephew of Alta, was spending the night in the house and was having a bad dream. Later in the morning the Lewises found Alta gone. A crushed lampshade indicated a struggle in the room. They learned, too, that the Richardson boy had spent the night at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Richardson, 644 Michigan avenue, Highland Park.

NORTH SHORE SLAYING PICTURES

The elder Fulkerson. returned home Wednesday afternoon and notified police of their daughter's disappearance. Police first thought she might have been despondent and committed suicide; therefore they looked along the lake front.

Body Found in Wood.

Yesterday morning Sergt. Lewis took another man with him and went searching. They headed for the wood on Chicago avenue and soon found the body. It was in the underbrush between a carpenter's wooden horse and a frame arch. She was clad only in undergarments. A rag was knotted about her neck and blows had fractured her skull.

Mrs. Lewis and the elder Fulkersons were near collapse after the body was found.

Police theorized that the assailant dragged Alta from her bed, tieing the rag to choke her screams. The knot was not tight enough to have strangled her, a post mortem examination showed.

Victim's Kimona Found.

Then, police believe, he carried the frail woman down Exmoor avenue, west of her home, and to the woods on Chicago avenue, where he killed her. Early examination did not disclose whether or not she was raped.

Later yesterday Cimbalo, owner of the property on which the body was found, took police a blue and tan checked kimona and the bottom of a pair of cotton pajamas. They were identified as belonging to Miss Fulkerson. Cimbalo said he found them Wednesday afternoon 100 feet north of where the body was later discovered, but thought nothing of it until the crime was reported.

Police also found some articles of clothing in a Highwood laundry, but did not say how these were connected with the case. The clothing

STRIKE NOW! CRY FROM AUSTRALIA

'Blackest Period Since Dunkirk,' Experts Say.

New York, June 25 [Special].—The best military minds in the southwest Pacific theater of war regard an immediate allied counteroffensive as imperative, according to Martin Agronsky, NBC commentator, in a broadcast from Australia tonight heard by the New York News radio monitors.

"While all remains quiet on the southwest Pacific front, this period of the war is seen here as the blackest for the democratic cause since Dunkirk," he said.

"Need Supreme Council."

"The need for a supreme war council, for a generalissimo of the Marshal Foch type, for the immediate opening of our much talked about—but still imaginary—allied offensive is regarded by the best military minds in this war theater as not only urgent but downright desperate.

"If nothing comes of the present Churchill-Roosevelt talks but another of the familiar statements that our two war leaders are in complete agreement, there will be bitter disappointment among the armed forces on this front. It is felt here that we must have a supreme council immediately, an allied generalissimo immediately, and an offensive somewhere immediately, or we will face not only an interminable prolongation of the war, but even defeat itself.

"The American report of the possible recall of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to become allied generalissimo has not aroused particular interest here. If, instead of war production figures, MacArthur's forces here were supplied with war production goods, this could become at least one front where an allied general could hit back at our enemy.

"Let Them Do Something."

"MacArthur in Washington would be no more effective than MacArthur in Australia amidst the present universal allied indecisiveness and confusion.

"The way one of our most able observers here sums it up, is this: If our war chiefs think MacArthur is needed in Washington, then let them call him home. If some one else can do the job as well, then let them put him in command, but for God's sake, let them do something. The axis generals are chosen; they are on the move."

Pledge Victory on All Fronts at War Parley

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—Victory on all fronts was promised by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill today in reports on their deliberations on the conduct of the war, delivered to congressional leaders and members of the Pacific war council.

A bipartisan group of senators and representatives were cheered by an encouraging review of the war in an hour's conference with the two leaders. As they left, a more detailed summary of the war and united nations plans was given representatives of the nations which have a stake in the Pacific theater of operations.

No inkling of the details of the war plans was given by members of the council, but all reported they were greatly encouraged. Congressional leaders also were optimistic.

Confident of Victory.

"It was interesting and worthwhile," Walter Nash, New Zealand minister, said on leaving the White House. "They have a job definitely in hand that will ultimately give us the results we want—the winning of the war on all fronts. The President and the prime minister pointed out the difficulties they have and the way they see to get thru them."

T. V. Soong, Chinese foreign minister, said that he was pleased that the leaders have an understanding of the importance of the Pacific. Earlier in the week he had called at the White House to urge that there be no lessening of the effort in the western Pacific to meet the grave problems which have arisen as a result of German advances in Egypt and Russia. The minister said he had asked Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill for new air support for China as essential to continue Chinese resistance to Japan.

Quezon Hopeful and Happy.

Dr. Eelco van Kleffens, Netherlands foreign minister, declared that he had rarely attended a meeting so encouraging. Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine commonwealth, said he was leaving the conference "hopeful and happy."

Others attending the meeting, who said they were cheered by the meeting, included Lord Halifax, British ambassador; Sir Owen Dixon Australian minister, and W. L. Mackenzie King, Canadian prime minister, who arrived here to confer with Churchill.

After the congressional meeting Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass.], house minority leader and chairman of the Republican national committee, said the delegation had received "an interesting recital of the war situation and it was encouraging." He added that Churchill indicated Britain will hold and there is no danger of losing Egypt and the Suez.

Second Front Mentioned.

Speaker Sam Rayburn told reporters that the congressional group was leaving the White House "feeling very hopeful and very good." He said that the question of a second front was touched upon and that the British situation in Libya was discussed in some detail.

After the congressional delegation left the White House, it was reported that several members had questioned the prime minister sharply about British conduct of the war, particularly the maintaining of a large army at home. Churchill answered that the British will hold Egypt and do not need additional men there. They reported that Churchill said that criticism of his ministry at home was being exaggerated.

18 TO 20 AGE GROUP DRAFT REGISTRATION BEGINS THIS MORNING

Selective service registration for almost 158,000 Chicagoland youths in the 18, 19 and 20 year old age groups will begin today and continue until Tuesday night in 180 draft boards in the city and in Cook county towns. Approximately 288,000 are expected to register in the state.

Since youths 18 and 19 years old are not subject to military service under the selective service law, there will be no national lottery following registration to decide order numbers. Those registering who have become 20 since Jan. 1, however, are eligible for service and will be given order numbers on the basis of their birth dates.

Meanwhile, between 150 and 200 men who were married before Dec. 8 and who were slated for army induction yesterday, received unexpected 11th hour deferments by order of Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service.

At least four married men scheduled for induction yesterday insisted on getting into the army despite the deferment.

SENATOR WARNS CHURCHILL MAY BRING ON DEFEAT

Blunders Assailed in Review of War

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—In the first comprehensive senate debate on the conduct of the war since the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor, Sen. Allen J. Ellender [D., La.], an ardent supporter of the Roosevelt administration, today warned that the united nations may be defeated unless new leadership is entrusted with the direction of allied strategy.

Sen. Ellender.

Ellender assailed the leadership of British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and what he termed the apathy and incompetence of British generals. He expressed the opinion that the American people and many of those in England "are nauseated and disgusted—I may say 'sick and tired'—of the continuous inactivity of millions of soldiers now stationed on the British Isles awaiting an attack that may never come."

Deplores Navy Failures.

The Louisiana senator, a member of the naval affairs committee, deplored the failure of the navy to stop the "scandalous" and "most humiliating" sinking of merchant ships in American waters by axis submarines.

Ellender told the senate that if Britain's "inactivity" persists, he will demand that American naval vessels now engaged in convoying supplies to England be diverted to the protection of our own shipping.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] and Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.], also members of the naval affairs committee, joined Ellender in warning that the destruction of merchant shipping is reaching such alarming proportions as to imperil our victory in the war.

Sen. Byrd attributed to "some very intelligent and well informed navy officials" the belief that "enemy submarines are based somewhere in striking distance of the Atlantic coast."

Would Seize Martinique.

"Every indication is that these bases are in and around the Caribbean sea," said the Virginia senator. He suggested that, if necessary for our own protection, the United States would be justified in taking over the French island of Martinique lest it be used as a secret base for the refueling of Nazi submarines.

Altho expressing confidence of ultimate victory, Sen. Byrd told the senate that the time has come "for a drastic revision of our war effort, so that we will place first things first."

"What is the use of building thousands and thousands of tanks if the ships are lacking to transport these tanks so they can come in contact with the enemy?" Byrd demanded. "We need many things to win the war, but what we need impertaively are aircraft carriers, cargo ships, and an abundance of the most effective airplanes and destroyers."

Tydings Proposes Reward.

Sen. Tydings, concurring in the suggestion that axis submarines are being refueled at a secret base or by mother ships in the Caribbean area, announced that he had sent a letter to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox proposing that a reward of $25,000 or perhaps $100,000 be offered for information or proof that enemy war craft are receiving fuel or supplies anywhere in the western hemisphere.

Sen. James H. Hughes [D., Del.] suggested that Tydings' proposal might be embarrassing to the navy department.

"I think the greatest embarrassment that can come to the navy department is to have these sinkings continue without the navy being able to stop them," Tydings replied.

Sen. Lucas Defends Navy.

Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.], another member of the naval affairs committee, questioned Sen. Byrd's information about axis bases in the Caribbean area. Then he defended the navy department when Byrd intimated that it was too slow in recognizing the obsolescence of battleships and the vital importance of aircraft carriers in modern naval warfare.

Sen. Harry H. Schwartz [D., Wyo.] and Sen. Josh Lee [D., Okla.], both

★ CONFIRM F. D. R. WASN'T ALERT TO HAWAII ATTACK

Article Reveals Him as Unbelieving.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S disclosures last winter that President Roosevelt was no more alert to a possible attack on Pearl Harbor than were the commanders on the scene and that Secretary of State Cordell Hull had warned the war and navy departments of such an attack are confirmed by those two authorities themselves.

The confirmation is furnished by Ernest Lindley, the President's biographer, and Forrest Davis in an article in the current Ladies Home Journal based on information supplied by Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Hull and other government officials. The article is a condensed portion of a book on the genesis of America's involvement in the war, which will constitute a sort of unofficial "white paper" presenting the official version of the events leading up to Dec. 7.

Tribune Is Vindicated.

The Tribune dispatches from Washington reporting these and other facts pertaining to Pearl Harbor, the greatest military disaster in the history of the nation, stirred a furor at the time. How THE TRIBUNE was able to obtain some of the most closely held secrets of the administration was the subject of official investigation. Publication of the disclosures elicited official denials.

The revelation that Mr. Hull repeatedly warned Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson that relations with Japan were nearing a break and that war might break out at any moment put not only these officials but the President himself on the spot. Administration organs at once undertook to demonstrate that THE TRIBUNE'S dispatches were untrue. THE TRIBUNE is now vindicated by Lindley and Davis, who say in their article regarding Pearl Harbor:

"Of all the ranking officials in Washington, Mr. Hull was perhaps the least surprised. Five weeks earlier, before the arrival of Kurusu, he had warned the army and the navy that the far eastern crisis, having passed outside the bounds of diplomacy, was now in their laps. A fortnight before he had been more precise. Reminding his war cabinet colleagues of Japan's proclivity for beginning wars by stealth, he had suggested that all hands in the Pacific be on guard lest a shock attack on a wide front 'stampede the hell out of our scattered forces.'"

Conversation Quoted.

The authors tell how Secretary Knox was surprised by the Pearl Harbor attack a few hours after publication of his annual report declaring the navy was ready for war, and how astounded was the President. "The color," they say, "had left Knox's good humored, eupeptic features" as he phoned Mr. Roosevelt the news. Then, according to their account:

"'Mr. President,' said Knox, 'it looks like the Japanese have attacked Pearl Harbor——'

"'No!' the President interrupted unbelievingly.'

"'It's true," said the secretary. 'I'll read you the message,' which he did."

Shakeup Followed.

A few weeks later the report of the Roberts commission revealed that the failure to be alert to an attack was shared by the higher-ups in Washington. Naval intelligence was completely ignorant of the approach of the Japanese forces toward Hawaii. Its information was that the Japanese fleet was steaming south toward Malaya. A shakeup in both navy and army intelligence followed.

Lindley and Davis reveal that Mr. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill had a difference at their Atlantic conference in August, 1941. Mr. Churchill wanted a joint ultimatum to Japan to stay inside a deadline in the far east. Mr. Roosevelt, say the authors, felt he could not constitutionally join in an action provocative of war, which congress alone can declare. So he told Mr. Churchill to leave the matter to him, that he thought he could "baby them [the Japs] along for three months."

The authors also relate how Mr. Roosevelt repeatedly had to disabuse official British minds of the notion that we wanted to annex the British West Indies in return for the 50 destroyers transferred to Britain in 1940. The President told them he didn't want to acquire any "headaches" for this country. So bases were leased to us in exchange for the destroyers.

Revelations Criticized.

That these and other authoritative disclosures should be made by the government in the shape of a book and magazine articles from which favorites of the administration are reaping an enormous profit is the subject of much grumbling in Washington. Other governments make such revelations in official "white papers" from which no one profits.

The President gave a similar concession to two other favorites, Joseph W. Alsop Jr., and Robert Kintner, who in "American White Paper" gave the inside story of the administration's participation in the events leading up to the outbreak of the war in Europe.

Lincoln, Ill., June 25 [Special].—Roy Turner, 35 years old, Lincoln, collection agent for the Illinois Independent Oil company, was found dead today in the wreckage of his car on state route 10 west of Mason City. He had a bullet wound behind his right ear and a gun in his right hand. Coroner T. P. was taken to the police crime detection laboratory in Chicago for examination.

STORY OF MURDER NO. 2

The second murder victim, Miss Larson, was a brunet, 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds. She was an unemployed domestic, living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Larson, and also occasionally stayed at the home of her brother, Kenneth Larson, 22 Wisconsin avenue, Waukegan. The elder Larson is a factory worker.

Last Saturday afternoon Miss Larson left her brother's home and met a Waukegan man. This man, who has been eliminated as a suspect by police, said he took her to Jack's tavern on West Washington street in Waukegan.

There, he told police, she met a uniformed man believed to be a chief petty officer at Great Lakes Naval Training station. She informed her earlier escort that she would find her way home alone and he left. About 2 a. m. Sunday Miss Larson left the tavern with the uniformed man.

Sees Victim on Road.

At 12:35 Sunday afternoon John E. Moore, 1833 Greenfield avenue, North Chicago, a deputy game warden, driving on Belvidere road, saw a woman feebly crawling from a wood to a cinder lane near the road. It was Miss Larson, dying from heavy blows on the head. She was wearing a blue dress with white dots. Her shoes and a dark coat were in a bundle near by.

She was taken to St. Therese hospital. In a moment of consciousness Sunday night she told her parents: "I can't remember. A coupe." Investigators believe she may have been riding with her assailant.

Naval authorities were coöperating last night with Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy of Lake county to learn the identity of the uniformed man who left the tavern with Miss Larson.

32 Crewmen of U. S. Cargo Ship Interned in Shanghai

San Francisco, Cal., June 25 (AP).—The coast guard notified the next of kin today that the 32 members of the Malama, missing Matson company freighter, had been interned at Shanghai after the vessel apparently was captured or sunk by the Japanese somewhere in the Pacific. The Malama left San Francisco last Nov. 29 bound for New Zealand and Australia with a cargo of war material. It was reported missing Jan. 1.

GUARD AGAINST COMMUNISM AT HOME, VFW TOLD

War in Vain if Ideal Lost, Says Schnackenberg.

Elmer J. Schnackenberg.

The Illinois department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was warned yesterday that America's soldiers will have fought in vain in this war unless the American democracy is safeguarded against the spread of communism and other subversive influences.

Speaking at the VFW's 23d encampment in the Morrison hotel, Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the Illinois house of representatives urged the veterans "to be constantly on the alert to preserve the American ideal in our home institutions while our boys are fighting all over the world."

"While our military alliance with Russia is justified as a war measure," Schnackenberg told the 5,000 veterans, "we would just as soon see communism and the soviet planned economy remain in Russia. We do not want it here.

Calls Underminers Termites.

"Whether those who seek to plant unrest and communism in this country be those who have wiggled their way into the council of industry and business or have muscled their way into the ranks of organized labor or have obtained a seat in a revolving swivel chair in some bureau or commission of government, they are but termites who are seeking to undermine our form of government."

David G. Stone, departmental VFW judge advocate, and chairman of the encampment's resolutions committee, reported last night that his committee unanimously had approved a resolution commending the work of the Dies committee. The resolution will be presented before the entire encampment today.

Denies Illinois Complacent.

Col. Don Jones, commander of the Disabled American War Veterans of Illinois, declared to the encampment that he resented charges of "complacency" leveled against Illinois in the east. He said Illinois soldiers are fighting thruout the world "in a manner that is anything but complacent."

Declaring "we must face the mistakes we have before us," Gen. Harry Lundblad, chairman of the VFW's national defense committee, said to the encampment that "our armed forces must be freed from politics . . . and must be given the best leadership and security that can be produced."

Cadet Receives Medal.

Cadet Gerald Nelson Jr. of the Roosevelt Military academy, Aledo, was awarded a citizenship medal by the veterans after being selected as the outstanding junior in the state's military schools. He lives at 4607 Sheridan road.

The veterans, who will parade at 2 p. m. today on Michigan avenue from Balbo avenue to Randolph street, will sponsor ceremonies in Soldiers' field tonight for induction of 1,200 aviation cadets. It will be the largest number of volunteers in this war to enlist in any armed service at one time. Thirty thousand spectators are expected.

Explosion in Newfoundland Injures Soldiers, Workers

OTTAWA, Ont., June 25 (AP).—National defense headquarters late tonight announced it had received word of an explosion somewhere in Newfoundland resulting in "injuries to army and contractors' personnel." Location of the blast was not announced here. National defense headquarters said only that it had occurred at an army installation and was "considered to be entirely accidental."

BAR HEAD RAPS HIGH COURT AS NEW DEAL TOOL

Atlantic City, N. J., June 25 (AP).—The head of the Maryland Bar association charged today that the Supreme court of the United States had "freed itself not only from precedents but also from the words of the statute" in order "to serve the purpose of the New Deal."

In an address before the 47th annual meeting of the Maryland State Bar association, Charles Markell of Baltimore, retiring president, attacked the "reconstructed" court and federal administration agencies, particularly the National Labor Relations board.

When the NLRB appeared before the Supreme court, he said, it was "not a 'Daniel come to judgment.'" But, he continued, "an employer before the board is a Daniel in the den of lions without an angel to shut the lions' mouth."

Discussing a report on the reform of federal administrative agencies, he said "when a Robespierre exercises administrative power, subject to judicial review by a Pontius Pilate, the situation cannot be appreciably relieved by enactment of a statutory book of etiquette."

JOHNSTON STORY THRILLS RECORD CROWD AT CLUB

1,500 Cheer Heroes of Coral Sea Battle.

being tough, suffered only a leg injury.

"Johnston also fell four floors, and, being tougher, was not hurt at all. Afterward he came to this country to write as a trained military and naval observer on technical aspects of the war for THE TRIBUNE."

There was long applause when Col. McCormick announced that Johnston now has become a naturalized American citizen.

Story Distributed Free.

"I don't know how Johnston got on the Lexington and I don't care," the colonel continued. "I do know that his great stories of American victory, coming at a time of allied defeats, were so valuable that THE TRIBUNE gave them free of charge to newspapers everywhere. They are to be put into book form and the sole owner of the copyright will be Stanley Johnston."

Johnston began by sketching the numbers of the American vessels and the two opposing Japanese fleets. He pointed out on a large map the shifting battle zone as the action proceeded between May 4 and May 8, inclusive.

The first roar of applause came when he repeated the historic message radioed back to the Lexington by Lieut. Comm. Robert Dixon just after American navy bombers had made contact with the Japs. The message, signaling the end of the first Jap aircraft carrier, was:

"Scratch one flat top; scratch one flat top."

Celebration on Carrier.

On the Lexington's loud speaker system that message echoed across the decks and thru the wardrooms, setting off a great celebration among the officers and men. Shortly afterward, said Johnston, a scout plane returned for bombs and fuel and the pilot inquired who had sunk the cruiser.

"There was no report of a cruiser sinking," Johnston continued. "Presently a young flyer stepped forward, and said, shyly: 'I'm sorry, but I sank the cruiser. When I got over the carrier I saw it was finished, so I saved my bomb. Then the Jap cruiser started shooting at me and I thought that I'd just let them have the bomb. And I did.'"

There were more cheers and laughter from the audience as Johnston told how the Lexington's radio picked up the voices of two American flyers who were methodically knocking down seven of a flight of nine Jap planes—and making a game of it.

And there was the unforgettable moment when nine Jap planes, bewildered and wandering after the battle, tried and almost made a mistaken landing on the decks of the Lexington.

Wild Flight of Enemy.

It was the day after this that saw the great battle in which the powerful Jap fleet and its transports were bombed and torpedoed into wild flight, and which also saw the end of the gallant Lexington.

Silence settled over the audience as Johnston reached this part of his story. As has been stated, Johnston is not an orator. He told his story in much the same manner as he related it to his fellow workers at THE TRIBUNE upon returning from the Pacific.

He told of standing on the superstructure of the Lexington and of seeing the almost incredibly swift approach of the Jap dive bombers and torpedo planes; of feeling the shock and roll of the grand old carrier as she took bomb after bomb and torpedo after torpedo.

He told of direct hits upon the attacking torpedo planes by guns of the Lexington and protecting cruisers and of the thunderclaps in which the Japs flew apart in midair. He described these explosions as "among the most beautiful and interesting things I ever have seen."

Battle to Save Ship.

Then came a moving account of the "battle after the battle"; the dogged and heroic fight of America's navy men to save the Lexington from the gasoline fed flames that were spreading swiftly.

Finally, there was the story of abandoning ship and of the repeated explosions that rocked the carrier; how the wounded were taken off first, then how the others got away without the loss of a single life.

After dark, with the Lexington's flames lighting up the sea and serving as a possible guide to enemy aircraft, an American destroyer put four torpedoes into her starboard side.

"She didn't roll over," Johnston concluded. "She went down slowly, with her head up—like the great lady she always was."

At the speakers' table, in addition to Mr. Cronkhite, Col. McCormick, Mr. McCutcheon, and Johnston, were Mrs. Stanley Johnston, Gen. Charles G. Dawes, and Joseph H. Finn, chairman of the Union League club's special events committee.

STREAMLINER KILLS ILLINOISAN.

Lee, Ill., June 25 [Special].—D. W. Kuykendall, 40 years old, Monticello, Ill., was killed this afternoon when his automobile was struck at a crossing near this Lee county village by the Burlington railroad's streamliner, Zephyr.

STANLEY JOHNSTON'S TALK MAY LEAD TO A NEW COURSE IN NAVY

As a result of Stanley Johnston's stirring story of the battle of the Coral sea before the Union League club yesterday, a new course may be added to naval training. This was stated by Commander Lyttleton B. P. Gould, special assistant to Rear Adm. Randall Jacobs, chief of the navy bureau of personnel.

Commander Gould, en route to Denver to address the National Education association, was impressed by The Tribune correspondent's comment that many men suffered rope burns on their hands and legs when going over the side of the stricken aircraft carrier Lexington on lines.

"I suffered no burns, because I had slid down ropes before and knew how," Johnston said. Commander Gould asserted that upon his return to Washington he would recommend that rope sliding be taught in the physical fitness courses being given by Lieut. Comm. Gene Tunney.

SERVICE CENTER IN PARK TO HAVE GIRLS, SPORTS

Uniformed Men Invited for Tomorrow Night.

The new summer Service Men's center in Lincoln park was previewed last night by hundreds of men and women who have given freely of their time and money to provide recreation and refreshment.

The 12 acre lake front center and its facilities will be opened to service men for the first time tomorrow night. Because of the cold guests were not long able to enjoy the numerous outdoor amusements that dot the lawn by which the recreation building is separated from the lake, but they promenaded the length of the grounds to see the fun that was in store for men in uniform.

Yes, There'll Be Hostesses.

A nine hole putting green has been put into shape for devotees of golfing and horseshoe pitching enthusiasts will find several courts ready for use. A 1,500 foot bathing beach, complete with a bathhouse, is waiting only tomorrow night and men who enjoy a cooling dip. The service men will not be without feminine company, for the center will have on hand a supply of attractive registered hostesses, as is the practice at the loop center.

The wide expanse of lawn is dotted with colorful umbrella topped tables, to which the men and their companions may carry the refreshments they will receive at the canteen. Artists, who have volunteered their time and material, will be on hand to sketch a portrait for a doughboy or sailor to send to his mother or the girl back home.

The huge building, formerly a children's fresh air sanitarium, has been turned into a combination theater, restaurant, and ballroom. Phonographic equipment, pianos, and lantern flashed words to tunes were tested last night by a preview crowd which unanimously acclaimed the entire center a success.

Canteen Manned by Volunteers.

Volunteer workers man the canteen and kitchen, which will provide hungry service men with hot dogs, orange ade, cookies, and soft drinks. Professional and amateur entertainers have been invited to present entertainments several evenings a week.

Men from the services were present last night to carry back to their buddies reports on the center. Earl Cook, a private in the marine corps, spoke for his companions when he said: "It's sure going to be tough to leave Chicago and this wonderful summer center." A sailor added: "And you can't spend a cent."

ROBBED OF BRIEF CASE.

Mrs. Dolores Loose, 4649 North Leclaire avenue, bookkeeper for the Winter-Hirsch Auto Finance company, 3943 Irving Park boulevard, was robbed of a brief case containing $65 and $1,700 in checks yesterday as she alighted from a street car at Irving Park road and Cicero avenue.

RADDY, LONELY FROG, SCORNS FORMER MATE WHO DESERTED HIM

Raddy the frog yesterday scorned the mate with whom he lived for eight years. He concentrated instead on paying court to a young and dazzling frog named Maizie.

Taken to the zoo after his longtime mate, Lily, deserted him, Raddy probably was convinced that he would never see her again. At any rate he was having a pleasant tête-à-tête yesterday noon with Maizie, a brilliantly colored frog who lives in the zoo's reptile house.

Then Lily, taken to the zoo by a youth who identified her from stories about Raddy in THE TRIBUNE, was placed in the reptile house with Raddie and Maizie. Unconcerned, Raddy looked at her, then leaped toward Maizie and continued his conversation with her. Lily jumped into the pool. Zoo Director Edward H. Bean, who understands such things, said she probably was croaking the blues.

EFFORT TO SAVE INGERSOLL FROM DRAFT ASSAILED

Rankin Tells House PM Is Trouble Maker.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—The attempt by Marshall Field, publisher, to defer the induction into the army of Ralph M. Ingersoll, editor of Field's New York tabloid PM, was denounced in the house today by Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.].

The incident came to light yesterday when Ingersoll, about to leave with other draftees, was suddenly given a two weeks' postponement. It became known that Field had wired the draft board that Ingersoll was indispensable to the management of PM which Field characterized as a newspaper valuable in wartime.

PM, Rankin told the house, has thus far devoted its wartime efforts to the abuse of congress and the stirring up of race trouble and disunity thruout the country.

Called Communist Front.

"This millionaire playboy, Field, gives as a reason for exempting Ingersoll from the draft that he is needed to edit a publication which has been branded by the Dies committee as a Communist front paper," said Rankin.

"Why should Marshall Field's $45,000,000 inheritance be permitted to escape taxation, thru a legal subterfuge, and then be used for such subversive purposes when every one else is called upon to sacrifice in order to finance the war?

"Why should he waste $500,000 a year to finance a publication that is devoted to the abuse of congress and the promotion of disunity and then get his chief henchmen exempted from the draft, when other single men all over the country are required to serve?

More "Light" Is Expected.

"Time is too short for me to go into details, but I hope to have some information for the house on this subject in a few days that will throw additional light on this whole proceeding."

Rankin recently charged that PM was promoting a march of colored persons upon Washington in the hope of arousing racial feeling here. The march, he said, ostensibly was for the purpose of promoting a bill to remove poll taxes in some southern states.

Another of Rankin's charges against the New York paper was that it had slandered the Red Cross by charging that Japanese blood was being mixed with American blood in "blood banks" which are used for the purpose of administering to wounded American soldiers. Rankin said he had investigated the accusation and found no truth whatever in it.

Edgar Rice Burroughs' Wife Asks Mexico Divorce

El Paso, Tex., June 25 (AP).—Juarez, Mexico, civil court records disclosed today that Mrs. Florence Gilbert Burroughs filed a divorce petition two weeks ago against Edgar Rice Burroughs, famous author of Tarzan novels. The complaint charged mental cruelty and incompatibility.

ARMY TO ENLIST COLLEGE MEN IN RESERVE CORPS

Members to Continue School Work.

The war department shortly will announce a plan whereby qualified college students who wish to complete their education before being called into the army may do so by enlisting in the enlisted reserve corps, it was disclosed yesterday at 6th corps area headquarters.

Details will be announced as soon as plans are completed. In the meantime interested persons are requested to refrain from applying for information, a corps area spokesman said.

Similar to Navy Plan.

The plan, in many respects similar to the navy's V-1 plan, provides for the enlistment of qualified students in colleges and universities and aims to keep potential officer material studying in order to be better qualified to serve after graduation.

Enrollment will be voluntary. Students must pass physical requirements and possess officer qualifications and be at least 18 years old.

If accepted, they will be placed in the enlisted reserve and may continue their education. Reservists may be called to active duty, however, whenever the military situation requires such action.

Examinations Are Required.

Students will be subject to examinations at the end of their second year. Those who do not meet the required educational standards or who fail to show leadership traits will be called to active duty immediately.

Quotas for all accredited colleges and universities in the 6th corps area will be announced soon. In institutions maintaining army ROTC units exclusively, quotas will favor the army. In those maintaining navy ROTC units, however, the navy will get preference.

Attorney to Supervise $6,000,000 Gas Refund

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday appointed Tappan Gregory, attorney, to supervise the refund of $6,000,000 of overcharges to one million gas users in the Chicago area. The prospective refund results from a United States Supreme court decision reducing pipe line rates paid by utility companies in this area by $3,375,000 a year.

DECORATE GEN. BRETT, U. S. CHIEF OF ALLIED AIRMEN IN AUSTRALIA

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—The war department announced today award of the distinguished service medal to Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, allied air force commander in the southwest Pacific, for "exceptionally meritorious service" in England, Egypt, Burma, China, Java, and Australia. Brett, 56 years old, a native of Cleveland, O., is a former chief of the air corps.

The citation accompanying the award follows:

New Freedom Radio Station in Holland Called Nazi Fake

LONDON, June 25 (AP).—Radio Orange, the Netherlands government station in London, tonight branded the self-styled Dutch freedom radio station which announced its existence last night as a Nazi fake. The radio outlet of the Dutch government in exile at the end of a night news broadcast named the freedom radio as "under the control of the occupying power." [The mysterious new station failed to broadcast as scheduled Thursday night.]

NAME GENERAL TO LEAD YANKS ON '2D FRONT'

Eisenhower, Tank Expert, Now in London.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—The United States today advanced plans for the opening of a second front in Europe by establishing a European theater of operations with Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, considered the ablest young officer in the army, as commanding general.

D. D. Eisenhower.

The move was regarded here as an outcome of the conferences on the conduct of the war which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have been holding since the latter's dramatic reappearance in this country last Thursday.

Setting up of the theater command does not mean that a second-front will be opened at once, but that planning and directing machinery for opening a front at the opportune time has been established, military experts said. The war department defined a theater of operations as "an area where combat is in progress or will be."

Coördinate Allied Efforts.

Creation of the centralized command for the American forces in England and Northern Ireland with headquarters in London was announced in a war department communique. At the same time the war department released a statement issued by Gen. Eisenhower on his arrival in London this morning.

"The formal establishment of a European theater is a logical step in coördinating the efforts of Britain and the United States," Eisenhower said.

"Six months ago the prime minister of Britain and the President of the United States heartened the people of the united nations by moving swiftly to merge the military and economic strength of Britain and the United States for a common effort.

Set Up Effective Pattern.

"At that Washington conference they set a more effective pattern for unqualified partnership than has ever before been envisaged by allied nations in pursuit of a common purpose. Only recently they have met again to bring combined action into even closer coöperation.

"The presence here in the British Isles of American soldiers and pilots in rapidly increasing numbers is evidence that we are hewing to the line of that pattern."

American forces in England are under the command of Maj. Gen. James Chaney, and those in Northern Ireland are under Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle. These officers will continue in their posts.

General a Texan.

Gen. Eisenhower, who is 51 years old, was born in Tyler, Tex., and reared in Kansas. He graduated from West Point in 1915. During World War I. he served in this country as an engineer officer and in charge of army tank training. This training made him an early exponent of mechanization.

From 1929 to 1933, while Gen. Douglas MacArthur was chief of staff, Eisenhower was assistant executive to the assistant secretary of war. He then served a year in the office of chief of staff with MacArthur. The latter took Eisenhower along with him to the Philippines, where he was assistant military adviser to the commonwealth from 1935 to 1940.

He was a colonel at the outbreak of the war. During the last visit of Churchill he attracted the attention of the British leader and President Roosevelt and was made a brigadier general. On Feb. 16 he was made chief of the war plans division. On April 2 he was made assistant chief of staff in charge of the operations division and was promoted to major general.

Plunges Into Work.

LONDON, June 25 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, new commander of United States army forces in the European theater of operations, plunged tonight into the task of coördinating his army with Britain's for the earliest possible offensive.

Gen. Eisenhower is expected to inspect the already toughened troops under his command.

AMERICAN VISITS RED FRONT; HAILS RUSSIAN TROOPS

Morale and Equipment Good, Colonel Says.

MOSCOW, June 25 (AP).—Back from the first trip made by United States army officers to the German-Russian front, Lieut. Col. Joseph A. Michela said tonight he was "highly impressed" by the Red army and had "learned lessons which will be helpful to our troops."

"I can honestly say since I have been to the front I have an even higher opinion of the Red army," he added. "The lessons of the Red army will be valuable to her allies."

Three Days at Front.

Michela, United States military attaché, spent three days at the front with Maj. Richard Park Jr., assistant military attaché, and two British officers. They visited an army commander, Lieut. Gen. Fedyuninsky.

[There was no indication just what part of the front was visited, but reports from Stockholm in March said a Maj. Gen. Fedyuninsky had been assigned by the Russian command to raise the siege of Leningrad and had been fighting in the Leningrad sector at that time. This apparently was the same general mentioned by Michela, promoted to a lieutenant general rank.]

The Americans devoted their first visit to a close study of military details, including organization, tactics, personnel, transport, and supply. They visited Fedyuninsky's army headquarters, also inspected a guards division and went close to the front lines in reoccupied territory. They said they expected to make further visits to the front soon.

Follows Pact with U. S.

Their trip was the result of the United States-Russian agreement and the British-Russian treaty providing for the fullest possible exchange of information. [There has been criticism of the failure of the Russians to let their allies see the Red army in action.]

"They couldn't have shown an observer troops under more difficult terrain and weather conditions than we went into," Michela told correspondents.

The troops, Michela said, were "all very confident and their morale was good. It had been raining for two months but even in those circumstances they seemed cheerful."

The officer declared he was particularly impressed by the Red army officers and personnel, and its equipment and transport.

He described 42 year old Fedyuninsky as "very capable, an excellent disciplinarian, a soldier all his life."

"Some staff officers are still younger, about 35 years old, all smart, quick, and very friendly," he added.

Springfield, Ill., June 25 (AP).—The state paid $730,418 for the support of 50,813 children thru the aid to dependent children program during June, while old age assistance awards totaling $3,973,346 went to 150,409 recipients.

HEAR NAZIS WIPE OUT SECOND CZECH VILLAGE IN HEYDRICH REPRISAL

LONDON, June 25 (AP).—Nazis have obliterated a second Czech village and slain all its men in reprisal for the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich, "the hangman," it was stated today in reports from Europe.

The community was Lezaky, population 100, in Bohemia about 70 miles southeast of Prague. Its death sentence apparently was identical to that imposed on Lidice, near Prague. Lidice's male population of about 350 all died by firing squad, and its women were sent to concentration camps and its children to "educational institutions."

Today listeners for the Czecho-Slovak government in exile reported that a Budapest, Hungary, broadcast said Lezaky had been razed. The Budapest radio quoted official announcements in Prague newspapers. The Vichy [French] news service quoted the announcement as saying all adult males had been executed. The excuse was that Lezaky harbored parachutists blamed by the Germans for Heydrich's death. It was also announced in Prague that 18 Czechs had been sentenced to death there and 12 at Bruenn [Brno] yesterday on various charges.

HEAR ARGENTINA DEMANDS NAZIS PAY FOR SINKING

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 25 (AP).—Argentina was reported reliably tonight to have dispatched three sharp demands to Germany for complete satisfaction for the sinking of the Argentina freighter Rio Tercero by a German submarine while popular indignation found an outlet in stoning two large German owned stores in this country's capital. Police also broke up an anti-German demonstration in downtown Buenos Aires.

Argentina was said to have warned Germany that the future relations of the two countries depended on a satisfactory answer to this government's protest. Informed circles said the note demanded reparations, a gesture of respect to the Argentine flag, and assurances that the attacks will not be repeated.

Stones first were thrown today thru the windows of a German owned electrical supply house and an hour later the window of a large German hardware store was smashed.

Attacker Not Known: Nazis.

BERNE, Switzerland, June 25 (AP).—German foreign office sources were quoted in advices from Berlin tonight as saying they had no official word that the attacker of the Argentine vessel Rio Tercero was a German submarine.

STRATEMEYER NEW AIR FORCE CHIEF OF STAFF

Succeeds Gen. Harmon; 9 Brigadiers Promoted.

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—The assignment of Maj. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer to be chief of staff of the army air forces was announced today along with several other transfers of army general officers.

Gen. Stratemeyer, former commander of the southeast training center, Mexwell Field, Ala., succeeds Maj. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, who was assigned to "another very important post which will not be made public at this time."

Maj. Gen. Lorenzo D. Gasser was transferred to the army services of supply from his post with the board for civil protection of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Succeeded by Gen. Grant.

Gasser, former deputy chief of staff, will be succeeded at the OCD by Brig. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, III., grandson of the Civil war general, and present commander of the engineer replacement training center, Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]
Maj. Gen. G. E. Stratemeyer (left), Maj. Gen. M. F. Harmon, and Maj. Gen. F. C. Wallace (right).

Brig. Gen. Isaac Spalding will be relieved July 1 as chief of the army exchange service in the services of supply to take a field assignment. His successor has not been named.

Maj. Gen. Fred C. Wallace, now at Camp Gordon, Ga., has been assigned to command the 5th corps area with headquarters at Fort Hayes, Ohio, effective July 2. He will succeed Maj. Gen. Daniel Van Voorhis, who reaches statutory retirement age of 64 years in October.

9 Brigadiers to Be Promoted.

President Roosevelt nominated nine brigadier generals for promotion to the temporary grade of major general and at the same time advanced 44 colonels and one lieutenant colonel to the temporary grade of brigadier general.

The lieutenant colonel advanced two grades to brigadier general was Robert M. Montague of the field artillery, whose home is Portland, Ore. The promotions were explained by officials as required to meet the needs of the increasing army.

The brigadier generals advanced to major general were:

Charles W. Ryder, Topeka, Kas.; Edwin P. Parker Jr., Washington, D. C.; Charles H. Gerhardt, Fort Leavenworth, Kas.; James L. Bradley, Washington, D. C.; Terry de la M. Allen, El Paso, Tex.; John S. Wood, Little Rock, Ark.; Geoffrey Keys and Paul W. Newgarden, both of Washington, D. C., and Roscoe B. Woodruff, a native of Oskaloosa, Ia.

Among colonels promoted to brigadier general was William E. Chambers, infantry, of Chicago; John R. Hodge, infantry, Carbondale, Ill; Delmar H. Dunton, air corps, Detroit, Mich., and Charles P. Stivers, infantry, native of Downers Grove, Ill.

JAPS EXCHANGE CAPTIVE CHICAGO MISSION GROUP

The Moody Bible institute yesterday reported exchange of several Chicago missionaries for Jap prisoners. These missionaries were working with the South China Boat mission, members of which ply the rivers in houseboats to serve spiritual needs of the Chinese who live on the waterways. The prisoners are said to be on their way in axis ships to Portuguese East Africa. The South China Boat mission, 2149 Van Buren street, is an interdenominational unit.

The captured persons, all former residents of Chicago, are Mr. and Mrs. Erwin W. Raetz and two children, Paul, 4 years old, and Florence Elizabeth, 7, of 5224 Melrose street; Leona Ross, 1423 South 17th avenue, Maywood; Gretchen Webster, 3823 North Drake avenue; Miss Florence Todhunter, and William Decker, his wife, Viola, and two children.

REPORTS YANKS GET ALONG WELL WITH THE IRISH

British Officer Tells of Visiting AEF.

American troops in Northern Ireland—many of them middle westerners—are getting along well with the Irish people and their American slang is replacing comparable Belfast colloquialisms, Capt. Bernard Newman of the British ministry of information reported here yesterday. He spent a week with the Americans within the last month, Newman said.

Belfast "trams" have become "trolley cars" in the small boys' argot, thru American influence, Newman said, while a place once known as "Hound's Leap" has been re-christened "Canine Hop," name preferred by the soldiers from across the sea.

Rains Dampen Spirits.

Newman said the rains there had put a little damper on American spirits, and quoted one Yank as saying, half in complaint, "Ireland is a nice place—if they'd only put a roof over it."

"One thing that astonished me in talking with your boys," the Englishman continued, "was their mechanical skill. Out of 11 boys with whom I talked at random, 10 could drive a car, and 5 could dismantle it and put it together again. That means that Hitler will have to destroy his automobiles before the boys come, or they'll drive on with them."

Newman was with a French regiment 10 miles south of Sedan when the Germans broke thru in the spring of 1940, and made what he called "a one man retreat" to Cherbourg, and thence to England.

French Badly Officered.

"The French were badly officered, but those troops that had modern weapons fought well," Newman said.

Newman is to be in this country for several weeks gathering information about the American war effort, which he will describe to the British upon his return.

Britain Orders Registration of Men Up to 50, Women 45

LONDON, June 26 [Friday]—(AP).—Britain today ordered registration of all men up to 50 and all women up to 45 in a new drive to mobilize all able bodied citizens for war industries. Previous top age limits on registration have been 45 for men and 41 for women. The ministry of labor reported that many married women in the new registration would be called on for local part time work, releasing younger women for war industrial jobs or the uniformed auxiliary services.

'FLYING TIGERS' SINK 3 JAP TRANSPORTS, WARSHIP AT HANKOW

CHUNGKING, China, June 25 (AP). The American "Flying Tigers," launching offensive action in central China with a bombardment of Japan's principal inland base of Hankow, sank one Japanese warship and three transports at the Yangtze river port Tuesday.

Forty Japanese fighting planes rose up against the AVG fighter-bombers in time to divert the weight of the attack from the Hankow airdrome to the waterfront. One of the Japanese planes was downed.

Chungking's ground forces were reported to have pushed the Japanese back 12 miles from recaptured Kweiki, on the western side of the battle for the last open stretch of the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway. The Chinese said this success widened the gap they still control from 50 miles to more than 60.

ALLIED BOMBERS START FIRES ON JAP HELD ISLES

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, June 26 [Friday]—(AP).—Allied planes swept both northwest and northeast of Australia yesterday, starting large fires in attacks on Japanese positions on Timor, New Britain, and New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today. The Japanese meanwhile raided Port Moresby on the south coast of New Guinea and a fight developed in which five Japanese fighters and four allied planes were damaged.

Allied bombers flew low over Dili, Timor, in a night attack, starting huge fires with direct hits, the communique said. Rabaul, New Britain, also was attacked by night, the airdrome being the main target. The Japanese failed to intercept here and "destruction was so effective that large fires were visible 60 miles from the target," the communique said.

Japanese troop quarters and supply points were attacked by bomb and machine gun at Salamaua, New Guinea. The allies had no losses in any of the attacks.

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 25 (AP).—Despite political agitation for a diplomatic break with the axis, the ministry of foreign relations announced tonight the Chilean senate had approved the government's foreign policy, which includes the maintenance of relations with Germany, Italy, and Japan. It announced that only two senators voted against the policy.

BRITISH FORCES GIRD TO BATTLE FOR NILE VALLEY

Take Positions 130 Miles Inside Egypt.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, June 25.—News reaching London tonight indicated that the British 8th army is in battle with the entire striking force of the enemy on the desert between Sidi Barrani and Matruh. There was no official confirmation in London of this news, but it was considered likely Gen. Ritchie has called a halt to the British retirement and intends to fight it out.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 25 (AP).—Axis armored columns were deep in Egypt tonight, penetrating desert terrain never before contested and advancing with all the force that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel could muster for a major attack on Matruh, 130 miles east of the Libyan border.

At the cost of severe losses inflicted by British mobile columns and aircraft which covered a swift retreat of the main elements of the British 8th army, the invaders by last nightfall were approximately half way from the frontier to Matruh, having passed southeast of Sidi Barrani, 60 miles inside Egypt.

Gen. Neil M. Ritchie abandoned his fixed frontier positions of Sollum and Sidi Omar to fall back to battle territory of his own choosing, and it appeared the first great fight for the valley of the Nile would be pitched somewhere about Matruh.

Expect Airborne Attack.

The British fully anticipate that as soon as Rommel's main force comes in contact with the 8th army, there will be an airborne attack from Crete by German parachute and glider troops. The objective of such an attack may well be the great naval station at Alexandria.

In large measure, therefore, British hopes of holding the enemy short of Alexandria and the Nile basin were pinned on getting substantial air reënforcements.

Marshal Rommel has turned to his own use the recently captured British and American tanks, weapons originally made to stop him. The invading axis column includes a number of French tanks. The Germans also are using captured trucks. The only alteration is a swastika painted on the tops.

Count on 40 Mile Line.

Only on a 40 mile line south of Matruh to the soft, sandy wastes of the Qattara depression was the terrain favorable to establishment of a British defense line without extreme danger that Rommel's forces would skirt the British flank and roll up the defenders toward the sea.

All day yesterday the British mobile units, withdrawing in an orderly manner before the massive axis advance, shelled the German-Italian columns, knocking out a number of vehicles.

With royal air force bombers and fighter bombers likewise dealing out heavy damage in the forward areas, the four motored Liberator bombers of the United States army air forces joined British Wellingtons in another night raid on Bengazi, the axis supply harbor, 350 miles to the rear.

How Germans Advanced.

British official dispatches disclosed that Rommel's army, moving in at least three columns and with much truck borne infantry advanced across the border thru gaps in the much battered barbed wire originally strung by the Italians between Sidi Omar and Fort Maddalena, from 20 to 50 miles south of the coast.

Moving northeast from a crossing south of Bir Sheferzen, these forces were attacked from the air, but advance elements proceeded to the area southeast of Sidi Barrani.

Capture "Hellfire" Pass.

BERLIN, June 25 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—German and Italian troops have smashed British resistance on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier and have reached Sidi Barrani after Sollum, Halfaya [Hellfire] pass and Fort Capuzzo, the Nazi high command announced today.

The invading axis forces are pushing forward southeast of Sidi Barrani "in quick pursuit of the beaten enemy," a communique declared.

"The main objective of Marshal Rommel's operations is the destruction of British forces, but it is uncertain what geographical aim he may be pursuing," German sources said.

[Raoul Aglion, former French attaché in Cairo, Egypt, and author of "War in the Desert," will be interviewed by John Holbrook on W-G-N at 8:15 tonight on the invasion of Egypt.]

SENATOR WARNS CHURCHILL MAY BRING ON DEFEAT

Blunders Assailed in Review of War.

administration yes-men, also came to the defense of the allied war leadership. Both argued that criticism results in confusion and disunity and impedes the war effort.

Ellender's speech was the most sensational of the day, because of his record as an undeviating supporter of the administration. It was the most significant, too, because it reflected what many senators have been saying for weeks in the privacy of cloakrooms, but have not had the fortitude to say publicly. Many of them told him so privately, after he had spoken.

Demands President Take Reins.

Altho Ellender did not disparage President Roosevelt's leadership or ability, he demanded that the President do the leading and not compromise momentous strategic decisions because of political considerations or conflicting demands of other nations.

"Something must be done now, before it is too late, to designate a real leader and place in his hands the absolute power of decision," Ellender said.

"Such leadership must be clothed with unlimited authority to make decisions, which in his judgment will win battles and secure victory. Whether it would be possible at this time to obtain full coöperation in that regard from Russia remains to be seen, but such a leader must be acclaimed at once.

"America no doubt will carry the brunt of this war as time goes on. Altho at war only six months, we now are training an army of almost 4½ million men, with a goal of probably 10 million. We are spending sums now measured in astronomical figures, not only for ourselves but for our allies. Every nation at war is looking to us for help. Therefore, I nominate for the post of supreme leader none other than our great President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Lauds British Courage.

Ellender praised the courage and gallantry of British soldiers, sailors, and airmen, as well as the long suffering endurance of the British people. But the British military leadership, he said, has demonstrated "its inability to cope with the axis."

Ellender said the retention of millions of armed men in England for the defense of the British Isles, while losing the British empire piece by piece, demonstrates the same Maginot line spirit of defense which resulted in the disaster of France. The time has come, he insisted, to attack—before Hitler wins the whole middle east and then turns upon England.

The fall of Tobruk, Ellender said, has put the whole middle east in danger. He attributed the disaster to blundering British strategy and the incompetence of British generals.

"The British and American people are all wondering what the excuse will be this time," he said.

Ellender recalled that when Singapore fell, Churchill lamented the disaster but saved himself by telling the house of commons that no other fact could compare with the entry of the United States into the war on Britain's side.

"In other words," said the senator, "Churchill said: 'We have lost the battle of Singapore, but I have won the battle of making the United States an active participant in this war on our side.' I now am patiently waiting to learn what political victory will be offered to the British people to counteract the major military defeat suffered at Tobruk."

RAF BOMBERS RESUME NIGHT RAIDS ON NAZI AREAS; STRIKE HEAVILY

LONDON, June 26 [Friday]—(AP).—RAF bombers struck "in force" at targets in Germany during the night, it was stated authoritatively today.

This marked the first attack on Germany since Monday night when Emden was blasted. Since then bad weather had kept the big bombers grounded.

Late yesterday British fighter planes made a sweep over the English channel and attacked enemy shipping off the coast of Brittany.

Nazi Camp Bombed.

VICHY, France, June 25 (AP).—Two internees were killed and a number of others were wounded when an unidentified plane dropped a bomb which landed in a cluster of concentration camps at Royallieu near Compiegne today. This is in the German occupied zone of France, about 40 miles north of Paris. It was possible that the plane was a British bomber which mistook its objective during a sweep over the continent.

Tribune Sale of Service Pins Passes 50,000 Mark

The sale of service pins in THE TRIBUNE'S public service offices climbed to more than 50,700 yesterday. The day's total was 1,200. The gold plated pins are sold in 20 combinations in both offices—1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower.

CONSERVATIVES ACT TO DEFEND CHURCHILL RULE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 25.—The motion of Sir John Wardlaw-Milne, Conservative, expressing "no confidence in the central direction of the war" has been selected for the debate in the house of commons which awaits Prime Minister Churchill's return from America. It was predicted the government would defeat the measure.

Another motion was offered today in the names of five Conservatives expressing "abiding confidence" in Churchill and his direction of the war, and a third, submitted by two Conservatives, supports the prime minister but demands the appointment of a chief of general staffs to direct the war strategy. It was announced also that two Conservatives who originally signed the Wardlaw-Milne motion have withdrawn.

Ex-Premier Defends Churchill.

SYDNEY, Australia, June 25 (AP).—William Morris Hughes, Australia's prime minister in the first World war, said today that "I would rather lose more battles than lose Churchill" as the empire's war leader. "He has brought us as far as we have gone," Hughes said.

MINORITY HITS HOUSE GROUP'S ARMY CRITICISM

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—Ten Democratic members of the house military affairs committee filed a minority report today charging that the committee's recent criticism of the war department was "biased and intemperate."

The majority report, made public Tuesday, was approved by three Democrats and nine Republicans. It said "nearly every conceivable type of extravagant waste" had been uncovered in an investigation of war contracts.

The minority signers said they could not find language adequate enough "to express our condemnation" of the procedure under which the majority report was filed.

The minority said there was "no justification" for a majority charge that "reckless expenditures" had been made in war department construction activities, and added that evidence showed "a very determined effort . . . to immediately correct any cases of extravagance."

TIGHTEN CENSOR CONTROLS OVER NATION'S PRESS

Administration Given New Check by Code.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—The Office of Censorship today published its first revisions of the code of wartime practices for newspapers and radio stations, which place channels of public information more firmly under administration control.

Under the revised codes no important news relating to war operations or the war effort can be printed or broadcast unless it is released by appropriate authority or passed by censorship.

Ban Weather Broadcasts.

The news sections of the radio code parallel the press code in all particulars except that broadcasters are asked to give no weather information unless specifically authorized to do so, and broadcasters outside an area under air attack are instructed to make no mention of the action unless specifically instructed to do so.

Three new clauses in the code relate to ships, attack by air, and rumors. The original section on ships is divided into two classifications, one on movements and the other on sinkings and damage.

Under the revised code the location, identity, or movement of enemy vessels anywhere in the world are under restriction unless such information is made public outside the continental United States.

The section on attack by air is founded on precautions suggested by Byron Price, director of censorship, several weeks ago. It prescribes what cannot be published before, during, or after an enemy raid.

Warns Against Rumors.

In the revised code a footnote on rumors is expanded into a subdivision, called: "Notes on Rumors." This states:

"The spread of rumors in such a way that they will be accepted as facts will render aid and comfort to the enemy. The same is true of enemy propaganda or material calculated by the enemy to bring about division among the united nations.

"Enemy claims of ship sinkings, or other damage to our forces should be weighed carefully and the sources clearly identified, if published. Equal caution should be used in handling so called 'atrocity' stories.

"Interviews with service men or civilians from combat zones should be submitted for authority either to the Office of Censorship or to the appropriate army or navy press relations officer."

Diplomatic News Cut.

Two new restrictions of a general nature are added. One forbids "premature disclosure of diplomatic negotiations or conversations" and the other bans "information about production, amounts, dates, and methods of delivery, destination or routes, of lend-lease war material."

A note to the general section states that all requests in the code apply to advertising matter, news letters, corporation reports, letters to the editor, personal and society columns, where information relative to the movement of military or diplomatic missions often appear.

The revised code requires that foreign language broadcasts be submitted to the management in advance along with English translations and it is requested that the broadcasts be checked against the script.

SMALL STORE KEEPERS TOLD BY BRITAIN THEY MAY HAVE TO CLOSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 25.—Hundreds of small store owners were warned today by the government that plans are almost completed for a concentration of business and that their shops are likely to be closed soon.

A special governmental committee explained that there are insufficient supplies to go around and that man power is being wasted in keeping many shops open only part time. Food shops are not affected.

The government also decided to prohibit the canning of spaghetti, macaroni, and vegetable salad with mayonnaise soon.

SAYRE SEES HOPE OF A RED CROSS SHIP TO MANILA

Boston, Mass., June 25 (AP).—Francis B. Sayre, United States high commissioner to the Philippines, said today that there was "every reason to hope" that the Japanese government soon would consent to the transportation of food and medicines to Manila in a Red Cross ship.

Speaking at an open forum for friends and relatives of civilians and soldiers, either interned or prisoners in the Philippines, Sayre declared that the Red Cross was "doing its best to get a ship thru from this country." He said that while it might take time to complete arrangements, he was confident that Japan eventually would allow the ship to travel unmolested thru Pacific waters.

STIMSON HALTS LEGISLATORS' ARMY LEAVES

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today no further leaves of absence would be granted army officers to attend sessions of state legislatures of which they are members.

Those granted leaves for this purpose prior to June 15, however, have been permitted to carry out their legislative duties, he added.

Stimson laid to an apparent misunderstanding the recall of members of the Louisiana legislature to active duty at a time when a tax controversy was under way in the legislature.

The new policy, the secretary said, does not apply to congress.

U. S. SHIPS GUIDE HUGE CANADIAN FORCE TO BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 25.—Powerful military forces in the British Isles were augmented today by the arrival of thousands of Canadian troops escorted by American warships, including reënforcements for infantry, ordnance, medical, forestry, and service corps, as well as fire fighters from various Canadian cities and nurses from British Columbia.

They were welcomed by Rear Adm. Sir Arthur Bromley, representing the dominions office, who told them "the sight of your faces gives us tremendous confidence." A spokesman for the ministry of home security told the Canadian firemen they would be posted "in target towns that have been well bombed and are likely to be bombed again."

The convoy experienced fine weather thruout the crossing, but reported "no incidents."

It's got to be right!

WAR IN PACIFIC HAS ONLY BEGUN, VIEW IN HAWAII

Jap Navy Held Still to Have Advantage.

BY FOSTER HAILEY.

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

HONOLULU, T. H., June 25.—The battle of the Pacific has just begun.

Two weeks after Midway, six months after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, it is possible today to see only a long, bitter road lying ahead.

The optimism that prevailed, I am told, even in official circles in Honolulu the first few days after June 4, 5, and 6 has largely evaporated. There is no minimizing the striking power still retained by the Japanese navy.

American successes in the Coral sea and at Midway, where four and perhaps five Japanese aircraft carriers were sunk and two more were heavily damaged, have done little more than establish parity in air striking power, if that. The balance still undoubtedly swings heavily in favor of the Japanese in the category of battleships, heavy and light cruisers, and destroyers.

Japs Have Advantage.

In addition to that, the Japanese are operating with interior lines of communication, with shorter ocean hauls to advanced bases and a 20 year head start on the United States in the fortification of island outposts.

A study of a map of the Pacific will show the situation. With the tip of the Aleutian Islands as the northern anchor, draw a great arc running thru Honolulu to the northeastern coast of Australia. It covers over 7,000 miles of ocean—more than twice the distance from New York to London—with as much as 2,600 miles separating some of the islands.

It is along this arc that the United States navy must operate. It is more than 2,000 miles from the nearest point—Honolulu—to the United States mainland, from whence must come the supplies, the planes, the guns, the ships, the shells, the gasoline, and the fuel oil.

Take Island After Island.

The Japanese operate inside this great arc. At the start of the war they held the home islands, stretching almost due south from Tokio, with the great naval base of Ogasawara in the center; then the mandated Marianne [or Marianas] Islands, which they had illegally fortified contrary to the league of nations rule for mandated territory; to the east the Carolines and the Marshalls.

On Dec. 7 they began operations to clean out all opposition in the western half of the Pacific. They seized Guam. On Dec. 22 they overcame the small marine garrison at Wake and took possession of that island. Investment of the Philippines required five months, but was finally accomplished.

Moving southward they occupied the Malay States, Sumatra, Java, Borneo, Timor, the Celebes, New Britain, the Solomon Islands, and all of New Guinea except Port Moresby and the area immediately surrounding it.

Nowhere in that area are they more than 4,000 miles from Tokio.

Must Take Offensive.

It can be seen that even were American sea and air power twice that of Japan today, it would be a formidable task to clean them out of all the islands. Organization of the efforts to defeat them is a colossal task. It will not be done in one month or six or perhaps even a year.

American operations to date in the Pacific area have been defensive ones. Wars have always been won, and so will the present one, only by assault. The Coral sea and Midway engagements were purely defensive.

Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the Hawaiian department, expressed military opinion when he said recently:

"The outcome of the Midway battle has given many people a false sense of security. Nothing can be more dangerous than such an attitude. To assume that the enemy will not return in force and utilize every weapon at his disposal is a most dangerous kind of wishful thinking."

2 UNIONS PUSH CASES AGAINST NATIONAL TEA

Two actions are pending in Washington before the National Labor Relations board in the case of the National Tea company's warehouse employés, it was learned yesterday. Early in June the NLRB set aside an election in which bargaining rights had been voted to a local of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters [AFL] over an independent union.

The pending actions are a petition filed by the independents thru their attorney, Francis Heisler, asking reinstatement of the charges originally brought against the company by the independent union and the rehiring of 12 employés the union says were fired by request of the AFL group.

The second action was a petition by Daniel D. Carmell, attorney for the teamsters' union, asking the board to reconsider its action and allow him to argue the case before it.

SUBMARINE'S HIDE AND SEEK GAME WITH JAPS TOLD

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., June 25 (AP).—The story of an American submarine which played a game of hide and seek with segments of the Japanese fleet which attempted to invade Midway was disclosed today by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Alternately surfacing and submerging while surviving four depth charge attacks, the submarine succeeded in firing its torpedoes at an aircraft carrier previously crippled by American bombers.

"Heavy black smoke enveloped the carrier," read the submarine's log, "and formed a cloud to a height of a thousand feet like that above the U. S. S. Arizona when she burned at Pearl Harbor. Next day there was no trace of the carrier."

Shriners Meet

Thomas C. Law, imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, arrived in Chicago yesterday as prominent Masonic officials began preparing for the Shriners' 68th annual three-day session opening Monday in the Palmer House. Law was met by a group of Chicago Shriners, including Frank C. Roundy, 84 year old past imperial potentate; Arthur M. Gullickson, illustrious potentate of the Medinah temple; T. J. Houston, past imperial potentate, and Norman J. Kissick, recorder of the Medinah temple.

The imperial officers of the order met after Law's arrival to consider reports of the 15 children's hospital units maintained by the Shriners thruout the nation. Chicago's unit, located at 2211 North Oak Park avenue, was shown to have treated more than 20,000 bed patients and 200,000 clinic patients since it opened in 1926.

HENDERSON ACTS CALLED 'FUTILE, FUMBLING, LAX'

House Listens to Bitter Attack on Czar.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—The nature of the knock down and drag out battle over the operations of Leon Henderson, price czar, which impends in the house next week was indicated in a floor speech today by Rep. Charles A. Plumley [R., Vt.].

Various speakers have sounded off about Henderson in the last weeks but Plumley exceeded them all in his pungent views regarding the price administrator. And next week, the house considers a recommendation of $95,000,000 for Henderson's organization. He had asked for $210,000,000.

"There are two ways to stop this animal," said Plumley. "Starve him to death by refusing to appropriate nourishment and to hit him with a club so hard, figuratively speaking, that he will lie down and stay put. A combination of both remedies might be tried in the emergency.

"Misconceives Duty."

"Either Henderson is running this country or else congress has something to say about it. Henderson apparently thinks he is running it.

"This man misconceives his duty, overestimates his own ability, and forgets that the people are still running the government. Like Louis XIV., Henderson thinks he is the state.

"Why talk about the sugar rationing program or the gas rationing program? There never was a more complete demonstration of incapacity and incompetence, administratively, than has been evidenced by the mismanagement and misdirection of Henderson.

"Futile, fumbling, ill-conceived, and worse considered efforts of a would-be dictator not big enough for his job, obsessed by his egotistic, exaggerated idea of his own importance—that is Henderson.

Urges Volunteer Organization.

"It may embarrass the President to remove him. Henderson ought to know enough to resign before he is kicked out. He will have to be kicked out if we are going to win this war, for the people resent him and his arbitrary, czarlike Hitleresque attitude.

"If he is half as much interested in winning the war as obviously he is in establishing a Leon Henderson organization, his resignation will be in the hands of the President tonight."

Plumley said Henderson should be given funds to establish a skeleton organization to be filled by volunteers. Fifty millions or less would be sufficient for this purpose, he declared.

TELL STRAFING OF CIVILIANS AT DUTCH HARBOR

First Witnesses' Stories of Jap Attack.

Seattle, Wash., June 25 (AP).—First eyewitness accounts of the Japanese bombing of Dutch Harbor in the Aleutians on June 3, made public today, disclosed how heavy anti-aircraft fire and even rifle fire drove off the attackers, and that the Nipponese machine gunners strafed fleeing civilians "like rats in a trap."

Civilians among the 98 persons from Unalaska [Dutch Harbor is in Unalaska bay] evacuated to Seattle aboard an army transport, told interviewers that a Japanese fighter pilot strafed 250 civilians as they fled to the bare rocky hills for safety.

Mayor Directs Flight.

A housewife told how Unalaska's mayor, John W. Fletcher, who accompanied the evacuees here, directed the flight of five truck loads of women and children to the hills when the Jap bombers and fighter planes came over.

Mayor Fletcher said application was made for 35 death certificates after the bombing, but the total American casualty lists have not been made public.

Joseph Wynans of Des Moines, Wash., said the fleeing civilians, running toward the ravines, threw themselves on the ground as one Jap plane swooped toward them, and the bomber failed to hit a single one, tho his bullets picked up dirt all around.

Chicagoan Sees Plane Downed.

One of the ship's crew members, who grabbed a rifle and blazed away at the bombers, was Arthur S. Myers, 27 years old, of Chicago. He brought home a verification by a superior officer of his plucky action. He reported that he saw one of the Jap divers plunge into the bay about two miles away after it swept away from the barrage from anti-aircraft guns—and Myers' rifle.

[Myers has a wife, Shirley, and a son, Stephen, 9 months old, living at 843 Gunnison street, home of Mrs. Myers' parents, Julius and Mrs. Heinsius.]

Pvt. First Class Ed Shapiro, former boxer of 1505 South Lawndale avenue, Chicago, said, "One of the Jap bombs fell on the dock right by our ship, but it failed to explode immediately and one of the gunners jumped onto the dock and rolled the bomb off into the water before it exploded."

"It Can Happen Here."

"It was the loudest racket I ever heard," said Ivan Tallman, third cook aboard the bullet-pocked transport, telling how the transport's crew stood on deck and blazed away at the attackers while gun crews pumped anti-aircraft fire above the harbor.

"People can't realize the horror of a bombing," said Mayor Fletcher, a motion picture theater operator at Unalaska who came south to confer with the federal bureau of Indian affairs on evacuation of natives from the area. He said the natives were "shaking like leaves" after the attacks.

"But you can't tell people," he added. "Until you actually experience it, and see boys fighting for their lives, it seems far away. Let me tell you—it can happen here!"

Survivors told how 500 pound bombs dug craters 12 feet deep, and how one, landing ashore, hurled rocks in every direction, one plunging thru the transport's upper deck.

CANADIAN FLYING FORCE SERVES IN ALASKA WITH U.S.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 25 (AP).—"Several complete squadrons" of the royal Canadian air force are operating in the Alaskan Islands area in defense of the approaches to North America, Air Minister C. G. Power announced today.

"For security reasons it is not yet possible to disclose whether our squadrons have engaged the Japanese in combat," Power added. "But our men and our aircraft are there, assuming their full share of the task of thwarting Japanese encroachment in the Aleutians and Alaska."

The squadrons, both fighters and bombers, are operating "in the closest harmony and coöperation with their United States comrades," Power said.

The Canadian squadrons have been provided with bases and accommodations by the United States army.

GETS 10 YEARS FOR RAPING 3 GIRLS, EACH 14

Joseph Grasser, 54 years old, 1260 Bosworth avenue, was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary on each of three charges of statutory rape yesterday by Judge Harold G. Ward. The sentences are to run concurrently. Grasser was found guilty of raping three 14 year old girls in the neighborhood of his home. Assistant States Attorney Edmund Grant told the court that Grasser had been sentenced to five years in prison in 1917 for a crime against a 13 year old girl.

STIMSON HONORS 2 HAWAIIANS FOR CAPTURING JAP

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today commended two Hawaiians for their bravery in the handling of a Japanese aviator who was forced down and captured during the Dec. 7 attack on Hawaii, and who later escaped to stage a reign of terror. Those honored are Howard Kaleohano and Benny Hokoko Hanahele of the Island of Niihau.

When the Jap flyer made his forced landing, Kaleohano, unarmed, ran to the plane, wrested a pistol from the uninjured pilot, pulled him from the cockpit and took possession of valuable papers.

Five days later the pilot, assisted by a native Japanese, made his way to freedom, was rearmed and began a reign of terror in an attempt to regain the papers. Kanahele, confronting the Jap unarmed, was thrice wounded, but captured the pilot.

2 NAVY PATROL VESSELS SUNK IN ATLANTIC; 20 DIE

Norwegian Ship Blasted; Sinkings Total 311.

Washington, D. C., June 25 [Special].—The navy today announced that enemy submarines had sunk two small patrol vessels off the Atlantic coast earlier this month with a total loss of 20 lives. Commanding officers of both vessels were saved.

311

The navy also announced that a medium sized Norwegian merchant vessel had been torpedoed several hundred miles off the southeast coast of the United States by a German submarine whose commander told his victims it would be "better for both of us if you stay at home." All of the crew were saved, survivors being landed at an east coast port.

A compilation by the Associated Press, including the reported sinking of a Colombian schooner, brought to 311 the number of merchant vessels lost in the western Atlantic since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

NAVY COMMUNIQUE

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—The navy announced today that enemy submarines had sunk two small patrol vessels off the Atlantic coast earlier this month with a total loss of 20 lives. Its communique said:

"Atlantic area:

"1. Two small anti-submarine patrol craft have been lost off the Atlantic coast during the current month as the result of enemy submarine attacks.

"2. The U. S. S. Gannet, a seagoing tug, used to service patrol planes, was torpedoed and sunk. Sixteen members of the crew were lost.

"3. The YP-389, a small fishing craft, which had been taken over by the navy and armed for anti-submarine patrol duty, was sunk by gunfire. Four members of the crew were lost."

SUB CAPTAIN'S WARNING

An East Coast Port, June 25 (AP).—The captain of a German submarine which torpedoed a medium sized Norwegian merchant vessel off the southeast American coast June 10 warned the crew of the sinking ship:

"The next time you better stay at home. It will be better for you and better for us."

This admonition was disclosed by the 32 year old skipper of the Norwegian craft, Capt. Arne Olsen. He said the ship sank in 15 minutes, but all of the crew of 31 were saved.

RESCUE SHIP BLASTED

A GULF PORT, June 25 (AP).—After once having been rescued some of the 205 survivors of six recent ship sinkings off the southeastern United States today told of having their rescue vessel torpedoed before they reached safety.

The survivors were from United States and allied nations vessels the navy recently announced as sunk.

Seaman David Bass, 25, Tampa, Fla., told of the sinking of his small United States freighter June 14 and of a 36 hour drift in a lifeboat.

"I was on watch on the bridge when all of a sudden I saw a wake in the water. Then the torpedo struck. We were pretty well loaded because of the 49 survivors we'd picked up from a Dutch ship, which made 95 altogether. We went down in a minute and a half.

Torpedoed Twice; Escape.

Thirteen of the crew of 28 and 4 gunners of another ship survived. After 40 hours in a lifeboat they were picked up by a British freighter. They were torpedoed again June 11 and all survivors of the first crew again got away.

This time there was a 105 hour boat ride under the tropical sun. They were picked up by a freighter June 13.

Contact with two German submarines was made, Bass related. "One sub came right up and rammed a life raft," Bass said. Then the commander of the sub took him aboard and asked him if he drank. "All seamen drink," Bass replied. "They gave me a couple of shots of brandy, some cigarets, asked a few questions about the ship, and gave me directions how to reach land. Then they called a lifeboat over to take me off."

MACHINE GUN SCHOONER

BOGOTA, Colombia, June 25 (AP).—The newspaper El Espectador said today that a submarine had machine gunned and sunk the Colombian schooner, killing six crewmen, in the Caribbean about 300 miles northwest of the Panama canal.

Six survivors, of whom four were wounded, including a woman, said that the submarine surfaced and the schooner raised the Colombian flag. The raider then machine gunned the crew, it was said.

Father a Veteran

The navy could see the finish wire clearly yesterday in its drive for 10,000 recruits during June, needing fewer than 2,000 more men to achieve its goal, Lieut. David N. Goldenson, Chicago recruiting officer, reported. "We're in the home stretch and leading," he said.

By noon 421 men had applied, bringing the grand total since June 1 to 8,003 recruits.

Among them was Anton J. Kirchberg, 18, grandson of Edward Kirchberg, founder of the jewelry firm of that name at 106 North State street. The youth, who signed up as an aviation mechanic, was the fifth member of his family to sign up in the armed services. A graduate of Crystal Lake High school, Kirchberg was accompanied to the recruiting office by his father, Anton, who served eight months in the navy during the last war.

PLANE DROPS 15 BOMBS ON FARM IN NEW MEXICO

Albuquerque, N. M., June 25 (AP).—A group of children narrowly escaped injury today when 15 bombs, dropped accidentally by an airplane, rained down upon a cornfield in the northwest Albuquerque suburbs. Only a fence and a few hills of corn were damaged.

Manuel Griego, upon whose farm the 100 pound projectiles descended, said they came from one of a flight of four army bombers. Authorities at the Albuquerque army air base declined to comment.

Claudio Griego, the farmer's 12 year old son who was weeding beans, was thrown to the ground and dazed when a bomb exploded in soft ground 10 feet away. Ten other children were playing near by.

"When we saw the dirt flying and heard a noise like 15 Fourth of Julys all at once we dived into the irrigation canal," said Isidro Zamora, 15. "We stayed there in water up to our knees and under big trees until we heard those bombers fly away."

Curtis Dall, Ex-Son-in-Law of F.D.R., Commissioned

New York, June 25 (AP).—Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of the President, has been commissioned a major in the army air forces and shortly will go on active duty, it was announced today by the Tennessee Gas and Transmission company, of which Dall is president. Dall was a naval aviation ensign during the last war and served overseas with the royal air force and with the United States naval aviation.

PATIENT WOMEN WAIT TO KISS BOYS GOOD-BY

Spend Hours Outside Induction Station.

Johnny Doughboy won't be looking for a rose in Ireland if Chicago wives and sweethearts have anything to say about it.

The womenfolk of men being inducted at the army's 515 South Franklin street station prove their devotion by waiting from dawn until dark near the station in hopes of a final moment with their soldiers and a chance to kiss the boys good-by.

Until recently friends and relatives of selectees were permitted to wait inside the induction center. The practice was ruled out, however, and now, rain or shine, waiting must be outside the building. Yesterday mothers, wives, sweethearts, and friends waited patiently in the chill air.

A 20 year old wife, accompanied by her mother-in-law, waited from 8:30 until late in the afternoon to learn whether her 22 year old husband would be inducted. They had awakened at 6 a. m. to accompany him to his draft board, then to the induction station.

Fatigued after leaning for six hours against the wall of a South Franklin street building, the young wife said, "We'll wait. He'll have to go out for lunch sometime. At least we can see him then."

Another 6 a. m. riser was a young resident of the north shore who had driven to a west suburb to see a pageant in honor of the community's new draft group, of which her sweetheart was a member. From a radio-equipped car she watched the hundreds of men march from the center to a nearby restaurant for lunch, hoping to sight her friend.

A middle aged woman waited for the second time across the street from the induction center. Her youngest son had been called to the army last year, and yesterday she waited to see an older son leave for service. "I'll wait until midnight if necessary," she vowed. "I promised him I'd go to the train with him."

WPB ENCOURAGES HOPE FOR FAMILY CAR: TIRE RECAPS

Enough for All Essential Driving, Says Nelson.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, today encouraged the ordinary American family to hope for tire recaps to care for essential driving.

Testifying before the senate committee investigating the war program, Nelson gave a comprehensive report on progress to date—and the future outlook—in the national effort to make enough battle supplies to insure victory over the axis powers.

"We must not hold out hope for recaps for pleasure driving," said Nelson, "but we can hope to keep tires for essential driving—and every family automobile does some essential driving.

"America cannot afford to use tires for nonessential driving, nor could the nation afford the loss of automobiles for their essential uses."

Early Rationing Predicted.

Officials of WPB and of the Office of Price Administration favor a nation-wide gasoline rationing to permit necessary driving and to ban unnecessary driving. One high executive said an announcement of an order curtailing motor fuel sales thruout the country can be expected within two weeks. A flop in the scrap rubber collection campaign, he said, strengthened arguments for gas rationing.

Hope for recaps before the 800,000 tons a year synthetic program gets into full swing by the end of next year, said Nelson, lies in "Thiokol," a rubber like substance developed by the Dow Chemical company.

"It's not the most desirable substitute for rubber, having only a fraction of the wearing qualities of other synthetics," Nelson testified, "but it can be produced quickly in quantity, from available supplies and with available equipment.

"It can serve as a stop gap for recapping tires until the major synthetic plants are constructed and producing."

Charge Bureau Hoarding.

Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], chairman of the committee, asked if WPB is making a survey of the uses and inventories of automobiles and tires by government bureaus. The senator said he was told that Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes' bureau of Indian affairs is hoarding 11,000 tires for its 2,000 automobiles used in visiting the reservations. Nelson said he would "look into it."

Truman commented later that the committee also is interested in the reported use of government cars by swivel chair military officers for cocktail party and country club transportation.

To relieve a petroleum shortage in 17 gasoline rationed seaboard states, caused by the submarine seige in the Atlantic, Nelson said a committee is developing a program for the construction of wooden barges to be traded to companies now hauling dry cargoes in steel barges. The steel craft will be converted to petroleum carriers.

Outlines Great Lakes Plan.

Sen. James M. Mead [D., N. Y.], said that if Great Lakes shipping is included in an oil transportation subsidy pool, barges can haul to Albany, N. Y., where the cargoes can be pumped into coastal vessels. Chicago is the key city of the Great Lakes and the inland waterways which, with intracoastal waterways, serve the big oil fields of Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

In regard to the copper shortage, Sen. Joseph H. Ball [R., Minn.], asked when the WPB plans to tap the huge supplies of nonessential copper, brass, and bronze articles in the country—name plates, door plates, obsolete machinery, signs, fences, and statues. Nelson said a salvage program has been prepared, to pick up dispensible articles promptly, and later to pick up other articles for which substitutes will have to be provided. He doesn't look for any large expansion in copper production, he said, because of the long time required in developing mines.

Fear Change in Policy.

The committee session opened with an inquiry concerning the status of army and navy officers in a current and progressive reorganization of the procurement functions performed by the WPB and the armed services. The WPB men are being transferred to the army and to the navy.

"We're eager for war procurement to remain in civilian hands," Truman told Nelson. "We're eager for procurement to remain in your hands."

"We don't doubt the devotion of the officers," added Sen. Ralph O. Brewster [R., Maine], "but now, as thru the generations, a service career man is deterred by caution to protect his record. A civilian production expert hasn't this deterrent to bold and aggressive methods. He's not bound by precedents."

"In this reorganization," Nelson replied, "I'm retaining full responsibility. My men will work directly with top men in the army and navy. I retain direct contact with my experts and I retain supreme authority, under the President, for final decisions."

Harrison to Get Commission.

William H. Harrison, former vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, who has been WPB chief of the production branch of the industry division, is to become a colonel and be associated with Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of army services of supply. Nelson implied that the difference in rank will not impair Harrison's performance under a civilian standard of efficiency.

"All procurement—by army, navy, maritime, and lend-lease—" Nelson continued, "will be coördinated to meet demands of strategy for supplies as mapped by Adm. King and Gen. Marshall as staff chiefs."

"Supposing," said Sen. Brewster, "that the admirals and generals, each interested in his own service, could not agree whether a certain tonnage of steel plate should be used for ships or tanks. Who would make the decision?"

"I'd take the problem to the President," Nelson replied, "and then announce the decision without delay."

There have been reports of acrimony in competition between service for supplies.

Steel Production Improving.

"We have a steel shortage now," Nelson continued, "but I believe our projected capacity, with recent reductions in the new plant program, is adequate for all war needs and for curtailed civilian requirements. In another three months, steel supplies will be adequate. The present shortage is caused by our filling necessary working inventories. We're also correcting maldistribution."

Nelson said the entire munitions program is to be reviewed and coordinated with strategy as a result of the British-American production board, which is to work with the united nations high command.

EASTMAN INSISTS FAIRS BE CLOSED TO SAVE RUBBER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, in a press release this afternoon, rejected protests from Illinois against his June 19 press release requesting cancelation of 1942 state and county fairs to conserve rubber tires.

"This was not an order but a request, which was all that it could properly be, for of course I have no authority over fairs," Eastman's statement reads.

"The rubber borne cars and trucks of the farmers have many essential uses. For the protection, not only of the farmers but of the country, these vehicles must be made to last until new sources of rubber have been developed; and we can count on no less than three years for that. If the vehicles are to last, clearly all unnecessary use must be avoided. I do not believe that their use for attendance at fairs can properly be classed as necessary; nor do I believe that such use is at all negligible.

"All that I can say is to repeat that all unnecessary use of rubber borne farm vehicles must be avoided for the good of the country."

STORIES TO JURY OPEN NEW LINES IN ZILLER PROBE

Bloomington, Ill., June 25 [Special].—After taking the testimony of three labor union leaders and a trucking contractor the McLean county grand jury investigating the alleged sale of jobs at government ordnance plants in Illinois recessed today until July 7.

Attorney General George F. Barrett, who is coöperating with State's Attorney Clifford N. Coolidge in presenting evidence to the grand jury, said the persons who have been questioned so far had divulged many new lines for investigation and that his assistants would follow these during the recess.

Most of the testimony has centered in the activities of George W. Ziller, giant mystery man who claimed to have important connections with Democratic politicians and with the teamster and common laborers union in Joliet—connections so important that he was able to exact large sums from men who wanted jobs as truckers and laborers at the Elwood and Kankakee ordnance plants while they were being constructed.

AUTOIST KILLED, 2 IN TRUCK HURT IN COLLISION, FIRE

Injured Pair Trapped in Burning Cab.

Howard Colman, 70 years old, president of Barber-Colman company, machinery manufacturers, Rockford, was killed and two other men were critically injured last evening in an auto-truck collision in state route 47, nine miles west of Elgin.

The injured, William F. Rausch, 27, and Harold Robinson, 22, both of Joplin, Mo., were taken to the Delnor hospital in St. Charles.

Two Trapped in Cab.

The truck struck a car driven by Colman as it emerged on the state highway from the St. Charles-Burlington road. Both vehicles overturned and gasoline that spilled from extra tanks of the truck became ignited and inflicted severe burns on the Joplin men trapped in the cab.

An investigation was begun in the collision of a trailer truck and an automobile late Wednesday night on route 54 near Kankakee, in which three persons were killed. The victims were Carl Glosch, St. Louis, Mo., driver of the truck, and Charles L. Bradley, 21, and Miss Anita Lafond, 19, his companion in the passenger car, both of Manteno. All were burned in the wreckage.

Woman Dies of Injuries.

Mrs. Ellen Carney, 1415 Albion avenue, 74, who was injured in an automobile accident on May 28 when she was on her way to visit her husband's grave in Mount Carmel cemetery, died of the injuries at St. Anne's hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 352 persons had been killed in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of this figure 274 of the traffic victims were Chicagoans. The Cook county injury figure mounted to 9,995.

ILLINOIS RUBBER NOT ALL LISTED, SAY OFFICIALS

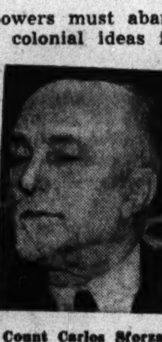
Immediate reaction to the report from Washington, D. C., which placed Illinois' contribution to the scrap rubber drive 31st among the states, came from the office of Nathan Leverone, state salvage director for the WPB yesterday, saying the reported contribution for this state constituted only the scrap taken to filling stations and did not include large amounts sold directly to the government by scrap dealers.

"We're not revealing final figures until the drive is ended, and when it is Illinois will be among the leaders," Ben Regan, executive secretary, said. "In some states the scrap taken to filling stations constitutes the entire contribution. That isn't the case here, and the figures give the misleading picture of Illinois' efforts in the drive.

The Washington figures gave Illinois a per capita contribution of 1.11 pounds and a total of 4,392 tons. The drive will end June 30.

END OF EUROPE'S AMBITIONS OVER NEAR EAST URGED

Moral Basis Shattered, Says Statesman.



Count Carlos Sforza.

The European powers must abandon their historic colonial ideas in the near east if the war is to be won as soon as possible and an equitable peace achieved, Count Carlos Sforza, anti-Fascist statesman, said here yesterday. Count Sforza was Italian high commissioner to Constantinople and Italian minister of foreign affairs in pre-Fascist days and was the first of the Italian leaders to break with Mussolini.

In a speech last night in Mandel hall, 57th street and University avenue, under sponsorship of the University of Chicago's Norman Wait Harris Memorial Foundation institute, Count Sforza said the moral basis of the ascendency of the European over the Asiatic has been shattered in this war.

Moral, Political Transformation.

"We should recognize," he went on, "that the near east will come out of this crisis much more as it was in 1939 than will most of the so-called great powers. We all admit, when speaking generally, that we are witnessing a tremendous moral and political transformation of the world.

"But when we come to episodic points we speak as if we were confronted by a nice little war of the past to be ended by a few diplomatic protocols which attempt to satisfy antagonistic claims of old minded diplomacies.

"Why has Japan been able to move so rapidly from conquest to conquest? None of us, British, Dutch, or American, is willing to confront the question. The silence is neither brave nor wise. The answer is that in very few places in Asia have the people of the east helped those of the west. The united nations would not have been outnumbered in Burma if the Burmese had wished to fight beside us.

"The Filipinos seem to have fought bravely and loyally with the American troops. The Chinese have resisted and still resist heroically the Japanese invasion. The Filipinos had received from a wise and far seeing American administration a solemn promise of freedom. The Chinese feel not only free and independent, but they believe that at the end of this war they will get rid of the privileges still in our hands in the treaty ports of China and the foreign concessions."

Not Enough Good Soil.

Count Sforza said a gross error in the 1919 peace was the mandate of Syria to the French. Despite improvements in transportation, education, and health, the Syrians resented the mandate while countries such as Iran had independence, he said.

He suggested Jewish settlement in Syria as well as Palestine, adding: "The Jewish world wants a national home to show other peoples that the Jews are endowed with positive possibilities for becoming agriculturists, producers, artisans, if only the Europe which parked them for centuries away from the fields gives them a chance to prove they are not in the least the parasitic types of the anti-semitic legend.

"This cannot possibly ever come off in Palestine. Palestine is a sacred name for the Jews and for the Christians and Moslems as well, but it has not enough good soil, not enough water, not enough natural resources to enable the Jews to try the experiment under fully normal conditions."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military services, both in the daily columns and personally, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

Mrs. F. E. B. asks: "What disposition of interest-bearing loans is made when a man is inducted? Does interest accrue while a man has been taken away from his job so he cannot pay bills he would otherwise have paid?"

ANSWER: If the loan was obtained before Oct. 17, 1940, the inducted man will receive some protection under the soldiers' and sailors' civil relief act of 1940. According to the act, court proceedings during a person's military service arising from failure to meet obligations, originating before Oct. 17, 1940, and secured by a mortgage, trust deed, or similar instrument, may be stayed by the court or the court may make some other equitable disposition of the case. Sale of property pledged as security shall not be made during the period of military service or within three months thereafter. No law, as yet, has been passed protecting obligations made after Oct. 17, 1940, nor is there a law preventing the accrual of interest. However, legislation passed by the house and now before the senate, limits to 6 per cent the interest that may be charged on an obligation incurred prior to entering the service.

W. B. asks: "In writing to my local draft board to secure information about my status, is it necessary to give any identifying information in addition to my name and address?"

ANSWER: Yes. It is very important that you give your draft order number and in the event you have not yet received your order number, give the date of your draft registration. This will insure you a speedier reply.

E. O. B. asks: "Is it all right to send newspaper clippings to soldiers in Australia, that is, inclosures with letters?"

ANSWER: It is permissible to mail clippings as well as entire newspapers.

Mrs. C. B. writes: "My husband and I have a new two ton truck and would like to put it to government use. It is not in use now. Can you tell me where to apply for government hauling?"

ANSWER: Register your truck with the United States treasury department in room 740 of the Merchandise Mart.

T. F. O. writes: "I enlisted in the naval reserve recently and have been sworn in. Later I was told the reserves are not entitled to any compensation. Does this mean that I must pay my own doctor bills if I am injured in the service? Are the reserves given the same consideration as the regular navy? Can we advance in rank, or do we keep the rank given us at the time of enlistment?"

ANSWER: Either you misunderstood or you were misinformed about not receiving compensation. Your informant probably meant that you will not receive any pay until you are called to duty, that is, begin your training. While in the service you will receive free medical care, the same as members of the regular navy. The opportunities and duties of men in the naval reserve are the same as those in the regular navy.

To Mrs. H. G. R.: It is doubtful that he will be rejected for military service on the basis of his statements.

AUTOS IN LOOP CUT 19 PCT. BY TIRE RATIONING

Street Cars and Buses Gain, Count Shows.

Nineteen per cent fewer automobiles are being driven to and from Chicago's central business district as a result of wartime tire rationing, it was shown by preliminary figures released yesterday on the city's 1942 traffic count.

The survey showed that on a typical weekday in May of this year 209,206 passenger automobiles entered or left the downtown district from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. This was a decline of 49,133 from the total of 258,339 for a comparable day in 1941.

The report on the 12th annual traffic survey was made by Leslie J. Sorenson, city traffic engineer, to Lloyd Johnson, commissioner of streets and electricity. The count was supervised by Sorenson with the coöperation of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the help of 1,300 Boy Scouts. The count was made on traffic into and out of the area bounded by the Chicago river on the north and west, Lake Michigan on the east, and Roosevelt road on the south.

Thousands Leave Cars at Home.

Sorenson said the decline in motor traffic obviously resulted from rubber rationing, which has caused thousands of Chicagoans to leave their cars at home and use other means of transportation.

The shift in travel to public vehicles is shown by the larger number of street cars and buses running into and out of the loop area, as disclosed in the survey.

The number of street cars entering and leaving the area for the 12 hour period increased in 1942 to 13,336, a gain of 8.1 per cent over the 1941 total of 12,334. Buses of the Chicago Motor Coach company numbered 4,847 this year, up 8.2 per cent over last year's 4,469.

The number of trucks and other service vehicles running to and from the central district declined 15 per cent this year, and out of town buses showed a gain of 1.6 per cent. Taxicabs increased 4.9 per cent.

A drop of 16.1 per cent in the total number of vehicles of all kinds going into and out of the downtown district was shown by the count.

Tabulation of the Count.

The following table shows a breakdown of the types of vehicles entering and leaving the central area for the typical day for this year and last year:

	—Number of vehicles—		Per cent.
	1942.	1941.	increase.
Street cars	13,336	12,334	8.1
Mot. Coach buses	4,847	4,469	8.2
Passenger autos	209,206	258,339	*19.0
Service vehicles	42,847	50,483	*15.1
Taxicabs	34,005	32,414	4.9
Out of town buses	819	806	1.6
Total	305,060	358,845	*16.1

*Decrease.

Sorenson said a report showing the number of persons carried in the vehicles is being prepared and will be released later.

Stretch of Jackson Blvd. to Be Closed for Week-End

Jackson boulevard between Wabash avenue and Clark street will be closed to traffic from 11 p. m. tomorrow to 7 a. m. Monday for construction work by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, Otto K. Jelinek, traffic engineer for the Chicago park district, said yesterday.

OFFERS TO MEET RUBBER NEEDS IN YEAR—WITH CORN

Asks 100 Million, Men, and Priorities Rating.

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—Dr. William J. Hale, head of a chemurgy firm, testified before a house mining subcommittee today he could produce all the rubber the nation needs in a year if given $100,000,000, men, and priorities.

Hale, a former organic chemistry professor at the University of Michigan, now is consultant to the Dow Chemical company and president of the National Agrol company, Washington, D. C. He said he would set up about 100 plants—with two in each state—each turning out 45,000 pounds of butadiene daily from certain types of corn.

Another $150,000,000 would be required by the rubber industry to make the rubber from the butadiene, he said, adding that his product would make tires superior to present ones.

Sees 15 Cents a Lb. Price.

"We can produce rubber for probably 15 cents a pound," he asserted, "from waxey maize and grain sorghums, and you can always make it cheaper as you progress.

"One hundred and fifty million bushels of corn will produce all the rubber we can possibly use, and that's not 5 per cent of our crop."

Dr. Hale said the War Production board and department of agriculture were aware of feats that could be performed by chemurgy.

Excluding President Roosevelt and Donald Nelson, WPB chairman, Dr. Hale accused the WPB organization of "not wanting to win the war." He said WPB officials were "hamstrung by steel and oil industries" which, he said, were in effect "Hitler cohorts."

Reports Priority Trouble.

Dr. Hale said that the petroleum industry received 500 million dollars with which to make synthetic rubber, but that it could not hope to make more than 25,000 tons in a year.

"In one year we can be turning out practically all the rubber this country can use," said Dr. Hale.

"We need only glass, porcelain, a little copper or silver—the fermentation takes place in wooden vats. We can build the plants from stove pipe or brick bats. Yet we seem unable to get priorities."

The chemist accused the Standard Oil company of New Jersey of having discouraged development of synthetic products from farm crops.

In response to questioning by Chairman Jennings Randolph [D., W. Va.] of the subcommittee, Hale said Secretary of Agriculture Wickard is "beginning to see the light" but the only hope of furthering the corn rubber process was to "see the President himself."

30 Convicts Are Paroled and Inducted Into Army

Frankfort, Ky., July 25 (AP).—Thirty prisoners from La Grange penitentiary, made available for special paroles under an act passed by the 1942 general assembly, have been taken into the army thru selective service, Welfare Commissioner W. A. Frost disclosed today. The act enables prisoners serving sentences of 10 years or less for nonfelonious violations to volunteer for army induction and obtain paroles if able to pass military physical and mental examinations.

HOT METHODIST DEBATE WAGED ON BACKING WAR

Clash to Be Resumed in Conference Today.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The question of whether the church, as such, should back the war threw into an uproar the ministerial and lay delegates to the annual session of the Rock River Methodist conference yesterday afternoon. A surprise amendment to the report of the conference peace commission was phrased to put the churchmen on the spot after the conference had reaffirmed its official statement on war which had been adopted by the general conference of 1940.

This position is stated in part as follows:

"The Methodist Church, altho making no attempt to bind the conscience of its individual members, will not officially endorse, support or participate in war. We insist that the agencies of the church shall not be used in preparation for war, but in the promulgation of peace."

Report Read by Tittle.

The amendment, however, asserted that human freedom was at stake in the war. Moreover, the drama of the debate was heightened by the fact that the conference is being held in the First Methodist church of Evanston, whose pastor, the Rev. Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle, was internationally noted before the attack on Pearl Harbor as a pacifist and peace leader. Dr. Tittle, chairman of the peace commission, had scarcely presented its report, when the amendment was offered.

Dr. Olin Clarke Jones of Aurora offered it. It said, in part:

"We believe that who wins the struggle makes a difference in the cause of human freedom and in the peace that follows after."

The original report was adopted. Debate on the amendtment was fiery, but the amendment finally was tabled until this morning, when discussion will be resumed.

"Mustn't Let Families Down."

Dr. Fred D. Stone, publishing agent of the Methodist Book concern, 740 Rush street, named hell as the difference resulting from which side won.

"It makes a difference if Mussolini and Japan win," he declared, "and we must not let our families down who have boys in the service."

The Rev. Dr. Lynn J. Radcliffe of the First Methodist church, Oak Park, declared that the Northern Baptist convention which met early this month in Cleveland, O., and the Presbyterian general assembly at Milwaukee, Wis., had faced the same problem without "blessing the war." The Baptist church had been asked by President Roosevelt in a special telegram to throw "the mighty force of your splendid body fairly behind the prosecution of the war." This the Baptist church refused to do.

MUST WIN PEACE AS WELL AS WAR. SAYS KING PETER

Washington, D. C., June 25 [Special.]—King Peter II. of Jugo-Slavia told congress today that he was confident the United States would win the war and the peace after the war. Dressed in the uniform of a Jugo-Slav admiral, he said his people were looking forward to the days of freedom, but emphasized that true peace would never come until the leaders of the axis had been "purged."

"We shall win this war," he said, "but we must also win the peace that will follow it. Never again must we permit the calamity of war to fall upon us. Never again must we permit a band of tyrants to plunge the entire world into misery and disaster. A lasting peace can never be attained until we purge the nations which today are ranged against us of wicked men whose lust and greed have wrecked many a peace loving country like mine."

The king, who stayed up until 2 o'clock this morning talking to President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill at the White House, held a press conference at Blair house this morning before reading his address in the senate and the house. Later in the day he held a reception for the Washington diplomatic corps and visited the women's press club.

WOMEN AND BOYS PLUG FARM LABOR GAPS IN ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., June 25 (AP).—In the face of a labor shortage Illinois farmers have boosted their planted acreage and production, and one of the reasons they have been able to do this is that more women are pitching in to help with the field work.

Young boys and men too old for the army or skilled industrial tasks also are helping to fill the gaps left by farm hands entering the armed services and war factories, it was brought out today in a survey report by A. J. Surratt, statistician for the state and federal departments of agriculture.

"Farmers are working longer hours and exchanging work with neighbors more than usual," Surratt said. "Some farmers are employing boys and old men more than before, and are using more female labor. They also are making more use of mechanical equipment by lending and exchanging, and they are getting some labor from industries curtailed rather than increased by the war."

THE QUESTION.

What interesting incidents have happened in your work with the service men? [Asked of service center hostesses.]

WHERE ASKED.

Service Men's Center, 176 West Washington street.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, 209 Lake Shore drive—I was amused by the little travel-worn sailor who came in looking expressly for a laundry room. His white suit was almost black and he needed a thoro scrubbing himself. After several hours of confinement in the laundry room he came back looking as tho he had just stepped out of a band box.

Mrs. Gertrude Harding, 1412 Chase avenue—One hungry looking boy asked for a ham sandwich. We had none that day. Before he left the counter he asked the price of a cheese sandwich. When he discovered they were free he wasn't particular what kind of sandwiches he ate.

Mrs. Byrd E. Henderson, 233 East Walton street—One army boy had spent hours in the arts and crafts shop. He made a bright chamois vest with a zipper pocket for his mother and carved a wooden model of a sailor. His mother came to see him and couldn't believe that he was doing those things. At home he was an outdoor type of boy.

Mrs. Frank M. Gordon, Hotel Ambassador West—One confused boy came over when he saw my hostess badge. He said that for a long time he had been wanting to thank somebody for all the things that had been done for him. He said, "Can I thank you, or shall I thank the mayor or the President, or whom shall I thank?" That was appreciation enough for all of us.

Mrs. W. Waller Jr., 45 Banks street—Three sailors ate dinner in my home one day. I thought the mothers would appreciate it if I'd write cards to them and tell them how their sons were looking. Later, one of the sailors, a small town boy, came back and said that all along the route the mailman had told the neighbors he had been invited out to dinner and they knew it before his mother did.

Mrs. Arthur M. Oppenheimer, 327 North Sheridan road, Highland Park—He didn't look old enough to be in the navy but the little sailor boy came up and asked if he might dance with me. I suggested that he choose one of the many pretty young girls for a partner. He said back in Texas he was taught that it was a necessary social courtesy to ask the hostess to dance.

Phones Will Wail if You Dial Nobody's Number

If you dial a nonexistent telephone number in Chicago and Evanston after June 30, you will hear a siren-like sound, the Illinois Bell Telephone company announced yesterday. The no such number is to be changed to prevent confusion with the "busy" signal tone.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

THE HOUR OF DECISION.

A most important dispatch from Jack Turcott of the New York News was published in THE TRIBUNE on Wednesday. The message was dated "Somewhere in Australia." It was written after an inspection of many camps and after conversations with scores of pilots. The conclusions reached by Mr. Turcott passed the censorship and that means that their publication in this country had the approval of Gen. MacArthur. It is at least a fair presumption that Gen. MacArthur is in substantial agreement with the judgments expressed.

Mr. Turcott says "it is impossible to avoid the conclusion that the allied strategy as mapped out in Washington and London insists that Australia remain a defensive base. It is equally impossible to avoid the conclusion that the Japanese do not want to invade Australia. The enemy obviously is content to retain his hold on his vast conquests and utilize the valuable products and installations he has conquered in Malaya, Singapore, etc." He is "using the lengthened breathing spell to strengthen himself in territory which is rich in raw materials for war."

The inaction of our forces across the Pacific is, therefore, helpful to the enemy. It is also hurtful to us. The censor let Mr. Turcott convey the somewhat ominous information that action is needed to "boost the morale of the soldiers stationed here." He believes we could go places if the Australian forces were given no more than a fortnight's production of heavy bombers and plenty of pursuit planes.

Here is the situation, then: The Japanese navy and particularly the Japanese naval aviation which played a determining part in the Japanese conquests have now been greatly weakened by successive defeats in the Coral sea engagements and off Midway. The initiative in the Pacific is ours to take for the asking. That is the situation as it exists today, but it will not last forever. The Japanese must be working feverishly to repair their damaged ships and improvise carriers. If we give the Japs time they may be able to assemble a far more effective fighting force than they have now. Probably within a matter of months, if our advantage is not pressed, they will have made up their losses in planes, if not in carriers.

This is the moment to strike, with a view to knocking Japan out of the war. Given a sufficient air force, Gen. MacArthur can start driving the Japanese out of their conquests in the southwestern Pacific. At the same time our forces can begin to move straight westward, island by island, across the Pacific. If the British in India can take the offensive in Burma and we can strike southward from Alaska, so much the better. If the Japanese then attempt to hold everywhere they stand a good chance of losing everywhere. Once we gain positions from which we can persistently bomb the Japanese homeland, the war will be about over so far as Japan is concerned.

The distances across the Pacific are great, but the operations suggested here need place no corresponding strain upon our supply of merchant shipping. If we hold the intervening islands, we can fly the bombers and considerable quantities of supplies to the scene of action. We might even find it possible to fly fighter planes by shorter stages from Honolulu.

The opportunity is ours to seize. If it is neglected the war may be protracted by months or years.

WHAT THE WHITEWASH DIDN'T COVER.

Paving Block Ed Flynn, the Democratic national chairman, still has the blocks that gave him his name, stolen from the city of New York and laid by city labor on his country estate. That is something that the grand jury whitewash, applied by Flynn's golfing partner and political tool, District Attorney Foley of the Bronx, couldn't conceal.

When the Flynn scandal got so hot that Flynn's ally, Frantic Fiorello La Guardia, could no longer keep the lid on it, Foley took it before the Bronx grand jury. The jury brought in a strange report to the general effect that a crime had been committed but that no one was guilty of it. This contradiction was cleared up when a member of the grand jury made an affidavit that Foley had told the jury that a thief cannot be punished if he has made restitution. Flynn had paid the city for the labor of laying the stolen blocks. The grand jury was then reconvened, not for Foley to withdraw his pickpocket interpretation of the law, but in an attempt to bulldoze the juror who had exposed it to the public.

Flynn and Foley thought they had everything nailed down. Foley controled the grand jury. Gov. Lehman has refused to appoint a disinterested prosecutor to supersede him. Only one thing was overlooked. Flynn still has the paving blocks, which the grand jurors could not avoid deciding had been stolen from the city of New York.

A citizens' committee has demanded that Flynn take up the blocks and return them to the city. If he fails to do so, the committee's secretary says that legal action will be started to force restitution. That is a lot of trouble for a few loads of granite, but it is an effort worth while when it demonstrates the moral bankruptcy of a political party that will retain as its national leader a man publicly branded as a patron of thieves and receiver of their loot.

PUT THE VETERANS TO WORK.

The 33d Division War Veterans' association asserts that many of its members who have offered to serve in noncombatant capacities are being ignored by the war department while young men of military age, but without training or qualifications, are being given commissions. Secretary of War Stimson recently promised to take the young and fit desk officers out of their swivel chair jobs and replace them by older men from the army specialist corps. Here is his chance to make good the promise. The veterans of the last war understand military problems. They possess energy and mature judgment, and that they are patriotic goes without saying. They are too old for combat duty. Those who want to serve should be called into service at once and put to work wherever they are needed back of the lines.

BED TICK MONEY.

The department of commerce last week reported that the national income in the first quarter was at the rate of nearly 109 billion dollars a year. The total was 91 billions in 1941 and 76 billions in 1940. A total of 120 billions for the year seems conceivable. That would be nearly 50 per cent more than in the great boom year of 1929. A large part of the increase is in factory pay rolls. Wage payments by factories have more than doubled since the war started.

Consider the change in this community in a year. There are at present 40,000 more persons employed in the factories of Chicago than a year ago at this time. Last spring the factories were paying out about 50 million dollars a month here. Now they are disbursing 66 millions a month.

Where is all this extra money going? One place where it isn't going is into automobiles. In three months last spring, 55,000 new cars or nearly 50 million dollars worth were sold in Cook county. This year practically none. Other millions were going into other durable articles of large value no longer available.

The additional workers and the extra earnings combined with the elimination of autos and other things as objects of expenditure have released large amounts. The extra money isn't being socked away in the banks. Weekly figures on time deposits here, which are not quite identical with savings deposits, are off over 300 million dollars in a year.

Taxes have sponged up other considerable amounts, but these have hit chiefly the upper crust, those with incomes of $5,000 and more, not the factory workers. The people must also have been paying off debts. A chart published on the financial page Tuesday showed how HOLC loans are being reduced thruout the country. Loans of credit unions, personal finance companies, and industrial banking companies are going down steadily. Some of the funds released are going into war bonds, but not early enough to account for the discrepancy between spending money and spendings.

One of the most remarkable developments which accounts for the anomaly is hoarding. When the war broke out the total amount of United States money in circulation was a little over 7 billion dollars. This was a high level. Europeans were converting their funds into American currency as war clouds gathered. That source of increased demand for currency has ceased to exist. However, the amount of money in circulation has not declined, but has risen to nearly 12 billion dollars. In the last year alone the rise has been about 2¾ billion dollars.

Roughly, money can be classified into three groups. There is pocket money, consisting of coins, and 1, 2, and 5 dollar bills. Then there is bed tick money, consisting of 10's, 20's, 50's and 100's. And finally there is big dough, the $500, $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000 bills, the kind of money the wealthy foreigners might use to store up and hide their liquid means.

Well, the amount of pocket money hasn't changed much in the last year or so. The big dough has actually shown a decline. But money in the bed tick denominations has soared. In a year there has been a demand for an extra billion dollars worth of twenty dollar bills alone. It seems perfectly clear that a lot of little fellows are hoarding.

There is some sense in hoarding, if you hoard precious metals and happen to live in a backward country, like India or China. An excuse can be made for hoarding gold in wartime or during a panic in an advanced country if the laws permitted it. But there is no reason at all to hoard currency in the United States. It is sheer idiocy. The treasury is prepared to issue as much currency as is needed. Those who force the treasury to print more currency are helping to bring on a time when the value of currency may drop rapidly. Those who hide their cash away instead of buying bonds with it, or depositing it in a bank which could invest in war bonds, are hurting the war effort.

The fact that hoarding has taken on some importance means that a large part of the increased income has gone either to people who came from backward countries, or to people who do not know how attractive war bonds are and how safe are deposits in banks under the federal guarantee system. Among both groups, there is a lot of educational work to be done, both by the banks and by the government. Those who are most in need of financial enlightment are apparently not yet being reached by the methods used.

Editorial of the Day

ALLIED DESERT TRAGEDY.

[Memphis Commercial Appeal.]

It is a rude awakening, indeed, which the united nations peoples, and particularly the British, have had from their dreams of an important Libyan desert victory.

Heretofore the changes in Libya have been accepted on a fortune of war basis. No longer can there be such philosophical regard for what takes place. If there were not enough men in the middle east, where are they? If there was not enough mechanized equipment, where in heaven is it? All in Russia? Or Ireland? If there were not enough aircraft, why weren't there, at the rate bombers and fighters are being poured into the so-called united nations pool? A few hundred fighter and bomber planes would have tipped the balance.

These and many more questions demand frank answers. The peoples of the united nations have been told time and again by their leaders that what occurs in one sector affects all. On that basis, then, this is a united nations and not purely a British reverse. In the face of the encouraging reports which were given them, the British people have a right to rise up and howl at their leaders. So have all united nations peoples.

There inevitably arises in the mind this question: Are we, in our united nations effort, spreading too little out too thinly—attempting to provide strength to so many sectors that great weaknesses are being left in sectors which should be especially strengthened? This is not so much a matter of strategy as it is one involving superiority in equipment and man power. It should be answered.

Reverses are due to come to us, but not in the Libyan desert. An excuse of "too little and too late" just won't go over this time.

Something more than weakness in supply is indicated. Somewhere there's been grave weakness in leadership.

We shall never forget that it was Ickes who wouldn't let the Nazis have the helium, and that he's just as hard to reason with when he's right.—Detroit News.

We see by the book reviews that the Old Stone Tower of Newport, R. I., is making another bid for attention as a relic of the age of Viking explorations. Many American historians who have laughed off this old wives' tale are preparing to roll over in their graves.

Stay-at-home vacationists, when seized with the inevitable boredom, might take a streetcar ride and visit the Douglas monument, at 35th street and the lake. It is likely that they have never seen it, and the memorial, with its pretty little park, is worth inspection. Everything is in fine shape, and the state authorities deserve a pat on the back for vigilant attention to care taking, landscaping, and lighting.

Would you like to see a Russian Orthodox church, surmounted by the turnip forms typical of Moscow? Run out to the Holy Trinity, at Haddon avenue and Leavitt street, near the Western-Division intersection. This was the first Russian church built in Chicago, and it was designed by Louis Sullivan, of international fame. We warn you, however, that it isn't much to look at.

Oddly enough, in that church the editor of this column had his first nip of vodka. We went to its dedication as a reporter, and Baron von Schlippenbach, Russian consul, offered the press refreshments in the vestry.

REST IN RURAL PEACE.

O, you can have your willow trees
And mighty, massive, storm-tossed oaks;
The bards who work that ancient wheeze
Of pines that murmur in the breeze
Are obviously city folks.

O, let them sing of fields of corn,
And windswept wheat, and hay, and stuff;
Their vague idea of early morn
Is 10 a. m., and let me warn—
Perhaps that isn't late enough!

If poets pastoral were drilled
To pass a rigid rural test,
Much futile singing might be stilled,
And Mother Nature would be thrilled
To get a long poetic rest!

Little Essay in Rhyme.

I cannot wield a brush as artists do who recreate on canvas for review some fleeting thought, or mood, or bit of cloud, or face but glimpsed from out the passing crowd. I have no gift or talent such as this to blend in color with rare artifice, and envy those the hidden joy that's wrought within the one who thus makes live a thought.

I have no gift? But give to me a pen to write a line to reach the minds of men, that in this humble way I may portray the humor and the pathos of the day:

A blind man on the street with tapping cane, as safe in city street as country lane; the gratitude that springs to begging lips; the heart that throbs thru meeting fingertips. I may not, like the artist, paint the cloud, but deep within are songs that sing aloud. The Odd One.

In Memory of "Madelon."

Speaking of war songs: The singer who popularized "Madelon" in the Great war, Lucien Boyer, died in Paris on June 17. This gay ditty about a café waitress became the favorite marching song of the French armies and also had a vogue in this country. A few of its lines:

Quand Madelon vient nous servir à boire
Sous la tonnelle, on frôle son jupon,
Et chacun lui raconte une histoire,
Une histoire à sa façon.

This is the hour for stilled and sternest thinking;
For microscopic probing of the mind
To learn what hidden facing's there, what shrinking,
What wells of quiet strength. The hour to find
How small or great one's gift of guarded speaking—
Not shouted ignorance, nor ranter's noise;
Not prophecy, nor blame, nor culprit-seeking,
But words renouncing poignancy for poise.
This above all is the hour for steadfast action—
Unpublicized and dedicated deed
That lends its all to freedom, not to faction;
To crisis and its curing, not to creed.
"O, citizen, think, speak, and act your power!"
Is America's anguished cry in this her hour.

HELPING THE VICTIMS OF DEAFNESS.

The cure of deafness has been sought for centuries, and the hunt is still on. In some cases, hearing disturbances will present social and economic handicaps so far-reaching that any method of relief will be hailed with joy.

Of course, it is too late to tell the sufferer that he should avoid colds, regulate his diet, and correct any obvious physical abnormalities But these admonitions may be heeded by the one who is not affected and who, because of repeated bouts with nose and throat infections, is more likely to encounter trouble.

Thus far the science of medicine has been able to offer but little encouragement to afflicted persons. When obstruction exists in the Eustachian tube [which leads from the nasal airways to the middle ear] it can be removed. With the reopening of this channel, which equalizes air pressure on both sides of the drum, the feeling that the ears have been stuffed with cotton disappears quickly.

Sometimes these structures clear of their own accord, but chronic inflammation will necessitate their being blown out by the physician. Not infrequently a careful examination of the nasal passages will show that the outlet is blocked by discharges from one of the sinuses. This not only causes irritation but shuts off completely the access of air. Inflation, plus the subsidence of infection, will accomplish much.

Altho many other procedures are available the apparent gain which follows may be largely psychological. With hope aroused, the patient will be more alert and, in consequence, assert that he hears better.

This makes it difficult to evaluate the effect of the prostigmin treatment. For example, in both head noises and deafness, improvement varied from 20 to 25 per cent. But just how much of this will be permanent remains to be seen. The drug must not be forgotten, but it should be employed in suitable cases only and its results checked.

Recently the application of X-ray and radium has been the subject of intensive study. The object seems to be to shrink the overgrowth of lymph tissue which interferes with the normal function of the Eustachian tube. This is particularly beneficial with children who appear to be proceeding rapidly toward permanent deafness. While the fenestration operation holds much promise, the procedure should not be undertaken unless one is in the hands of an expert.

Electrical aids have come to the fore rapidly. Many a person who has been exiled from active business is now able to carry on ordinary conversation with reasonable comfort.

We can all be helpful if we will give our deaf friends a little more attention and consideration. If words are enunciated distinctly, if we look directly at the one addressed, he will interpret far more accurately. Too much cannot be said for the art of lip reading, and a skilful teacher will be able to establish a correlation between the pronunciation of words, the expression of the speaker's face, and the reception of ideas by the patient.

IT PLAYED POSSUM.

H. G. writes: I picked up a mouse which I thought was dead and it bit me. Will I get an infection of some kind?

REPLY.

Not if the wound is cared for properly. It should be scrubbed thoroly, cauterized with carbolic or nitric acid, and kept clean. Tetanus antitoxin is usually advised.

LITTLE GIRL.

A. C. writes: My 12 year old daughter is no taller than a 6 year old. Is there any way to increase her height?

REPLY.

A careful study of her glandular system should be made by your physician. Thyroid or pituitary extract may be indicated.

Test Your Horse Sense

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 29.

1. Which one of the following numbers indicates the finest grained sandpaper?
   00 0 1 3
2. The American Flying Fortress has how many motors?
   2 4 6 8
3. Which one of these insects likes to drill holes in wood?
   Termite Cockroach Honey bee Butterfly
4. Which one of these words is inappropriate in this general grouping?
   Haviland Wedgwood Duncan Phyfe Dresden
5. According to the old nursery rime, how many blackbirds were baked in a pie?
   10 14 24 36
6. Animals and birds often are easily distinguished by the type of sounds which they utter. A blind man is usually quite expert in identifying such sounds, but we normal individuals can also make many rough distinctions. Today I'll allot one point for each correct matching of the following five creatures with the typical sounds which they emit.

[a] Goose	[v] Whistle
[b] Dove	[w] Bleat
[c] Frog	[x] Hiss
[d] Lamb	[y] Coo
[e] Whippoorwill	[z] Croak

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

TEACHERS IN WAR PLANTS.

Highland Park, Ill., June 22.—Several days ago you published a letter from some one advocating that public schoolteachers be asked to work at defense jobs for the summer. There is nothing that I would rather do, but I doubt very much whether getting such a job would be easy.

For a number of years I taught machine shop work, and would therefore be able to take over some metal working job for the time being. However, several things stand in the way. In the first place, most plants are not open shop and this would necessitate joining some union. Secondly, most employers do not want temporary help, and finally, when one reaches an age over 50, as in my case, they are loath to consider the applicant at all. So there is not much opportunity to help.

Furthermore, waiving the second and third reasons above, I do not believe that either I or any one else would be anxious to spend the two months of the summer working just to swell the treasury of some union by paying an exorbitant initiation fee, together with the regular weekly or monthly dues. Recent developments in the job buying racket have made us wary of having anything to do with such occurrences.

PUBLIC SCHOOLTEACHER.

MOVIE THEATER WOLVES.

Chicago, June 12.—I wonder how many of the women who attend loop theaters alone have been annoyed by the movie "wolf" who infests these places? It happens that I work a split trick, which means that I have three hours to spend in the loop each day before reporting to my next station. I drop into a loop movie house and come out refreshed and feeling much happier. But there is always the male who has come in alone, not to watch the picture, but to stare and annoy any woman seated alone. The "wolf" comes into a theater and prowls the aisles on the search for a woman seated alone. With hundreds of vacant seats, he must sit right beside her and there he sits and stares and stares and occupies his own as well as half of her seat. After being snubbed he is up and about again looking for a new candidate. A. G.

TRAINING RECONNAISSANCE.

Chicago, June 23.—As has become the usual headline, this morning's newspapers recite, "Another Ship Sunk on Our Atlantic Coast." My daughter's comment this morning was, "Why don't they have some of the thousands of men who are in air service training camps do their practice flying over the water along the coast, thus providing a lookout for subs at the same time that they are securing flying practice?"

It sounds like a good suggestion. Why not? C. W. BALDRIDGE.

THE NEW DEAL DEBT.

Oak Park, Ill., June 17.—Before we started to spend money toward the war the New Dealers had plunged this country into approximately a $50,000,000,000 deficit. I am afraid that in the postwar period, when they seek reëlection, this fact will become forgotten by too many people. Certainly, after the war, we do not want a continuation of those methods tacked on to the incalculable sum the war will cost us. OAK PARKER.

MAKEUP.

Chicago, June 21.—Can't you do something about the catsuppy lips and slaughter house fingernails of the otherwise attractive young ladies who are photographed for your Sunday picture section?

Somebody ought to tip these deluded souls off to the fact that red paint is all right in its place, for example, on a barn, but that their faces and fingers deserve better treatment than a barn. The delusion arises, of course, from the fact that red is a bright, cheerful color.

If a girl really wished to be considerate of her good looks [as well as the esthetic sensibilities of other human beings who are compelled to look upon her], she would grab the nearest wash cloth and remove the last vestige of lipstick from her face, and wear instead a bright red ribbon in her hair, a necklace of red beads, or even red earrings. Then, if she would take a look at herself in her mirror, she would be amazed to find how much more attractive a touch of red can be when worn instead of plastered on. VICTOR ELVING.

UNFIT FOR LIBERTY.

Davenport, Ia., June 23.—Permit me if you will to quote John Stuart Mill:

"A people may prefer a free government; but if from indolence or carelessness or cowardice, or want of public spirit, they are unequal to the exertions necessary for preserving it; if they will not fight for it when it is directly attacked; if they can be deluded by artifices used to cheat them out of it; if, by momentary discouragement or temporary panic, or a fit of enthusiasm for an individual, they can be induced to lay their liberties at the feet, even of a great man, or trust him with powers which enable him to subvert their institutions—in all these cases they are more or less unfit for liberty; and even tho it may be for their good to have had it even for a short time, they are unlikely long to enjoy it."

PACKAGES FOR SOLDIERS.

Chicago, June 19.—I have sent packages to my nephew at an army camp on two different occasions and both have never been received. After talking with friends about this I find that they, too, have had the same experience. To steal from the mails in civilian life, means a penalty to those convicted, but nothing much seems to be done about it in the camps.

NO SIRENS IN THE NIGHT.

Chicago, June 11.—It is a wonderful relief to have fire engines equipped with bells instead of the shrill sirens which used to shock people out of their sleep during the night and deprive them of a good night's rest.

I hope the bells will be continued after the war is over. EM. R.

TAX ON BOOKIES.

Waukegan, Ill., June 22.—Several months ago I wrote to Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee and suggested that a tax or license should be levied on operators of hand books or establishments that made bets on horse races away from the tracks. I received no reply from Mr. Doughton, who no doubt is more interested in trying to chisel higher taxes from poor people with low incomes. Just why the bookies should be immune and slot machines taxed is beyond me. These parasites operate in almost every state in the Union, and take money from suckers that should be used to buy war bonds. They can easily stand a tax of $100 a month. While they are at it why not also tax roulette wheels, poker rooms and gambling houses in general. In Waukegan, thru an illegal arrangement with the police, the books pay a fine of $200 a month and don't holler. They can easily stand another hundred to Mr. Whiskers. Look what the government is missing. OBSERVER.

THE LIDICE METHOD.

Chicago, June 19.—Every right thinking man or woman shudders at the cruelty of Hitler shooting the men of a whole town, in lieu of punishing one offender. Yet a similar method is in vogue with some school teachers who are so incapable of sorting out the sheep from the goats that they punish a whole class. I have had my own child's school enthusiasm entirely wrecked by such procedure. MRS. M. L. HEPP.

MINOR'S ESTATE.

Chicago, June 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Two years ago our 10 year old son was injured in an automobile accident. The insurance company paid the bills and gave him a compensation of several hundred dollars, which was put in a trust fund until he becomes of age. We, his parents, now live in a small flat in the city and feel that a change would benefit our children. We wish to buy a home in a suburb but do not have the required down payment.

1. Would the Probate court give us consent to use this money in this manner?

2. We would repay him or leave him that much more of the property than the other children. W. G.

1. It does not seem likely that the court would permit the minor's estate to be used for the purchase of a home, if that is what you mean to ask, but the attorney who handled the original matter for you knows the family circumstances and hence is in a better position to advise you than we are.

G. O. P. CAPTURE OF HOUSE THIS FALL PREDICTED

Ditter Hits Democrat Claim of 10 Seat Increase.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rep. J. W. Ditter.

Washington, D. C., June 25.—Predicting Republican capture of the house by an overwhelming majority in November, Rep. J. William Ditter [R., Pa.], chairman of the National Republican Congressional committee, gleefully tore apart the recent claim of Democratic Chairman Patrick H. Drewry [D., Va.] that the Democrats would gain 10 seats.

"If Mr. Drewry's prediction," said Ditter, "was based on the results of special house elections since the last general election in 1940, I am quite willing to accept it as the best possible basis.

"In these special elections Republicans have captured four seats, Democrats none. In May, 1941, the Democrats lost a seat in New York they had held for a quarter of a century.

Cites Other Cases.

"In December, 1941, they lost one in Colorado they had held even longer. In January of this year they lost another in Connecticut they had carried in the four preceding general elections.

"No, the Democrats have not been winning in these significant tests of public sentiment.

"But more likely—it seems more than just a coincidence—my friend and revered opponent, Chairman Drewry, took his hope from and based his prediction on a Gallup poll made public last Sunday.

"Five weeks ago a Gallup poll indicated a loss to the Republicans of 38 seats. The poll of four days ago indicated a loss to the Republicans of only 10 seats.

Sees Victory in Shift.

"Incidentally, three of these, according to the recent poll, would be lost thru the process of redistricting which has taken place since 1940. But no matter. Taking it at 10 seats, that was a loss to our opponents, indicated by the two Gallup polls, of 28 seats in less than five weeks.

"We won't quibble about whether we even stood to lose any seats. We don't believe we did, but quite the contrary. We accept the Gallup rate of Democratic retrogression.

"It will put us far along the road toward victory within a few weeks, so far as gains are concerned, and will give us the house by an overwhelming majority in November."

YOUNG G.O.P. INDORSES DEWEY FOR GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK, 104 TO 1

New York, June 25 [Special].—The New York Young Republican club, by a vote of 104 to 1, last night indorsed the candidacy of Thomas E. Dewey for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Proponents of the resolution made frequent references to the rift between Dewey and Wendell L. Willkie, with Edward Rager charging that Willkie, by his veiled attacks on Dewey, was seeking to undermine the Republican party in the hope of destroying the two party system.

"Thomas E. Dewey has urged complete unity of the American people in prosecuting the war against our enemies and has urged that we recognize our responsibilities in creating a stabilized world and lasting peace after the war," the resolution said.

"Mr. Dewey has proven his ability as an incorruptible and fearless administrator whose record in New York City particularly qualifies him to give progressive leadership in reorganizing and reforming the government of the state of New York after 20 years of Tammany-Democratic machine rule."

HOUSE IN REVOLT; REFUSES ICKES AN EXTRA 25 MILLION

Fights Senate's Additions to Fund Measure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—Recording its disapproval of "foolish and ridiculous" projects, particularly in wartime, the house today by a 169 to 143 vote turned down a senate proposal to give Harold L. Ickes an extra $25,000,000 to run the department of the interior in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Only five days remain before the fiscal year dead line, and if the deadlock should continue beyond that date Ickes and his huge staff would be left high and dry, technically and legally unable to spend a dime. The senate is expected to yield under the circumstances.

Eight Week Job Involved.

The senate long has been accustomed to pile extra millions upon house passed appropriation bills. Bureaucrats scorn the house and hasten to the senate to get house slashes restored.

In this case, a house committee spent eight weeks considering the interior department budget requests, pruned the bill carefully, and the house supported its recommendations, passing a bill containing $162,000,000. A senate committee leisurely added $25,000,000 after only eight days' consideration. The senate casually accepted the recommendations.

House conferees surrendered in almost every instance at a joint conference, but their report to the house today was followed by one of those sudden house revolts, joined in by both Republicans and Democrats.

"This is the most abject surrender by the house conferees that I can ever remember," thundered Rep. Albert E. Carter [R., Cal.]. "These millions can and should be saved."

"More than Chicken Feed."

"Twenty-five millions is more than chicken feed, even in these days," agreed Rep. Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.]. "We worked long and faithfully to return a just bill. Approval of this report is a public confession by the house of the superior mentality of the senate."

"It's time to end foolish and ridiculous projects, especially in wartime," said Rep. Harold D. Cooley [D., N. C.]. "Look at this $50,000 item for 'studying the food habits of birds.' We can certainly dispense with that project while fighting the war."

The house action sent the measure back to conference with the senate. And next Tuesday midnight, Ickes' public money runs out.

ERROL FLYNN'S PARTY ENDS IN BACK DOOR FIGHT

Bartender in Hospital; Star's Aid Held.

Hollywood, Cal., June 25 [Special].—Swashbuckling Errol Flynn of the movies, who was nursing a terrific hangover when last seen, was missing from his usual haunts today while his stand-in was held by police for slugging Barbara Hutton's butler at a strenuous birthday party in Flynn's home.

James Fleming.

The party began last Saturday. Such screen notables as Tyrone Power, Diana Shore, Merle Oberon, Cary Grant, Charles Chaplin, and Alexander Korda arrived to help Errol celebrate his 32d birthday. Eric Gosta, butler for Heiress Barbara Hutton, was hired to help tend bar.

Trouble started in the kitchen—about 4 a. m. Sunday. Flynn, whose temper has led him into several celebrated fistic combats off the studio lot, had nothing to do with the brawl, witnesses agreed. But his stand-in did.

Butler's Skull Fractured.

This worthy is James Fleming, 33, Fynn's former butler and now his secretary. Standing 6 feet 2 inches tall but weighing only 155 pounds, he explained to police that he struck Gosta in self-defense.

The Hutton butler was in a critical condition tonight with a fractured skull. Capt. Vene Rasmussen of the homicide squad said: "We may have a homicide case on our hands." Miss Hutton ordered him removed to a private hospital and insisted on a thoro investigation "to see that justice was done."

Fleming was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to do bodily harm.

"Gosta was mixing drinks with six ounces of whisky in them," he said. "Mr. Flynn and I noticed his condition and got him into the kitchen. We mixed the drinks ourselves after that.

Blows Exchanged.

"As the help was going out the back door, Gosta shouted something in Swedish. Then he hit me and I struck back."

He showed newspaper men a mark under his left eye. The blow he struck, he said, "wasn't hard enough to knock a man down."

"Gosta fell and I suppose he hit his head on the concrete," he added.

Gosta's roommate, Kristian Chester, Flynn's former butler, told a different story. He said Fleming "pestered" Gosta all evening, finally chasing him out of the house and then striking the only blow—a hard one on the chin. Gosta was too ill to talk.

ICKES ASKS U. S. CORPORATION TO RULE OIL OUTPUT

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, contending that wartime dislocations threaten to create actual shortages of oil for military use, today asked congress to establish a 500 million dollar government corporation with broad powers over production and distribution of petroleum products.

Testifying before the house banking committee, the petroleum coördinator said there is a prospect that many small oil companies may go bankrupt because of the increased cost of transporting petroleum supplies.

Their failure, he asserted, would mean that "military and essential civilian users may fail to get petroleum supplies which they must have." Ickes emphasized, too, the question of conservation. There is, he said, no over-all shortage of crude petroleum at present, but continuance of this situation, if the war is prolonged, might depend on how well existing reserves are conserved.

NEW RENT CHIEF SAYS RULES ARE SELF-ENFORCING

Howard Confers with OPA Administrator.

Earl Dean Howard, Chicago's new rent director, yesterday began organization work by conferring with John C. Weigel, Office of Price Administration regional director, and said that he did not expect any difficulties in his new position.

"The rent regulation is self-enforcing," Howard observed. "Tenants will report infractions, but there will be few because most landlords will comply with the wartime law.

"I am trying to get a capable assistant. He's a hard man to get. You know the government doesn't pay large salaries." [Howard is surrendering a $10,000 a year job with the city as Mayor Kelly's labor adviser to work for the OPA at $6,500].

Register by Aug. 15.

Aug. 15 has been set as the deadline for the registration by landlords of their dwelling units and rental rates, Weigel said. Registrations will begin early in July, he said. A separate registration will be held later for hotels and rooming houses.

Weigel advised tenants to pay rents on July 1 at rates no higher than those at which their apartments or flats rented on March 1 this year. He urged landlords not to attempt to collect higher rents than allowed by the price law.

Fingering a blue striped tie which blended quietly with a dark blue suit and white shirt, Howard asserted that he had some work to finish for the city. He did not appear happy about severing his relations with the city hall.

Surveying City Salaries.

Howard has conducted a study into the salaries of city hall employés and has advised the city council on relations with the employés. Remaining neutral and objective, he won the respect of the aldermen, Mayor Kelly, and the workers.

Howard is 66, married, and the father of two sons and a daughter. He had a record of 34 years of teaching as a professor of sociology and economics at Northwestern university and in May, 1941, he went to work for Mayor Kelly.

The headquarters for the rent control agency will be temporarily in the Civic Opera building, where the OPA regional office is located. However, negotiations are near completion for a short term lease by the government of the seventh floor, containing 12,000 square feet, in the Adams-Franklin building at 222 West Adams street.

SET ROOM RENT RULES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—The Office of Price Administration this afternoon promulgated rules for maximum rents in hotels and rooming houses in 20 defense rental areas, including South Bend, Ind., where federal control previously was invoked for houses, flats, and apartments.

It was announced that the same pattern is to be followed in 60 other defense rental areas, including the Chicago metropolitan district, which are to be placed under federal control next week.

Hotel and rooming house managers are required to register with the area's federal rent control administrator within 45 days of the regulation's effective date. They will list rooms rented and those offered for rent with the legal maximum rates. Within each room must be posted the legal maximum for various terms of occupancy—day, week, or month—and for different numbers of occupants.

Differ in Methods.

The chief difference between the regulation for hotels and rooming houses and that for housing accommodations is the manner by which the maximum legal rent is determined.

For housing accommodations the maximum legal rent is determined in general by ordering all rents for such accommodations—houses, flats, apartments—held to the level of a certain date, called the maximum rent date. For Chicago this is March 1, 1942.

In determining the maximum rent for rooms in hotels and boarding houses a base period of 30 days is used, this period to be the one ending on the maximum rent date for the defense rental area. The maximum rent for any room is the highest rent charged during that period, or the rent for which it was offered during that period.

Consider Two Factors.

Both the length of occupancy—day, week, or month—and the number of persons occupying any given room during that 30 days are taken into consideration.

In cases of boarding houses, when the rent paid also includes meals, the landlord is required to apportion the rent for the room from the total charge made.

Inheritance tax returns on the estate of Charles H. Schweppe of Lake Forest yesterday showed a net of $187,685 left to Schweppe's son and daughter, Mrs. A. Watson Armour III. and John Shedd Schweppe. The tax return was filed with the county clerk of Lake county.

Mr. Schweppe, who shot himself to death last Aug. 26 in his home at 405 North Mayflower avenue, Lake Forest, was widely known as a civic leader and philanthropist and investment banker. He also was a director of Marshall Field & Co. and Fairbanks, Morse & Co.

His wife, Mrs. Laura Schweppe, a daughter of John G. Shedd, died in 1937, leaving more than 5 million dollars to the son and daughter.

ASK WPB TODAY TO MODIFY BAN ON ELASTICS

Representatives of manufacturers in the elastics industry will meet today with War Production board chiefs in Washington in an effort to obtain modification of Wednesday's order ending the use of rubber elastics in garters, suspenders, socks, and other such items.

"We didn't have a chance to get ready," said an executive of a leading garter and suspender maker in Chicago last night. "We're not complaining; we have to take it with the rest of the industries hit by the rubber shortage. But this summary ban works a hardship on many of us."

The plan is to ask for a relaxation of the order so the industry can use as much elastic as the Canadian companies, which now are allowed 18 inches of elastic thread for suspenders and are not limited on their garter production. The ordinary suspender, it was said, requires 60 inches of elastic.

DETECTIVES KILL FBI FUGITIVE IN HOTEL BATTLE

Federal Office Shot Up, Cops Disarmed in Foray.

"I'll Get Even"—Threat

Detroit, Mich., June 25. [Special]. — Agents of the FBI late tonight were seeking to pick up John Leonard, Detroit auto worker, brother of James McCartee Leonard, killed in a gun duel with Grand Rapids detectives. They said Leonard had left his home in a rage. At 9 p. m. the city editor of the Detroit Free Press received a telephone call from a man who said he was John Leonard.

"So the Grand Rapids police killed my brother," the man said. "I'm going right over there and get even with them."

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 25 [Special].—In a furious gun battle in a hotel room, Grand Rapids detectives late today shot and killed a young desperado who last night shot his way out of the Federal building in downtown Detroit while being questioned about his wearing illegally the uniform of the United States navy.

The victim was James McCartee Leonard, 21 years old, of Cheboygan, Mich., whose home town police described as "a wild youth with a mania for leading cops on hot chases." He was a member of the merchant marine and was home on a 10 day leave after making a trip to a foreign country.

The daring that had carried him unscathed thru a series of sensational incidents since last night's shooting almost turned the final ambush into another coup for the young gunman.

Lieutenant Seized.

He was waiting, with his two guns drawn, inside his room at the Lorraine hotel here when Lieut. Glenn Lane opened the door with a pass key after his knocks went unanswered. Quickly, Leonard drew the detective into the room under cover of his guns and slammed the door in the face of the two accompanying detectives.

"Tell your buddies to come on in," he told the helpless Lane, whom he apparently intended to use as a shield.

But Lieut. Frank Breen, who had been in back of Lane, didn't need an invitation. He smashed thru the closed door, firing as he came. His first bullet struck Leonard, but the gunman stayed on his feet firing both of his weapons.

His nine shots went wild, however, while three more of Breen's four shots took effect. Only a few moments after the battle started, Leonard lay dead on the floor of the smoke filled room.

Questioned by FBI.

The young man launched his crime wave last night while agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were questioning him on the ninth floor of the Federal building in Detroit about the navy uniform he was wearing.

In the midst of the interrogation Leonard suddenly drew from his blouse a .32 caliber pistol. Pointing it at the agent questioning him, he seized the man's revolver and fired four shots, one of which grazed the G-man's elbow.

As he sprinted down the corridor, pursuing FBI agents fired two shots at him. One of the bullets hit a door of the United States marshal's office and the other struck an elevator door.

Unscathed, Leonard ran to the 7th floor mezzanine and into the scrub women's locker room where he demanded of a scrub woman: "How do I get out of here?" She pointed toward a freight elevator and was forced to accompany the gunman, who told her: "I need you as a shield."

They went down in the elevator to the basement where six armed post-office clerks were loading mail. Leonard brandished his two guns and threatened them if they tried to stop him, which they didn't, as he ran out of the building.

He ran to the front of the building and leaped into the car of Frank Voss, 28, waiting at a stop light. Ordering Voss to "step on it," they sped two blocks away but Leonard jumped out when Voss wouldn't drive thru a stop light.

Crashes Into Street Car.

Ordering Ben Tobin, 38, out of his car, Leonard jumped in and drove away. A policeman chased him but lost him in the traffic. The fugitive ran his stolen car into a street car and crashed into an automobile, but waved his guns and sped away.

In suburban Northville several hours later Patrolman Peter Bonnen recognized him from a teletype message and ordered him to the curb. At gun point Leonard disarmed the policeman, ordered him out of the police car and fled in it.

He was reported seen at various places while a practice blackout of metropolitan Detroit was in progress last night but trace of him appeared lost after the police car was found at noon today at Howell, 50 miles from here.

ASK LAW TO HOLD SEX OFFENDERS MENACING PUBLIC

Enactment of an Illinois statute to allow segregation of known sex maniacs in mental institutions after they have served prison terms was urged yesterday at a meeting of psychiatrists, social workers, and public officials in the Illinois Dental college, 808 South Wood street. The meeting was called by Dr. Milton Goldberg, executive secretary of the Illinois committee for the study and care of the sex offender.

He and other speakers urged that such a law in force in Minnesota be the pattern for an Illinois measure. At present in this state a sex maniac must be released at the close of his prison term unless definitely insane or feeble minded, even tho authorities fear he is almost certain to commit other offenses. The statute proposed would enable the state to send such a person to a mental institution if an examination disclosed he was a psychopath—a warped, abnormal personality.

Among those attending the meeting were William J. Colohan, assistant state attorney general; Dr. David Rotman, director of the Municipal court psychiatric institute; Dr. Harry Hoffman, state alienist; Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach, Rabbi Louis Mann, and Dr. Roy G. Barrick, state criminologist.

PRIEST DOWNS AN EX-CONVICT WITH HAND IN POOR BOX

When the Rev. John A. Fedor of St. Cyril Roman Catholic church, 4244 Walton street, saw a man walk up to the poor box yesterday, smash in the top, then plunge his hand in, the priest ran for the thief. The man turned, swung at the priest, the priest ducked and countered with a blow under the man's eye.

A group of parishioners heard the disturbance and also rushed to the man. They seized him and held him until Detectives John A. Carroll and Edward Capparelli arrived.

In the Austin police station the man said he was Zlignier J. Tomecznski, 32 years old, 5434 West 30th street. He said he was an ex-convict, released from Joliet prison three years ago, after serving almost six years for safecracking.

"Why did you turn from safecracking to poor box cracking?" he was asked as he displayed $1.30 he had taken from the box.

"I did it to spite a girl," he said. "She said she'd wait for me until I got out of prison, but when I came out she was married."

COURT ALLOWS WIDOW'S AWARDS IN TWO ESTATES

Mrs. Constance Lily Rothschild Morris and Mrs. Adah Wilson McCormick were allowed widow's awards by Judge John F. O'Connell in Probate court yesterday.

The court's action in behalf of Mrs. Morris was over the objections of other executors of the estate of Ira Nelson Morris, former minister to Sweden, who died Jan. 15. Among those opposing her were a daughter, Constance Irene Morris, and a son, Ira Victor Morris.

The amount of Mrs. Morris' award will be determined Monday after the court hears testimony as to her needs and the condition of the estate. She already receives the income from one-third of the estate and from a trust fund of $1,200,000 established for her in 1926.

Mrs. McCormick was awarded $75,000 yesterday. This is in addition to a trust fund based upon one-half of the $8,500,000 estate of Harold F. McCormick, a son of Cyrus McCormick, harvester manufacturer. The remainder of the estate is divided into three equal trusts for a son, Fowler McCormick, and two daughters, Mrs. Muriel Hubbard and Mrs. Mathilde Oser.

EX-CONVICT SLAIN AFTER KILLING 2 AND WOUNDING 2

3 Officers and Boy Shot in Cafe Gun Battle.

Nashville, Tenn., June 25 (AP).—An early morning gun battle between police and a civilian resulted in the death of two officers and the gunman and the serious wounding of a third officer and a youthful bystander.

The shooting occurred today at a downtown restaurant, within a short distance of the central police station.

The dead were C. C. Mundy, Nashville detective; Melvin H. Fleming, Davidson county deputy sheriff, and a man identified as Henry Hardcastle, about 43 years old. Policeman Robert Kimbro and Robert Adcock, 16, were wounded.

Followed Into Café.

Police Sergt. Martin H. Stephens, a participant in the gun battle, said the shooting started when Fleming sought to place Hardcastle under arrest on a charge of drunkenness.

Stephens quoted a waiter in the restaurant as saying that Hardcastle was followed into the lunchroom by Fleming, who approached him and said: "Come with me."

"Hardcastle said 'all right' and got up," E. R. Phelps, the waiter, told Stephens. "He took about three steps and pulled his pistol and fired about five shots at Fleming."

Fires Again from Door.

Phelps said Hardcastle turned at the door and fired three more shots toward the rear of the restaurant, one of them striking young Adcock.

Stephens said he and Patrolmen Mundy and Kimbro were cruising near the restaurant when they heard several shots.

Mundy and Kimbro jumped from the car and pursued Hardcastle, who turned and fired several shots at them, fatally wounding Mundy and shooting Kimbro in the hip.

Hardcastle, identified by Stephens as a former Kentucky convict, fell to the street as several bullets fired by the three officers struck him.

CHARGE BROTHER CUT FROM WILL FOR HIS DRINKING

White Plains, N. Y., June 25 [Special].—The reputation of another professional man came under attack in Westchester Surrogate's court today when proponents of the will of the late Mrs. Anna H. Paton undertook to prove that the New York dowager cut off her brother, the late Dr. Alijah H. Siter of Philadelphia, with only $25,000 from her $1,300,000 estate because she considered him a heavy drinker and wife deserter.

Dr. Siter's second wife and his two daughters by his first marriage are contesting the will on claims that the Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington of New York wooed Mrs. Paton for 10 years and influenced her to bequeath to him and the Episcopal Church of the Heavenly Rest of New York 40 per cent of her fortune.

Keats Speed, managing editor of the New York Sun, testified that during a 20 year friendship with Dr. Siter he had never heard of the physician being drunk or abusing his family. These were the charges on which his first wife obtained a divorce, later evidence showed.

EX-COMMUNIST OUSTED FROM JOB WITH ARMY

Solicited Radio Business from His Pupils.

Harold P. Spearin, 5342 Ellis avenue, a temporary civil service employé of the army signal corps, was discharged at 6th corps area headquarters yesterday after it was learned that he formerly had been a member of the Communist party and had solicited business for his private radio repair service from pupils he instructed at the Burr school, Ashland and Wabansia avenues.

Spearin, the army learned, attended many Communist meetings during the last three years, and was arrested once. He admitted to the principal of the Burr school, Cyrus T. Read, who is in charge of a signal corps civilian radio school with 500 pupils, that he formerly was a member of the party, but had dropped his membership.

Complaints Made by Pupil.

Complaints from a pupil led to the discovery that Spearin had passed out business cards to his students. One side of the cards advertised his radio service business while the other advocated membership in the "Equal Free Communications assembly," an organization which Spearin told Read would "further democracy."

After circulating the cards, Spearin told Read he passed around a paper for each student to sign stating that he had not solicited their business.

Read transmitted this information concerning Spearin's conduct to his superior, Dr. Dael Wolfley, at the signal corps' civilian headquarters, 209 West Jackson boulevard. Wolfley ordered Spearin transferred downtown and the matter was laid before the acting signal officer of the corps area, Lieut. Col. Samuel Todd.

Colonel Orders Inquiry.

Lieut. Col. Todd ordered an investigation by army intelligence which confirmed Spearin's attendance at Communist meetings, his arrest, and his attempt to obtain private business while on the army's pay roll.

After his discharge Spearin made the following comment:

"Hitler fascism is served and equality of freedom is injured by punishment where reward is due for agitation against oppression and aggression."

Police reported that Spearin had operated loud speaker units at communist gatherings and just a year ago today had had a portable platform attached to his car, as well as a loud speaker unit, at a party open air meeting at 90th street and Houston avenue. He also sold Communist literature, the police report said. Last July 10 he aided in taking the collection at a communist meeting.

Spearin had been working for the signal corps as an assistant radio laboratory technician for only two weeks. He was hired for an annual salary of $1,620.

FIRST FREE PARK CONCERT TO BE AIRED ON W-G-N

W-G-N will broadcast a portion of the first program of the fall Grant park concerts next Wednesday evening. This concert will be given by the Chicago Opera orchestra, with Henry Weber, W-G-N musical director, as the conductor. Marion Claire, soprano star of W-G-N's program, America Loves a Melody, will be the guest soloist. W-G-N will broadcast 30 minutes of the concert from 8:30 to 9 p. m. Portions of other concerts in the summer series will be broadcast from time to time. Pierre Andre is to be the commentator.

An eastern gasoline company will pay $100,000 to broadcast the Army-Navy football game next Nov. 28. The broadcast will go over Mutual, NBC, and CBS. The $100,000 will be divided between the Army and Navy Relief organizations.

Guy Savage, W-G-N announcer, is the author of five new songs, in collaboration with Lee Bennett, another W-G-N announcer, and Babe Fritsch, a Texas announcer with whom he worked in Houston prior to coming to W-G-N.

One of the tunes, "Wait at the Gate for Me, Katie," will be introduced by Band Leader Eddy Howard on a W-G-N broadcast from the Aragon ballroom next Wednesday evening.

AMERICAN BORN SON OF JAP GETS 3 YEARS AS DRAFT VIOLATOR

Robert A. Chino, 23 year old American born son of a Japanese father, was sentenced to three years in prison on a charge of failing to carry his draft card by Federal District Judge William H. Holly yesterday.

Chino, who has been a frequent spectator at draft evasion hearings during the last four months, was termed a "showoff" by Judge Holly and lectured severely on his opposition to war service.

Chino, who lives at 5644 Harper avenue, formerly was a leader in the War Registers' league, a south side pacifist organization. He entered a plea of nolo contendere to the draft evasion charge three weeks ago, and the case was continued for investigation by the probation department.

Denying the application for probation, Judge Holly pointed to Chino's former enlistment in the Illinois National Guard and said the youth had been a founder of the Abraham Lincoln brigade chapter in Chicago during the Spanish Civil war.

EX-LAWYER HELD TO GRAND JURY IN TAX FIXING CASE

Isaac K. Goodman, disbarred attorney, 640 North State street, was held to the grand jury in $1,000 bond yesterday on a charge of operating a confidence game and posing as a tax fixer by Judge John J. Griffin in Felony court.

Goodman was seized on the complaint of Mrs. Sybil Meyers, owner of a seat cover manufacturing firm at 2532 South Wabash avenue. After learning that the state's attorney's office was about to proceed against her for collection of $1,056 in personal taxes, Mrs. Meyers told Assistant State's Attorney Blair Varnes that she had paid $150 to Goodman to settle the claim.

Goodman said he accepted the money as a fee for his efforts to have the tax reduced.

NATION ORDERS FOREIGN AGENTS RE-REGISTERED

Have Until July 9 Under New Regulations.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—Attorney General Francis Biddle today announced a new and comprehensive registration of foreign agents operating in this country in wartime. All individuals, groups or corporations representing foreign interests whose actions are designed to affect public opinion or political affairs here or abroad must file complete statements with the department of justice, regardless of whether they have been registered before.

Effective Monday.

Undertaken as an added safeguard in the regulation of foreign activities in the United States in the emergency, the registration is required under new amendments to the foreign registration act which go into effect Monday.

All who are subject to the act must complete their registrations by July 9 unless they receive special extensions of time.

Not only admitted propagandists and political agents are covered, a study of the act discloses, but also many lawyers and business men thruout the United States who represent or have foreign concerns as clients.

Transferred to Biddle.

The new registration will mark the first time that the regulation of foreign agents has been in the hands of the justice department. Heretofore the state department administered the act and had approximately 300 names on file when the control was transferred to Biddle's office on May 29.

Those who had placed their names with the state department will be required to register again with the justice department and, as the scope of the act has been broadened, it is expected that the new list will show a substantial increase over the old.

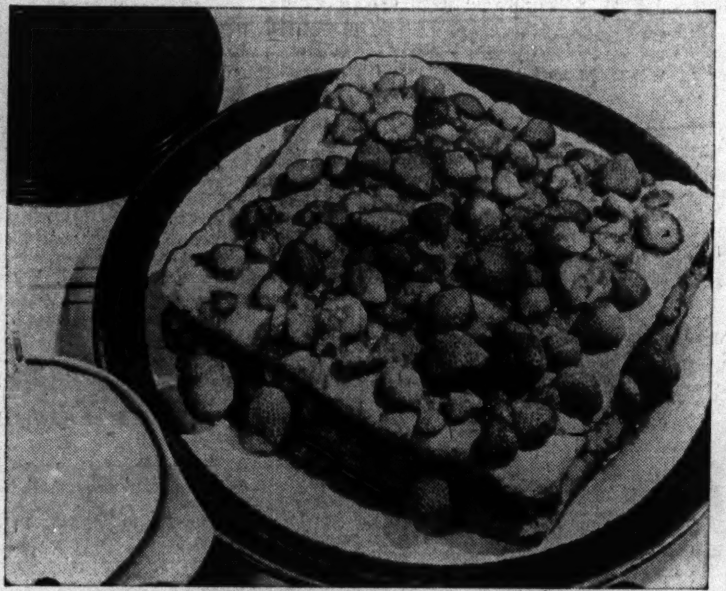
Now's Time for Strawberry Shortcake



Luscious red strawberries are seasonal things, so it would be a shame not to serve them shortcake style as often as possible while they're still available. To make the shortcake, sift together 3 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, and 1 tablespoon sugar. Cut in ⅔ cup lard or other shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Stir in ¾ cup milk (approximately), mixing just enough to make a smooth dough. Divide dough in half. Pat one-half into a 7 inch pan, spread with 2 tablespoons softened butter, and cover with other half, patted to fit on top. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) for 15 to 20 minutes. Split baked shortcake when cool, and spread crushed sweetened berries between layers and over top. Garnish with whole berries, and serve with a plain or whipped cream.

SYNOPSIS.

News of the death of Harold, earl of Festone, in an auto accident near Cuernavaca, Mexico, brings little sorrow to his acquaintances and supposed friends of the British-American colony there. Philip Rankin, English art dealer, is frankly glad; so is Sir James Lynn, British oil magnate, whose wife, Elaine, a former London showgirl, was in love with Lord Festone. Sophisticated Sharon Lathrop thinks he is better off dead; and Juliet Johnson, young dancer from New York and house guest of the Lynns, is shocked, but relieved, as Festone had been secretly making passes at her in spite of his professed love for Elaine. Dr. Alvarez, Mexican physician, joins the group and announces that Festone died of a bullet wound, not of accident injuries. Juliet wonders how Elaine, who is not present, will take the news. She recalls how unsuspectingly she had accepted Elaine's invitation to visit her and her new husband in Mexico, only to discover on her arrival that Elaine was using the visit to cloak an illicit romance with the worthless Lord Festone. Elaine had since confessed to Juliet that she wanted to divorce Sir James and marry Festone. Upon hearing of her lover's death, Elaine is frantic with grief. But in spite of her hysterical condition, Sir James insists she talk with Morelos, from police headquarters, who tells them Festone was murdered.

INSTALMENT V.
BURNED LETTERS.

The bedroom door opened slowly. A wraith appeared. Elaine's usual halo of fluffy hair was slicked tight to her well shaped head. Her normally pink complexion was ghostly except for the red-rimmed eyes, now almost closed from weeping. Her ordinarily lightsome step slowed to a drag. She swayed slightly.

"Lady Lynn?"

The quick question came from the rotund civilian who had introduced himself as "Morelos—in charge."

"Yes."

The slim, delicately featured girl walked and talked as tho she were in a trance. Morelos, smiling, turned abruptly to her scowling husband and nervous Juliet.

"You may stay if you like," he indicated the chairs in which they might sit. He motioned Elaine to another to which she moved mechanically. She was still wearing the pale pink tea gown she had donned just before Juliet broke the news of Harold's death.

"No. We'll go. Come Juliet."

Sir James seized her arm roughly as if to pull her from the room with him. She held back.

"Elaine oughtn't to talk to these men without a lawyer," she protested. She had read enough stories of crimes in her own New York City newspapers to know that.

Sir James tugged her onward.

"She can take care of herself." Was that sarcasm in his tone?

There was nothing for Juliet to do but to accompany her host to the patio. She felt sick with horror. Sir James suspected his wife! He wanted her to incriminate herself! He didn't want to protect her . . . . yet all these weeks, whenever he hadn't been away on business, he had appeared to love Elaine so dearly.

The great patio had been transformed into a formal garden, criss-crossed with multi-colored flagstone paths which led to various house doors opening on it.

They stood on the stones, all gray-purple in the sunset.

Sir James rested his hands heavily on her slight shoulders.

Juliet, did you have reason to kill that man?"

His hands hurt. His gray eyes glared.

"Why, Sir James—I—I—"

Then his large hands dropped quickly to his sides.

"Never mind. Don't answer unless you want to. I'm upset, I guess. Still got my hangover."

He turned, walked with surprising swiftness down one of the paths, and disappeared thru a doorway on the other side of the garden.

Timidly, Juliet glanced back at the living room door. The lights had been turned on. She wanted to go back, but fear of the mighty wrath she would arouse in Sir James held her. Why had he asked that amazing question? Did he suspect her? Did he want to hurl suspicion on her—if he had any—away from his wife?

There was a chill in the patio now. The night air cools quickly in that 5,000 foot altitude. Juliet hastened to her room.

There she sat in a little metal rocker at the foot of her low bed, half-listening to the green enameled radio and wondering thru what sort of hellish inquisition poor Elaine was being put. If the wary police suspected that she had killed Harold they would find out soon enough how desperately she loved him.

Several hours later Juliet heard the sound of steps on the stone walks. She jumped up and peered out of her door. The two policemen, deep in discussion, were moving slowly toward the brass-decorated wooden gate in the patio wall.

Impelled to talk to Elaine, she waited a few minutes more to see whether or not the police would return.

Darkness had fallen. Stars hung large and low in the black sky. Leaves, which could be heard but not seen, whispered their answers to a little breeze on which the odor of wisteria hung sweet. Lights gleamed from all the windows and doors bordering the patio.

It was beautiful, but Juliet had no time for beauty.

She ran to the doorway of the immense living room—and stopped so quickly she almost lost her balance.

Sir James, lost in deep thought, was standing beside the fireplace, a small package of folded white letters clutched in his huge hand. Apparently he had been reading them. Now he was ready to destroy them. He held a match to a letter—watched it crinkle and blacken before the flames, and when the fire was about to eat his hand, tossed the fragment into the fireplace and lit another. Juliet watched, fascinated.

He had almost finished his task when Maria—Juliet could see thru the window—emerged from Elaine's open door and spoke to him. He lighted the remaining few letters quickly, threw them into the fireplace, and hurried to his wife's room, without waiting to see them burn.

Juliet darted forward. What was Sir James burning? Something that might save some one from suspicion? Something that might point the finger of guilt?

The little fire was bright. The voices behind Elaine's closed door were loud and angry.

Juliet grabbed a magazine hastily from a disordered pile on the small end table, beat out the flames, reached for the charred papers and blew on her scorched fingers.

The voices in Elaine's room softened. The door handle clicked. Juliet turned her back to the door and, flushing with guilt, stuffed the burnt fragments into the pocket of her red cardigan as Sir James pounded into the room. She pretended to be reading the magazine she had in her shaking hand.

He moved toward the fireplace, before he saw Juliet, her sleek black bob framing her pert profile.

"Juliet! Thought you'd be in your room until dinner."

"No, I wanted to talk to Elaine, Sir James. Dinner? I couldn't eat a thing."

"No dinner? Better have some. Can't talk to Elaine tonight. She's going to bed. I'm going to call Dr. Alvarez."

While he talked he eyed the fireplace. There was no evidence there—for or against any suspicion he might have.

"Did she say anything about the police?" Juliet couldn't help asking. "I feel sort of queer about Harold's death."

"Didn't ask her. Don't blame you for having the creeps. Have them myself. Smoke?"

He reached for a great gold cigaret case, decorated with an inlay of Mexico's feathered serpent, which lay on the wide marble mantle beside his seldom-used monocle and two short nosed revolvers which Juliet had never noticed before. There was nothing odd about that, for this living room—a hodge-podge of Mexican, American, and British decoration—was as full of ancient and modern curiosities as a museum. She saw something new every time she entered it.

Sir James offered the case, opened, to her.

"Smoke?" he asked again. "Sit down. Have one. Talk."

She could tell, instinctively, that he wanted to talk now. It was the last thing in the world she wished to do. She felt that he was eyeing her dress suspiciously. Heavens! Were the letters bulging out of her pocket?

"No. No, thank you," she contrived a smile as she refused the cigaret, the conversation and the chair. "I'd like to go back to my room—if you think I should not talk to Elaine."

"I don't. Very well. Dinner's at 9. Don't like eating alone."

She could appreciate that. She didn't, either. Because she was used to being with a large merry family Juliet hated to be alone—abhorred silence—always had the radio going full blast to wipe out solitude.

"I'll join you at 9. Maybe if Dr. Alvarez is here—"

"I'll ask him."

She was sure his weary eyes followed her as she left him. She ran to her room and tried hurriedly to lock the door, forgetting that in Mexico the open door is common. There was no lock. Hastily she jammed a chair against it to make certain no one would enter, suddenly and uninvited.

TASTY BISCUITS GARNER FRIENDS; HERE'S THE TRICK

With Variations on Toothsome Theme.

Tender, flaky, piping hot biscuits are an inspiration to any cook, and an appetizing addition to any meal. Once the cook has acquired the art of making these tempting morsels [and it's an easy one to acquire with a bit of practice] there are any number of tasty variations to try.

There is little guesswork involved in making biscuits when a standard, accurate recipe is used, but the individual must determine the right amount of liquid to use, since various types of flour will absorb more moisture than others. As a rule two cups of hard wheat flour require about ¾ cup milk and two cups of soft wheat flour require about ⅔ cup milk.

Flakiness and tenderness depend upon keeping the shortening in small, hard pieces. Cut the cold shortening into the flour mixture with a fork, two knives, or a pastry blender, until the mixture looks like coarse meal. Or if you believe in the "touch" system, crumble the shortening into the flour with the tips of the fingers.

Be gentle when you're kneading the dough, and be sparse with the flour on the board. Keep the dough right side up after kneading starts, if the finished biscuits are to be smooth topped.

Shaping the biscuits isn't the least important factor in their preparation, for lop-sided ones aren't too attractive. A straight-up-and-down cutting motion with the biscuit cutter will prevent tipsy biscuits. If you like them crusty, roll the dough thin and leave space between the biscuits on the baking sheet. To make soft biscuits, place them close together for the baking.

Baking Powder Biscuits.
[1 dozen medium.]
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
4 tablespoons solid fat
⅔ to ¾ cup milk

Sift the flour, salt, and baking powder together twice. Use butter, margarine, lard or vegetable shortening for the fat. Add it to the flour in small pieces. Cut the shortening into the flour mixture, using a pastry blender, two knives, a fork, or the fingertips, until all of the small pieces of fat are coated with flour and the mixture is in coarse lumps. Add ⅔ cup milk and stir quickly to blend. If the dough is soft and follows the spoon around the bowl, no more milk is needed. If the dough still looks dry, add a little more milk and stir quickly until flour is moistened. Turn dough out onto a lightly floured board and knead gently for 30 seconds. Fold it over and turn it around on the board several times to knead. Pat out gently to about half an inch in thickness. Cut out the biscuits with a lightly floured cutter and arrange them on an ungreased baking sheet, touching each other unless you want them crusty. Bake in a 425 degree, preheated oven, for 12 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned.

BISCUIT VARIATIONS.

Butter Biscuits: Pat out biscuit dough, after kneading, to ½ inch thickness, spread with 1 tablespoon softened butter. Fold over, spread with another tablespoon of butter, fold again, and roll out ½ inch thick. Cut with biscuit cutter and bake.

Honey Butter Roll-Ups: Divide dough into two equal portions after kneading and roll each portion out into circular shape about ¼ inch thick. Brush with 1 tablespoon melted butter and 2 tablespoons honey. Sprinkle with ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Cut into pie shaped pieces. Roll up, beginning at the wide end. Bake as usual.

Honey-Nut Biscuits: Pat or roll out dough into an 8 inch square about ¼ inch thick. Cut into strips about ¼ inch wide. Coil each strip around to form "snails" sealing edges well. Place on baking sheet. Brush each with honey [using about 3 tablespoons honey for all] and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons chopped nuts. Bake as usual.

Orange Twisters: Pat or roll out dough into 8 inch squares about ¼ inch thick. Sprinkle with mixture of 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, rolling it in with a rolling pin. Cut into strips about ½ inch wide. Double each strip over and twist. Place on baking sheet and bake.

Cheese Biscuits: Add 1 cup grated nippy cheese to the flour mixture.

Savory Biscuits: Roll dough ¼ inch thick, cut with biscuit cutter, and spread ½ of rounds with concentrated beef and vegetable extract; cover with remaining rounds, press edges together lightly. Bake as directed and serve with consomme, main course or green salad.

Parsley Biscuits: Combine ingredients and add 2 tablespoons minced parsley last. Cut and bake as usual.

Honey Raisin Biscuits: Roll dough out into rectangular sheet ¼ inch thick. Spread with melted butter and sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sugar and ½ cup seedless raisins which have been rinsed in hot water, drained, and dried. Roll up dough in cinnamon roll fashion. Cut ¾ inch slices and place close together in greased pan. Spread honey topping, made by combining ¼ cup butter, ⅔ cup confectioners' sugar, 1 egg white, and 3 tablespoons honey, over the rolls, and bake.

Drop Biscuits: Add ¼ cup milk to recipe and drop dough from teaspoon onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake as directed.

Buttermilk Biscuits: Reduce baking powder in recipe to 1 teaspoon, add ½ teaspoon soda, and substitute thick, sour milk or buttermilk for sweet milk.

Honey as Substitute.

When substituting honey for sugar in cakes, the texture will be better if only half the sugar in the recipe is replaced by honey. The liquid must be reduced ¼ cup for each cup of honey used.

HOW WOULD A JAPANESE NAVAL OFFICER KNOW MY NAME?
I SAID "MRS. ANTHONY SANDHURST" SOUNDS FAMILIAR... YES, HERE IT IS... WHEN WE GO ON SHORE PATROL WE ARE GIVEN THE NAMES OF INDIVIDUALS WHO WILL COOPERATE WITH US... ANTHONY SANDHURST IS LISTED! IS HE YOUR HUSBAND?..
YES!
THIS CHANGES THE SITUATION, OF COURSE... WE ARE ANXIOUS TO COOPERATE WITH OUR FRIENDS... BUT WHY DID YOU FIGHT MY MEN?
YOU WILL NOTICE MY HUSBAND'S NAME ON YOUR LIST—BUT NOT MINE... I MIGHT HIDE BEHIND HIS TREASON—BUT I SHALL NOT... I MAY NOT BE STRONG ENOUGH TO FIGHT YOU... BUT I AM NOT GOING TO SELL OUT TO SAVE MYSELF
A VERY HEROIC SPEECH... HOWEVER, WE HAVE REASON TO BELIEVE YOU LEARNED ABOUT CHINESE GUERILLA ACTIVITIES ALONG THE COAST... YOU WILL BE GIVEN A CHANCE TO TELL US WHAT YOU KNOW—IF THIS REQUIRES TORTURE—AND YOU STILL WON'T SPEAK—THEN YOUR CHILD'S SCREAMS MAY CAUSE YOU TO CHANGE YOUR MIND!

A Cooling Frozen Orange Salad

When "old Sol" is on the melting side, cool off with a frozen orange salad. Its refreshing flavor is part of its hot weather appeal. Combine 2 packages (3 ounces) of soft cream cheese with ⅓ cup mayonnaise and 2 tablespoons lemon juice, blending until smooth. Cut 1 cup orange section, ½ cup stoned fresh cherries, and ½ cup toasted nutmeats in small pieces and add to cheese mixture along with 2 teaspoons minced candied ginger. Fold in 1 cup of whipped cream and turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator. Freeze until firm without stirring and serve on crisp salad greens. This will serve 8.

CHOCOLATE CAKE WILL BE DELIGHT TO SWEET TOOTH

Suffering from an unsatisfied sweet tooth these days? Then try this rich, moist chocolate cake covered with a creamy chocolate frosting. The cake isn't an unpatriotic one, either, for honey is used for part of the sweetening.

Chocolate Cake.
[Two 8 inch layers.]
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
⅓ cup honey
⅔ cup lukewarm water
½ cup shortening
⅔ cup sugar
2 eggs
1¾ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda

Blend chocolate with honey; add water, mix well and cool. Cream shortening; add sugar slowly, beating it in well. Add unbeaten eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with chocolate mixture. Mix thoroly. Bake in greased 8 inch layer pans at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes. When cooled, spread with chocolate frosting.

CHOCOLATE CREAM FROSTING: Beat 1 egg white until stiff. Slowly add ¼ cup light corn sirup, beating constantly. Add 1 square melted unsweetened chocolate and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Beat until well blended.

TOMATO JUICE, SUMMER STYLE: USE IN SHERBET

There's something new in party tricks when an icy cold sherbet starts the meal. This one contains that familiar appetizer, tomato juice, but the resulting dish is decidedly different.

Tomato Sherbet.
[Serves six.]
1 teaspoon plain, unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
2 cups tomato juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
¼ teaspoon grated onion
Few drops tabasco sauce
Watercress

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat ½ cup tomato juice and dissolve gelatin in it. Combine with remaining tomato juice, lemon juice, salt, pepper, onion, and tabasco sauce. Freeze in refrigerator tray, stirring twice, for about 2½ hours. Top with sprigs of watercress when ready to serve, and serve with crisp crackers. Tiny shrimp may be added just before serving for variation.

Pinch of Celery Salt Puts Zest in Scrambled Eggs

Beating up a batch of scrambled eggs? Then give them a little extra zip by adding a pinch of celery salt to the whipped mixture. A dash of Worcestershire sauce or a sprinkling of minced chives are other good scrambled egg flavorers.

GROW OWN FOOD TO HELP IN WAR, GARDENERS TOLD

More than 200 delegates to the 10th annual convention of the Men's Garden Clubs of America yesterday heard Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee declare that production of food at home will be one of the most important factors in deciding the war.

Speaking at the Moraine hotel in Highland Park, Gov. Cooper stated that "food has meant victory or defeat in many battles before now, and will do so in this conflict."

"The capitulation at Bataan was partly because of lack of food," he said, "and if every citizen does his utmost to provide his own supplies it will help to prevent any shortage in a future battle."

He urged that every one adopt a "live at home program" whereby, thru war gardens, each household produces as much of its food as possible. The public must forget peacetime fear of food surpluses, he added, and store up a tremendous supply of food.

The Men's Garden Clubs of America grew out of a garden contest sponsored by The Chicago Tribune in 1927. Thru contacts made during the contest the idea of a men's garden club was conceived. Other clubs sprang up, and in 1932 the present organization was formed. It now has affiliated clubs in 20 states. The convention will continue thru Sunday, with round table discussions and visits to estates and gardens on the north shore.

PRICE CHECKING WILL START ON 'HI, PAL' BASIS

Government investigators who will start visiting Chicago retail stores next Wednesday to check on compliance with the price law will say it with a smile. They will inaugurate a new kind of government law enforcement—the friendly "Hi, neighbor" approach.

John C. Weigel, Office of Price administration regional director, disclosed yesterday that the 50 price checkers [some will be women] who will conduct what he termed an "educational campaign" to acquaint merchants with requirements of price ceiling law which became effective May 18 have been trained to open, direct and friendly.

Weigel said the price checkers will cover about 10,000 to 12,000 of Chicago's 47,000 retail stores in 10 days to two weeks. They will distribute explanatory booklets telling the merchants how to post the price ceilings.

Alex Elson, OPA regional attorney, said violators would not be overlooked. A recheck later will start the enforcement drive in earnest. The OPA merely is giving the merchants an opportunity to learn the law's requirements, he said.

Ravinia Fashion Shows Capture Musical Moods in Airy Gowns

BY REA SEEGER.

Each summer the promotionists valiantly recommend becoming and some decidedly picturesque fashions for the Ravinia concert season. Completely sold on the idea that it helps your enjoyment of fine music to wear costumes particularly selected for the mood and the occasion, Ravinia fashion shows held a week before the opening night are far more than just the usual summer fashion parade.

There are suits and dresses of cotton for those who dwell in the country, airy floating gowns of swiss organdy or lace. There are sleek distinguished suits of silk, and thin summer wool for the jacket, in pastel colors for the music lovers who go out from town. There are stunning daytime dresses, for afternoon concerts. This year, the younger people were remembered with the slickest of dirndls and simply designed daytime dresses.

One of the most subtle of gray outfits is a three piece ensemble for afternoon concerts, a smoke gray two piece suit of cotton gabardine, teamed with a topcoat of the same lovely smoke gray color and the same smooth tailored material. And there's a clever gray crêpe daytime dress that buttons down one side of the gathered skirt and high along the right shoulder seam of the simply cut bodice. This is the ideal dress to spike with unusual color, like an orange linen hat and bag or a pair of slipon gloves of cerise to match sandals of the same brilliant tint.

One dull black cotton suit is a winner for a trip out from town, especially when its accented with a frothy white blouse and snowy white hat and gloves. Another black beauty is the evening gown worn with turquoise blue gloves and sash belt.

Picture book evening gowns feature white organdy, white sharkskin, and white crêpe, with yards of material in the swirling skirts to contrast the scant bodices. Black lace dramatizes many a sheer gown of either flesh color, pale blue, or white. Dotted swisses, candy striped taffeta with sheers, flowered prints with sultry color clashes, and the always flattering black sheers complete the show . . ., assuring all kinds of inspiration for the shoppers with money to spend for new summer concert fashions.

Housecoat is just another word for house comfort. Just picture yourself, home at last after a wearing day at the office, shopping down town, or sewing at the Red Cross—a chance to take off constricting garments, a relaxing 15 minutes in the tub, and then the delicious ease of a housecoat.

The first is a wraparound with generous overlap, and a tie at the waistline to fasten. No buttons, or zippers, or hooks and eyes. The cotton seersucker is printed in a carnation design in the following color combinations . . . black and yellow, orange and blue, red and blue, on a white background. Under $4.

Red and blue flowers on a white ground is the only color scheme available for the second model. It is made of a cotton poplin. The small square neckline, and the puffed sleeves make this a very youthful style. A zipper down the front assures a smooth fit and secure closing.

If you like bowknot designs, here is another one to add to your collection. There are those of us who can't resist a bowknot. Pique is the material. Red, or blue with white is the color combination. The panel down the front, the collar, and cuffs are of a reverse print. This housecoat is also of the wraparound variety, held in place with a tie sash.

Urge Teaching Primary Pupils Fewer Words

Modern eductaors are striving to hold down the growth of students' vocabularies in favor of a better mastery of a smaller number of words, Miss L. Katherine Clarke, supervisor of elementary eductaion in Clayton, Mo., reported yesterday afternoon at the fifth annual conference on reading at the University of Chicago.

She said that the total number of words used in primary grade readers has steadily decreased in recent years, and that repetition of newly presented words, rather than the introduction of many new words, is to be found in all levels of readers.

Dr. Willard E. Goslin, superintendent of schools at Webster Grove, Mo., also asserted that the vocabularies of children should not be permitted to expand too freely.

"A low vocabulary burden is desirable in beginning reading," he said, "Children in upper grades acquire a vocabulary much faster than those in lower grades."

Dr. Goslin declared that children in the lower elementary grades have great confidence in their teachers. Such trust, he said, should be utilized by the formation of teachers' committees to select books to be read by students. Such selection, stated Dr. Goslin, should not be a haphazard job, but should be accomplished carefully after research.

Hugh McCommon, chairman of the reading council at Stephens college, told the conference that students learn to read better in subject matter courses [history or economics] than they do in classes labeled for reading. He recommended putting college reading under the direction of a psychological consultant who could coördinate reading activities in various fields.

Miss Grace M. Boyd, supervisor of primary grades at Cicero, said that today's teachers recognize that home and environmental influences affect each child's background and learning interests. "Informal conferences with the parents at the time of the child's entrance into school give the teacher a fair picture of the child's life preceding enrollment."

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., June 25.—Those who saw the sneak preview of "Pride of the Yankees" were amazed at the hand Babe Ruth got. The applause was so long you couldn't hear what he said. It's true that after all these years Hollywood still doesn't know what the public wants. Baseball is our national sport, and those stars were public pets long before we built our picture stars to pinnacles of fame. Who, of my vintage, doesn't remember Christy Mathewson? . . . In this picture both Gary Cooper and Teresa Wright get belly laughs.

Something New Under the Sun.

When Cary Grant stepped out of his dressing room the other day and took one look at a live elephant painted pink, being used in the "Mexican Spitfire" picture he stepped right back into his room and took five more minutes to compose himself. Said Cary, "I've seen pink elephants before, but never in the bright sunlight." . . . There never was such a lack of stars with color and showmanship, like Mabel Normand, Clara Bow, Jean Harlow, and Paulette Goddard, who've all had the qualities that built up our little village. But we've got one coming up who's making hay. Her name is Maria Montez. Walter Wanger's giving her a big buildup in "Arabian Nights." . . . Tete-a-tete-ing: Zorina and Erich Remarque, at Beverly Wilshire.

Maria Montez.

In There Punching.

Fighter Lou Nova is in town, being tested for an acting job. I asked whether he'd had any experience, and he said, "Sure. I did some good parts down in Florida. And it may interest you to know that I didn't miss a line—and even ad libbed a few." . . . They're lining up quite a cast for "One Man Army"—the life of Floyd Gibbons, with Bob Preston, Joan Bennett, Jimmy Gleason, George Tobias, and Lee Tracy. . . . Producer-Directors Sam Wood and Billy Menzies certainly gave their faces to their art. They all but blinded themselves in the snow up Sonora way, where it was plenty hot, with snow eight feet deep! After riding two hours they had to walk an hour and a half to direct the bombing of the hilltop, and their faces are one big burn.

The Director's Dilemma.

Will Price, Maureen O'Hara's husband, ever since before their marriage has been wanting to direct, and now, by golly, 20th Century's going to let him do her next picture. I'm wondering what he'll do about the love scenes, because in her other pictures, the minute some other man would start making love to her, Will walked off the set. He'll just have to grin and bear it. . . . While Mike Curtiz was directing Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman for "Casablanca" the comedian, S. Z. Sakall, was half hidden in the background. "Step out, step out!" yelled Mike, "You're too expensive an actor to only have half of you in the scene." . . . Nick Stuart wanted to remarry ex-wife Ruth Skinner. She said no, but she did need a job, so she's touring with his band back east. . . . MacDonald Carey, who had a nice fat part in "Wake Island," and a new contract with a sensational raise in pay, ditched pictures and has signed a contract with the United States marines.

Now You Tell One.

When I stopped to buy gasoline at my favorite station I learned that a truck loaded down with a couple of tons of scrap rubber from the oil fields couldn't be unloaded because driver wouldn't go thru the picket line. Two men have picketed there for a year. So the owner of the place said to one of the pickets, "Why don't you be a good egg — go powder your nose, and take your pal with you, so we can unload this rubber for the United States government?" He did; they did. So help me, this is true.

Back to the Soil.

The Louis Lightons week-ended in town. He's one of our best known producers—did "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," "Wings," "Test Pilot," and many others. The Lightons have retired to a ranch of 80,000 acres in Arizona. They're entirely self-sustaining except for sugar and flour. And I'm told that half a hundred easterners have real estate agents looking all over our western states for ranches, and there are none to be found. Louis tells me Spencer Tracy has 10 of their acres. He's already built a shack on it. Their place isn't far from Bill Leeds' [son of the tin plate king]. Bill broke his collar bone and is now back east. . . . Roddy McDowell has to learn to ride a horse by July 5 when he leaves for location in Utah with the company for "My Friend Flicka." He isn't exactly afraid of them, but he just hasn't gotten the hang of a horse yet.

Good Morning!

Well, at last I've enjoyed Joan Davis! Such a relief! Knocking DOES get to be such a bore.

The piece is a really funny farce comedy that everybody in the theater—especially sailors—just loved the day I was there.

It has a USO background. . . . Action stems out from the bright idea conceived by Phoebe Weyms, secretary to an advertising counselor. . . . Note: Secretary is in love with Boss and eager to win his approbation. . . . Boss doesn't know it.

The B. I. is this: Unmask two mystery girl singers who have been appearing on a "Blind Date" radio program at a mammoth recruiting rally. . . . Because the boss never DOES pay any attention to Phoebe she contacts the recruiting division without his knowledge. . . . AND meets with enthusiastic response. BUT—

When Phoebe tells Boss what Phoebe has done Boss comes right near losing his mind. . . . HE'S seen the girls, you see, and knows that, aside from their voices, they're complete washouts. . . . It would NEVER do to present them in person. . . .

Phoebe comes across with another verdant thought. . . . Two beauties who pose for the agency shall front for the singers, making motions like singing, while the real vocalists carry on from behind the scenes thru a hidden mike. . . .

For reasons—male!—which the picture shall carry on about, the ladies at last agree to help poor Phoebe out of her predicament—and the fun starts in earnest. . . .

Jinx Falkenburg carves a permanent niche for herself on the screen by her performance as Jerry Gilbert. . . . The gorgeous model acts with all the ease of a veteran, and she IS very lovely to look at. . . . Joan Woodbury is clever and snappy as her girl friend.

See you tomorrow.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES By KATE MASSEE

Cupid's Agent.

Awhile back the Chicago public library received a letter from a young army man stationed in the south, in which he made a plea for books to be put in the day room of his battery. Around 200 volumes were dispatched, and the young man wrote a letter of appreciation for them, a letter so well written that parts of it were used on a radio program in a request for more books for soldiers. Just the other day came another letter from the young man, in which he explained that he was not asking for more books, but thanking the library for finding his girl. He wrote: "I heard my letter read over the radio and naturally I didn't mind. In fact it was a great help, because a young woman I'd lost track of heard of my address and she has written to me. I was pleased beyond words."

Distinction.

I rather like materiel
For war supplies and such.
It has finesse and sounds so
"swell";
Is much less gross
Than material.
Noah, too, in his dictionary
Draws the fine distinction
For the diction wary.

Sailors' Delight.

James R. Offield and Commander E. F. McDonald Jr., who in peacetime days navigated their palatial yachts around the Great Lakes and out to sea, are having the time of their lives this summer with smaller boats, the larger ones having been turned over to the navy. On Sunday afternoons Mr. Offield, sailing his schooner, Cormorant, and Commander McDonald acting as skipper of his speedy motor boat, Mizpah, turn their crafts into water taxis for the sailors at Navy pier. The Mizpah recently had on board four landlubbers from inland states, not one of whom had ever been on the water before. Mr. Offield has set up one qualification for his passengers—he'll only take aboard sailors accompanied by their girls.

Logic.

Judge John Gutknecht tells of a letter received by a draft board from a young man asking deferment because he'd been told by his father, mother, and employer that they could get along without him and he thought if they could so could Uncle Sam.

Culinary Solution.

A friend just back from a vacation in California tells of the difficulties housewives are having in readjusting meal schedules for their husbands who are on night duty with the interceptor command or as air raid wardens. She asked her hostess how she decided what to feed her better half, whose usual hours were reversed because of his nocturnal war duties. "O," replied her friend laconically, "if it's daylight I give him eggs. If it's dark he gets meat."

Misguided Kindness.

It is our sad duty to report that the little fawn whose progress we noted a few days ago is no more. The chief attraction in the Wisconsin outdoor exhibit in the Union station, she received much attention—too much in fact. An autopsy following her death showed she was the victim of indigestion, caused by well meaning but thoughtless visitors who, in spite of warnings, fed the little creature candy, nuts, and even cellophane.

Ex-Chicagoan's Ambulance Unit in Desert Battle

BY JUDITH CASS.

WOMAN'S lot in a war torn world sometimes is not as dramatic or as active as she could wish. A completely satisfying part to those eager for action might be considered that of the former Mary Borden of Chicago, now the wife of Maj. Gen. Sir Edward Louis Spears, British minister to Syria. According to delayed reports from Beirut, Lebanon, Lady Spears is somewhere in the Egyptian-Libyan desert with an ambulance unit which she directs.

The last time Chicagoans read about John Borden's sister was when her ambulance unit fled from France by way of Bordeaux, barely escaping the pursuing Germans when France was occupied. Now this capable woman, aunt of Mrs. Robert Pirie of New York and of Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson of Washington, D. C., is escaping again. She and her eight English nurses, eight English girl drivers, and 30 Free French surgeons were in Tobruk shortly before the Germans captured that fortress. Lady Spears was decorated with the French croix de guerre and membership in the Legion of Honor for her ambulance work during the first World war.

Lady Spears' active and adventurous—not to say dangerous—life is the source of envy and admiration to all of her relatives and friends. "I don't see how she stands it," said one of them yesterday, "she is over 50. The heat in that desert must be unbearable."

Mrs. Stevenson and Sons to Spend Summer at Farm.

Bringing up a healthy family in wartime is of prime importance, and sometimes difficult, too, with the man of the house away in the service. So the young mothers who stay home and attend to the children should not begrudge other women what seems to be more exciting work. Mrs. Stevenson and her three young boys have arrived from Washington and will spend the summer at their Libertyville farm. Mr. Stevenson will join them on whatever week-ends his war work permits.

Mrs. Morrison Waud and her three children are looking forward to July 4, which will be moving day for them. They will depart on the holiday to join Lieut. Waud of the army air corps in Dayton, O. Lieut. Waud's brother, Capt. Sidney P. Waud of the army medical corps, also has three children. They and their mother are with her family in Rumson, N. J., while Capt. Waud is in India.

Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman Jr., who also is the mother of three, has taken her young family to Leland, Mich., to be with her mother, Mrs. Frederick L. McNally, for the summer. Mr. Freeman is in the army.

Galloping Hills Horse Show Is Arousing Wide Interest.

So many horses are arriving at the Louis F. Swift farm in Wheaton, and so many people are expected from near and far for the Galloping Hills Horse show on Sunday that Mrs. Swift has decided the show must go on that day, rain or shine. She had planned earlier to postpone it in case of rain. Interest in the show certainly is far reaching, for Frank E. Bechmann, M. F. H. of the Battle Creek hunt in Battle Creek, Mich., writes to say that Mrs. Swift's arrangements for a hunt to be staged by the Longmeadow hounds is not the first time such a feat has been attempted. The Battle Creek hunt successfully gave an exhibition drag hunt with the hunt staff, members of the hunt, and exhibitors following the pack of hounds thru to the "kill" in full view of the spectators at last year's Battle Creek Saddle and Hunt Club Horse show.

A fox's mask and brush have been promised the winners in the exhibition on Sunday, but Mrs. Swift may have to give live fox puppies to the victors instead, for she is having a difficult time finding a mounted mask and brush. Mrs. Swift also has sent out a call for the organ grinder and monkey who are an indispensable

Ready for Visit to Doll House

Suzanne Kuiper and other little girls—as well as their parents—will be fascinated by a visit to Colleen Moore's famed doll house which is going on view tomorrow at Lord's department store in Evanston. The junior auxiliary of the Evanston Cradle society, of which Suzanne's mother, Mrs. Arthur Kuiper, is a member, is sponsoring a preview of the doll house tonight. There will be a number of dinner parties before the opening tonight, among them one given by Mrs. William G. Walrath and another by Mrs. Homer P. Hargrave (Colleen Moore).

Thru the Looking Glass

It's the active hands that get all the expert attention these days.

Our very favorite people — the women who're doing defense work instead of talking about it—tell us over and over that they have but one regret at the course they've taken, and that's for their hands. The ground-in dirt dims their spirits as well as their skin tone and too abrasive cleansers don't help much.

We've been doing some research specially for them. We find that the kind of deep, extraefficient cleansers they need don't have to be unbearably harsh.

There is, for example, one soap that has made a great hit with the workers. It feels rough and abrasive to the touch, which might throw you off it as a choice of kindly hand cleanser. But the lather it works up is as creamy as that of any fine face soap; it's a white lather, emanating magically enough from a cake of gray soap, that floats off the deepest dirt PLUS stains.

Even paint and tar and dye, to say nothing of vegetable, fruit, or nicotine stains can be removed with this, effectually but gently. The imbedded dirt and stains aren't literally scoured off; they just seem to melt away, and the skin is, if anything, a little smoother than it was before the deep cleanser was used!

This is great stuff, this soap that is rough in cake form but mild as milk when it lathers. It's an enemy of ground-in dirt but NOT a foe of hand beauty. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Joy Rings Out as Kids Arrive at Algonquin

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Then it's hi hi hee,
Camp Algonquin for me,
Shout out its praises loud and strong.
Where'er you go
You will always know
That Camp Algonquin goes rolling along.

Not only Camp Algonquin but the woodlands bending on the edge of the Fox river went rolling along with the echo of this song yesterday. The words rang out clear and strong as three truckloads of 102 women and children, singing at the top of their lungs, trundled into the camp, the first group of this year.

It was a fittingly enthusiastic opening for the 33d annual season of the United Charities camp, which has provided vacations under the country sky to hundreds of needy women and children from the teeming tenements each summer. It also was one of the highlights of the year for the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., which supports the camp thru the generosity of readers of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

As the trucks came to a stop the youngsters hardly waited for the crew of willing counselors to help them alight. Scores of boys tumbled out over the top of the trucks, and jumped to the ground with wild shouts of "O, boy, ain't this somethin' !" "Yippee," "Let's go swimming," and "The last one in is a dog face."

Pale, harassed looking women—many with infants in their arms—stared about them at the lush green lawns and trim, bright cottages with something close to wonder in their faces.

Timid groups of little girls clung together until, as if by magic, their shyness disappeared when Mrs. Astrid Save, the kindly director of the camp for 19 years, bade them "run along and have some fun."

One pig tailed little girl jumped headlong into a bank of white daisies. She pulled at the flowers with chubby hands and sniffed deeply until the tip of her tiny nose was yellow from the centers of the blossoms. An urchin had to be coaxed from a tree where he had discovered with city bred amazement a robin's nest alive with chirping baby birds.

Relieved of the care of their babies and children for the first time in most of their work-weary lives, the mothers gathered on the easy chairs on the cottage porches and chatted with the ease of women at a country club.

"This is the first vacation I have had in six years," one woman confided to the group. "The first year I was married I had my little boy, and then my girl came along. After that we never had enough money to take a vacation. For the next two weeks I am just going to sit and fold my hands like I've dreamt about for years."

It was a refreshing scene which will be repeated today when another contingent of 120 mothers and children will join the group for two weeks of sun and sky and comfort. During the summer more than 1,600 other tenement families will be given the same opportunity.

A description of the 50 acre camp and the exciting arrival of its first vacationers yesterday will be broadcast by transcription at 11:15 a. m. today over W-G-N. Listeners will be urged to contribute to the Chicago Tribune's Camp Algonquin fund thru the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., so that "Camp Algonquin will go rolling along."

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Pioneer Hotel Girl.

"It took a war," says Audrey Lindgren, Chicago's first woman hotel room clerk, "to open this type of work to women." Now the hotel has put another girl on the desk.

Ordinarily Miss Lindgren works from 3 in the afternoon to 11 in the evening. No uniform identifies her. On this day she was dressed in blue and white seersucker, an attractive complement to her smooth blonde hair and fair skin.

What is her background for this work? She had been in the show business and in publicity before she undertook to find the right room for Mr. and Mrs. Smith during their Chicago sojourn.

She has learned quite a bit about Mr. and Mrs. Smith: First, that they are far more communicative in the afternoon or the evening [when they come to register] than the early morning. Mr. Smith grumpily signs the register at 7 a. m. At 7 p. m. he is all smiles.

Mr. Smith likes a shower. Mrs. Smith does not [she always forgets her shower cap]. Mr. Smith is not fussy. Mrs. Smith is fairly likely to ask to have the room changed. Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith are prone to forget the room number . . . but they remember the room clerk on a return visit and greet her warmly.

Be Safe—Don't!

Don'ts for the duration:

Don't flaunt your success with the army . . . the navy . . . or the marines. [Nobody in the office believes it but you.]

Don't say: "Did I meet the cutest ensign last night and did he go overboard for me!" [Watch the girl yawn at the next desk.]

Don't ask disconcerting questions. [Why make good office manners a war casualty?]

Don't remark of the chilly member of the office force: "For goodness sake, whom could SHE have in the war!" [You might be surprised.]

Don't chatter about defense orders, locations of defense plants, government specifications or confidential information. [Don't be a saboteur.]

Don't scare your co-workers. [Cheer 'em . . . don't skeer 'em.]

Perfect Boss Entry.

An entry for the while collar contest for the perfect boss [signed "Anonymous"]:

"My boss is the very best in Chicago. When he dictates there is absolutely no doubt as to what he says or means. His articulation is 100 per cent; he is most reasonable and fair about everything; never irritable [and he has plenty of worries, too].

"When I first started to work for him I wanted to dress him up like his brother, who is a banker, but soon decided he was okay as he was—he is not much for fancy clothes.

"To climax my little ditty—he is a multimillionaire and could AFFORD to be surly, grouchy, etc., but NEVER is!"

B'nai B'rith Delegates from Eight States to Convene Here July 5

Eight hundred fifty delegates representing 45,000 members of the B'nai B'rith, Jewish fraternal order, of eight midwest states will hold their 74th annual convention July 5 to 8 at the Stevens hotel.

The main business of the convention will be an appraisal of work done to aid the war effort and plans for increasing the B'nai B'rith war service. Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Gov. Dwight Green have been invited to make addresses.

The convention will be a dual meeting of district grand lodge No. 6 and the 10th annual conclave of the women's grand lodge No. 6.

If you want to give a lamp for a gift and are in doubt about the color scheme of the room in which it is to be used, we suggest you select one of the handsome types with a crystal base. A lamp of this sort can be used in any decorative plan, and is always in good taste. Choose one of the stunning Swedish styles with base of heavy crystal in a vase shape, or perhaps you'll prefer a glistening crystal column. Shades are of silk in white and eggshell.

Weather Man's Daughter Seeks Fair Bridal Day

It's only fair that the weather man should provide a beautiful day for tomorrow's bride, since the Chicago weather man's only daughter is to be among them. What Owen T. Lay predicts for the morrow he could not tell his daughter, Miss Mary Virginia Lay, until today, for war restrictions do not permit dissemination of weather forecasts for more than 24 hours in advance.

Miss Lay and Paul Edwin Barhoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Barhoover of Hubbard, O., will be married at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Albany Park Baptist church, and Mr. and Mrs. Lay will give a reception for the 200 guests invited to the ceremony immediately afterward in the church parlors. The Rev. L. H. Broeker of St. Joseph, Mich., a former pastor of the church, will officiate.

Miss Virginia Wood of Boise, Ida., cousin of Miss Lay; Mrs. Donald Rappleye of Chicago, Miss Ruth Ford of Zanesville, O.; Miss Viella Smerling of Evanston, and Miss Charlyn Adams of Parkersville, W. Va., will attend the bride. Verne Logerquist of Youngstown, O., will be best man. After a wedding trip to northern Michigan Mr. Barhoover and his bride will be at home in Kankakee. He is an inspector at the Elwood ordnance plant near by. The bride has been teaching at Lisbon, O., following her graduation from Denison university.

Mr. Lay, who recently succeeded C. A. Donnel as head of the Chicago weather bureau, has been consulted by weather-conscious mothers of brides for the last 25 years. It's safe to say he never before took such a personal interest in the weather forecast for a June Saturday, however.

Comely Arms Are an Asset to Femininity

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Comely arms are a must, especially in the summer.

"Pretty arms," say Joano and Louise, Leschin, vivid American duo-pianists, who hold the distinction of being one of the youngest professional piano teams in the United States, "are a must for femininity and grace. They very often have the last word in a woman's appearance, for if your arms are rough and awkward or marred with scratches, they cannot help but contradict the finished look of your hair and makeup, the smartness of your hat and dress."

"Elbows very often get scratchy," they say, "and the best way to give them an even texture like the rest of the skin is to massage a little cream into the rough spots and blend it out into the rest of the arm."

The Leschin sisters, however, have not always had prepared beauty aids at their disposal. Studying abroad, they were caught at the outbreak of the war in the excited rush for boats home. Handicapped by loss of trunks, shortage of cosmetics, and unsettled plans, necessity became the mother of invention and they learned to use natural beauty aids as effectively as prepared ones; milk for their skin, lemon juice to take off stains and little irregularities in its texture, cornstarch and water to keep it soft and smooth. A truly graceful arm should have the bony structure well covered, and at the same time be free from excess flesh.

Right now with summer dresses accenting short sleeves, and the bathing suit season here, shapely arms, fine texture and flawless, are assets in charm and are more than ever an important element in grooming. Little blemishes can be discreetly camouflaged with a light application of base cream to hold powder on. Dark hair on the arms can be lightened by any number of easy-to-use lotions.

Objections to Mother in War Service Voiced

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

At this time in America, mothers whose children are not grown will, I feel sure, be interested in these conclusions, voiced by Miss Charlotte Whitton, a Canadian social worker, who both writes and lectures, and who has been on a lecture trip in this country. She said among other things:

"There is no situation that would seem to justify depriving a child of the care and guardianship of its own mother and transferring it to another woman at the cost of the state unless you want to change the whole basis of life and family relationships."

Miss Whitton explained that as soon as the women's auxiliary corps was announced in Canada, social agencies from nine provinces placed their views before the chiefs of the navy, army, and air staffs to the effect that "no woman with girls under 18 or boys under 16 should be taken from their family responsibilities while any woman of physical fitness remained idle or in nonessential occupations.

"We further made representation that every child removed from the guardianship of its own mother meant service from a public or voluntary agency, which meant the time of another woman would be needed to care for them.

"The chiefs of the three services ruled that unless the military situation became so extremely grave that all man and woman power had to be mobilized within the boundaries of Canada no woman with children of those ages should be accepted in the army.

"I believed firmly that, in our own country, for active service and special war employment we should first draw on every possible woman without dependents who is either free, or who may be in various courses of training not essential to war service."

Miss Whitton made no comment on the American policy in connection with our women's army auxiliary corps, but she was clear about Canada's attitude.

Reduce Variety of Beauty Aids Soon, WPB Says

Washington, D. C., June 25 [Special].—Manufacturers of cosmetics generally will be limited to two or three varieties in each line of their products, the War Production board's toiletries and cosmetics division said today. The order, now being drawn up, is expected in a few weeks.

There will be greater variety allowed in such lines as face powder, lipstick and rouge, it was said, than in the larger group of fingernail polishes, colognes, "liquid stockings," mascara, and lotions and creams.

In addition to these limitations and limitations on container sizes there will be fewer types of packages allowed. Women already have been asked to start saving the containers so they can refill them when products begin coming on the market in paper containers and other impermanent forms.

Women in War Work

While millions of Americans are concerned, and rightly so, about the morale of the men in service, few worry particularly about the service men's wives. Yet those wives of officers who are staying near their husbands' training stations are often lonely. The Harriet Hammond McCormick residence committee of the YWCA has planned regular Wednesday evening meetings for the wives of young men in the Northwestern naval reserve training school at Abbott hall. The meetings are informal, with the aim described as "general sociability." There is bridge for those who like it, and there is swimming in the McCormick pool. Mrs. Carroll Sudler is chairman of the residence committee.

The McCormick residence has carried on a program of hospitality for Abbott hall men for nearly two years. The inclusion of the officers' wives is a new undertaking. A series of teas to welcome the wives of new groups entering the training school is planned for the fall.

Already letters have come to this department with the question: "How will my babies be cared for if I go to work?" For some mothers who will take the places of men in war industry the answer may be: "Grandma will look after the youngsters." However, the need undoubtedly will exceed the supply of grandmothers, as well as neighbors' daughters who take jobs as nursemaids now and then.

Michael Reese hospital, 29th street and Ellis avenue, is announcing a plan to train nursery maids. It will be a one year course devoted to turning out trained workers in child care. George Peck, assistant director of the hospital, said in offering the study: "A woman who takes a man's place in industry that he might serve in the nation's armed forces is making a great contribution, but the family group may suffer seriously if there is no competent person with whom children may be left."

He said the hospital is convinced of the need of the trained help because of the requests received by its registry. He expressed the belief that trained women could earn a salary of $18 to $20 a week, plus maintenance.

Young women 18 to 30 and with two or more years of high school are eligible for training. Board, room, and laundry will be supplied to those taking the course. Classes are being organized now. There will be instruction in the care of new born babies as well as older children. There also will be training in child hygiene, laundry work, mending, sewing, simple nursery emergencies, infant feeding, and the rudiments of kindergarten work.

Mrs. John E. Eddy of Hinsdale is a new vice chairman of the motor corps of the Chicago Chapter of the American Red Cross. Her appointment was announced by Miss Harriet McLaughlin, chairman of the corps. Mrs. Eddy has been a member of the corps for the last year. She will share the increasing responsibilities of directing corps activities with Mrs. Alan Dixon, who has been vice chairman for the last year. Besides being a war worker Mrs. Eddy also is a war mother. Her son, John E. Jr., who was born during the first World war, is now a second lieutenant in training with the army parachute troops in the south.

Maj. Jesse H. White of the United States army subsistence laboratories will be the speaker at the first meeting of the Washington Heights Consumer Information Service at 8 o'clock this evening in the Mount Vernon school auditorium, 105th and Morgan streets. Maj. White will discuss the feeding of the armed forces.

Mrs. John L. Murphy is chairman of the new information center. Miss Elizabeth Wilson of the consumer division of the OPA will attend this evening's session to explain the function and importance of the community information service. Next Monday evening there will be an informal opening of the center at the community OCD headquarters, 9987 Beverly avenue.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Student Center in N. Y. Unites 3 Major Faiths

For the first time major religions will coöperate under one roof in the spiritual guidance of college students, at the Interfaith center being established at Hunter college in New York City. This may provide a pattern for similar institutions, it was said yesterday by Dr. A. L. Sachar, national director of the Hillel foundation, which has opened summer headquarters here.

"Of course, each denomination will work in the field of its own religion, using means of its own choosing to get its message across to students," Dr. Sachar said. "Each will stimulate the loyalty of its own student group."

Dual residences of the late Sara Delano Roosevelt were presented to the college Wednesday by a committee representing the Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths. The structures were bought from President Roosevelt for $50,000. Connected to serve as a single building, the structures have 32 rooms.

Five months ago George Schuster, the college president, called in representatives of religious organizations and suggested acquisition of the property for the Interfaith center. Dr. Sachar said he visited the President in February, and that Mr. Roosevelt promised to reject other offers until money could be raised for the project.

The money was raised quietly, Dr. Sachar said, and the purchase was completed with Basil O'Connor, Mr. Roosevelt's former law partner. On the committee were John S. Burke, representing Catholics of the Altman foundation; Charles H. Tuttle, head of the Federation of Churches [Protestant] in New York, and Henry Monsky, national president of B'nai Brith.

Jealous and Spoiled Boys Should Get Air

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We think you girls who write and tell us how fiercely jealous your best beaus are; how they won't let you dance or look at another male; how they criticize you for trying to attract attention and so on—yes, we think you'd better give them the air pronto unless, of course, you take a delight in reporting how jealous you can make a man.

Before you sit down to write us, don't you think it would be a good idea to query yourselves conscientiously and honestly on how much pleasure you get out of bestirring jealousy; how you love to tell the girls about it or have them report tales to you supporting the deeply jealous behavior.

True, there are some badly spoiled males who can put on an act of jealousy that has neither rhyme nor reason. Just spoiled, indulged beings who've been brought up to have what they want and for themselves alone. You can detect the type easily enough, and once you have him pigeonholed as selfish, unreasonable, and extremely difficult to handle, the sooner you're rid of him the better.

We can understand the not-yet-fully-developed-adult-minded youth getting mad when his best girl finds undue favor in another male's eyes. It's not grownup, of course, but it is a common human frailty best handled by not giving in wholly to the youth's biased judgment but stringing along with a little more attention than you give the others, meanwhile reminding him that you thought he was a man, not a little boy.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

A defender should not persist in his attack on one particular suit unless there is reason to feel he has discovered declarer's only vulnerable point. West, in the following deal, showed more persistence than imagination.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 6 3
♥ A 8 5
♦ K J 8 4 3 2
♣ 10 6

WEST
♠ K Q J 9 7
♥ Q 6 2

♣ Q J 8 5

EAST
♠ 8 5 2
♥ 10 9 4 3
♦ Q 10 7
♣ K 9 2

SOUTH
♠ A 10 4
♥ K J 7
♦ A 9 6
♣ A 7 4 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West made the normal opening of the spade king and East played in the conventionally proper manner by following with his second highest spade. [At no trump, unless the partner of the opening leader has sound reason for wishing a shift of leads he should play his second highest to an opening lead of a king.] Declarer held up the spade ace, not being sure of a diamond break and wishing to disrupt spade communication between the two defenders. West correctly continued with the spade queen and this, too, was allowed to hold. Now West made a fatal spade continuation. Declarer won, cashed the diamond ace, and led another diamond toward dummy. West's showing out was a disappointment, but there was no choice except to continue and clear dummy's suit. East won and shifted to a club. Declarer clattered up with the ace and promptly cashed his nine tricks.

It had been quite proper for West to lead two rounds of spades, but the third round was illogical persistence. From West's point of view the only successful defense depended on East's ability to stop dummy's long diamond suit. Since both East and South had been shown to hold three spades, and since South was marked with the ace, West, after cashing in two tricks in the spade suit, should have looked for greener fields. Obviously, these should have been sought only in the club direction. It was very unlikely that East had good enough hearts to make a heart shift advantageous, but the success of a club shift would depend only on finding East with one of the top honors.

Public Library's Services Are Illustrated in Exhibit

Information on the multiple services offered by the Chicago public library is graphically presented in a new exhibit which has been set up in the Randolph street corridor of the main library. Timed to the American Library association's convention, being held this week in Milwaukee, Wis., the display, "A Metropolitan Library in Action," will remain until July 10, giving visiting librarians an opportunity to study the Chicago system.

CONTRIBUTORS SWELL FUND BY $5,800 IN DAY

E. T. Lawless One of Ardent Backers.

BY ARCH WARD.

You have heard about New York's famous "400." Well, they eventually will be crowded into oblivion by Chicago's "1,000."

Edward T. Lawless.

We refer to football's All Star Honor Roll, the men and women who are contributing to the $100,000 campaign for army emergency relief. They will be seated on the 50 yard line in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28 when the College All-Americans play the Chicago Bears in the ninth annual All-Star game. For each $100 donation Chicago Tribune Charities, sponsor of the contest, will present benefactors with a 50 yard line ticket.

The campaign was announced Sunday, June 14, and this morning, less than two weeks later, the total contributions are $41,800. If the present pace is maintained, the goal will be attained long before the gridiron's most famous players step onto Soldiers' field for the sport's most spectacular attraction.

Yesterday's Donations Total $5,800.

Yesterday's donations, which totaled $5,800, came from 26 different sources. The biggest check was for $600 from a firm which asked to be identified as a "Tribune Sport Fan." There were three checks for $400, one from Frank Bering, manager of the Sherman hotel, one from H. Paul Tick of Decatur, Ill., and another from the Green Bay Packers corporation.

Among the honor roll this morning you will find the name of Edward T. Lawless, vice president and managing director of the Palmer House. His contribution is listed at $200. This department knows Mr. Lawless prefers to have no publicity for his efforts in behalf of army emergency relief, but in recognition of the effort he has put forth to make the campaign a success we feel Tribune readers would like to know that he has turned in $5,400 to the fund. Aside from his personal donation of $200, the money came from his friends and business associates.

Heaviest Ticket Sale in History.

All profits from the sale of tickets at standard prices—$4.40, $3.30, $2.20, and $1.10—will be divided equally between navy relief and army emergency relief. The sale is the heaviest in the history of the All-Star series.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 25 [Special].—The Chicago Cubs again looked like million dollar babies against the 5 and 10 cent Phils in Shibe park today, and swept the three game series as Bill Lee, in his fourth attempt, finally caught up with his elusive ninth victory of the season, 7 to 1.

The Cubs' attack was by no means overpowering, but Johnny Podgajny, hitherto a jinx to Chicago, and Ike Pearson were in a charitable mood, and the Cub hits were nicely timed. In the third inning they made the most of two singles, a pair of passes and a hit batsman, and scored five times. The Chicagoans concluded their scoring with a pair of runs in the eighth.

Russell Hits in Clutch.

In the third inning, after Lee had been retired, Stanley Hack walked, Len Merullo was hit by a pitched ball, and Phil Cavarretta drew a pass to load the bases for Glen Russell, who singled to score Hack and Merullo. Jimmy Foxx was given a pass to fill the bases again. Lou Novikoff waited out Podgajny and Cavarretta was forced over with the third run. Chico Hernandez then singled to score Russell and Foxx.

Podgajny, who objected to Umpire Jocko Conlan's ruling that Merullo had been hit by one of his pitches, continued to berate Conlan as the Phils went to bat, and was banished.

Cubs Collect Eight Hits.

In the Wake of the News

WONDER why no one has thought to call Luke Appling the soldiers' and sailors' biggest pal in baseball. . . . The White Sox shortstop easily is the leader in contributing baseballs to the armed forces with all those fouls he slices daily into the stands. . . . Since the season started the Sox have contributed 177 baseballs to the armed forces, with Great Lakes and Camp Grant, because of their nearby location, getting the bulk of them. . . . The Cubs have turned over 504, the total being higher than that of the Sox because the north siders have played more home games. . . . The University of Illinois is the choice of Tom Davis, captain of the Tilden High school golf team, who recently posted low score of 78 in the city championship match against Steinmetz. . . . Three home runs and six doubles was the bumper extra base hit production of the Tigers' Dick Wakefield in two games recently. . . . The Chicago boy is with Beaumont of the Texas league. . . . Marty Burke, who played hockey with the Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Blackhawks, is manager of a hotel in Calgary, Canada. . . . And we suppose the Hawks' Mush March, who goes on and on, is at his chores as golf pro at nearby Valparaiso, Ind. . . . The Jersey bounce has another meaning for those players the Giants send to their farm club at Jersey City. . . .

The Baseball's Who's Who of 1925, which is becoming yellowed with age, lists 76 pitchers. . . . Only Ted Lyons of the White Sox and Johnny Cooney of the Braves, since turned infielder-outfielder, still are active in the majors. . . . When Pepper Martin made his big managerial splash last year at Sacramento in the Pacific Coast league his sparkplug was little Don Gutteridge, now playing a spectacular fielding game at second base for Luke Sewell's Browns. . . . This season it's Don's cousin, Catcher Ray Mueller, who has been the leader in the Sacs' drive from the cellar toward the top of the standings. . . . Charles [Chuck] Hyatt, former Pitt basketball star, recently was inducted into the United States air forces at Fort Sill, Okla., and later will go to Miami, Fla. . . . Ed Danowski, a lieutenant junior grade, is the 22d member of the New York football Giants to enter the armed forces. . . . Grover Cleveland Alexander, at last reports, was working at a tavern in downtown New York. . . . Well, we all hope he's happy. . . . He at least has his memories left.

River Town.

In a river town I've noticed
That old men's favorite walk
Is a little stroll down to the river,
Where they'll group together and talk.

I've seen them stand there motionless,
Gazing out o'er the drifting stream,
Thinking of time and its flight, no doubt,
And how fleeting the fondest dream.

What is there about a river
That draws old men to its shore,
To watch it flowing out to sea
To be lost for ever more.

Do they see in those hurrying waters
Their own life's current's swift flow
On to the country of river's end,
Where shortly they all must go?

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Washington Senators, who rooted the White Sox out of the American league cellar a week ago Sunday with a great show of determination, yesterday afternoon concluded their second 1942 visit to Chicago without scoring a run. Yesterday Buck Ross beat them, 2 to 0; Wednesday Johnny Humphries whipped 'em, 6 to 0, and the day before that it was so bleak they didn't even get to the ball park, much less home plate.

It now appears the Senators are even better insurance than the Philadelphia Athletics against White Sox basement tenancy. The Sox spent most of the first two-fifths of the season in the cellar, but they're flying high now.

Nine Games Under .500 Mark.

By winning behind Ross' six hit pitching yesterday, the Sox gained a half game on the Yankees, their incoming guests, whom they now trail by only 17½ games, and they rose 4½ games from eighth place. Moreover, they are only a game and a half out of fifth place and only nine games under the .500 mark.

The contest completed half the 1942 Sox-Senator competition in which the Sox have won 7 of the 11. They lost their first four engagements in Washington, but have won all other matches.

Altho the Senators made only six hits off Ross that was one more than the Sox acquired off Sid Hudson in the snappy 1 hour and 32 minute encounter. The Senators, however, never made two hits in the same inning while the Sox hooked up two in the productive third inning and two in the productive fourth, thus wasting only one smack in the entire endeavor.

Vernon Doubles in Ninth.

With two out in the third Ross doubled to right and scored the winning run on Wally Moses' single to right. Don Kolloway opened the fourth inning with a single past third. Taft Wright singled to right, putting Kolloway on third, Taffy taking second on a throw to third. Joe Kuhel then flied to Stan Spence and Kolloway tallied without a play.

Half of the hits off Ross were doubles, but none caused any great amount of anxiety, with the possible exception of one which Mickey Vernon got to open the ninth.

Jake Early doubled with two out in the second inning, then Bob Repass drew Ross' only pass. John Sullivan rolled to Kolloway to end that threat. Sullivan doubled with one out in the fifth, but Hudson and Ellis Clary then supplied easy outs. Following Vernon's double in the ninth, Roy Cullenbine flied to Wright, Bruce Campbell popped to Luke Appling, and Early ended the game with a foul to Bob Kennedy.

De la Torre of Northwestern Gains College Golf Semi-Finals

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., June 25.—Manuel de la Torre of Northwestern vs. Robert Kuntz of Yale, and Harold Gjolme of the University of Washington vs. Frank Tatum Jr. of Stanford.

Those are the pairings for tomorrow's 36 hole semi-final matches in the 45th National Intercollegiate golf tournament over the Chain o' Lakes course of the South Bend Country club, and they present as diversified a foursome as this best of all amateur events ever has seen.

Take the 20 year old De la Torre This bespectacled kid has been swinging a golf club since he was 2 years old, and why not? Manuel's dad, Angel, who is now professional at Chicago's Lake Shore Country club, was the first Spanish pro to attain international prominence. At native of Madrid, young De la Torre has just completed his sophomore year at Northwestern and is the first Wildcat swinger in history to reach semifinal eminence, none of his predecessors having gone past the second round.

Meets Brother's Conqueror.

Manuel tomorrow encounters one of those you-can't-do-that-to-my-brother situations, for he gained this afternoon's quarter-finals with a 2 and 1 morning decision against Bob Kuntz's older brother, Bill. Robert himself has been playing golf since he was 14, and it should do Pro Sal di Buono of the Bonnie Briar club in Larchmont, N. Y., good to hear what his 20 year old pupil did today.

First Bob eliminated John Krisko of Ohio State, 5 and 3, and then went out against John Holmstrom, the tall Illinois graduate. The latter had swept thru the morning round with a 5 and 4 conquest of Earl Stewart, defending champion from Louisiana State, during which he was 4 under par, on the basis of 5 threes in the last eight holes. Master Kuntz pretended this never had happened, and won, 3 and 2, with steady play to

SMITH IS ONLY SOX PICKED BY A. L. MANAGERS

Ted Lyons Is Again Passed Up.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

New York Yankees will dominate the 1942 All-Star squad, as usual, and more so. Nine active players and practically everybody else on the Yankee pay roll except an extra popcorn vendor or two will coöperate. The White Sox will be represented solely by Eddie Smith, who rates the distinction despite a record of one victory and 11 defeats. Ted Lyons, winner of 250 games in the American league, was left out again.

The Yankees and the several other players selected, managed by Joe McCarthy of the Yankees, and coached by Art Fletcher and Johnny Schulte of the Yankee coaching staff, will play the National league All-Star team in a twilight game in the Polo Grounds, New York, July 6 and, if they are the victors, will play an All-Star service team managed by Lieut. Mickey Cochrane in Cleveland stadium the night of July 7. If the Nationals win, the Yankees and their associates will remain in the east and the Nationals will engage the service men in Cleveland.

Browns, A's Get One Each.

Following is the squad as released by President William Harridge for publication this morning:

Chicago—Smith, pitcher.
St. Louis—George McQuinn, first base.
Philadelphia—Bob Johnson, outfield.
Washington—Sid Hudson, pitcher, and Stan Spence, outfield.
Cleveland—Lou Boudreau, shortstop; Ken Keltner, third, and Jim Bagby, pitcher.
Detroit—Rudy York, first base; Al Benton and Hal Newhouser, pitchers; Birdie Tebbetts, catcher.
Boston—Bobby Doerr, second base; Tex Hughson, pitcher; Dom DiMaggio and Ted Williams, outfielders.
New York—Joe Gordon, second base; Phil Rizzuto, shortstop; Ernie Bonham, Red Ruffing, and Spud Chandler, pitchers; Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich, outfield; Bill Dickey and Buddy Rosar, catchers.

The batting practice pitcher will be Paul Schreiber, the batting practice catcher, Schulte, and the trainer, Doc Painter, all of the Yankees.

Union rules will keep the Yankee ground crew from going to the Polo Grounds to take over the diamond massage. This chore will be entrusted to the regular Polo Grounds crew.

Yanks Have Coöperated.

The selections are purely the result of choices of the American league managers and are said to give a pretty good idea of the painful lack of balance in the circuit.

While the wholesale snubs of other outfits who are trying to draw customers to their parks may hurt the feelings of some, it was said, there can be no fair resentment of the Yankees taking over. The champs always have been among the best supporters of the big mid-season show. Players on other teams frequently have ducked coöperation, but the New Yorkers invariably have given unstinted support. And besides, it is the desire of the American league to win the game, or both games, another reason why the second division stragglers are represented by a grand total of five players.

Remember Ted's Homer?

The following will be making their first appearance on an All-Star squad: Spence, Rosar, Rizzuto, Henrich, Bonham, Chandler, Hughson, Bagby, and Newhouser.

Doerr, D. DiMaggio, and Williams are the Bostonians who were on last year's team, Williams breaking up the game with a homer in the ninth inning. Boudreau and Keltner represented Cleveland last year, but Bob Feller, who will pitch for the service All-Stars in the Cleveland game is absent from the American list for the first time in five years. Benton, Tebbetts, and York of the Tigers were in last summer's game.

QUIEN ES DOES IT BY A NECK AT ARLINGTON PARK

Smacked and Cuantos Run Dead Heat for 2d.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Quien Es doesn't work very often, but when he does he means business. Yesterday was one of this Calumet horse's big afternoons. He went to the post as the 8 to 5 favorite in the $3,000 Great Lakes handicap at Arlington Park and he came right on to win by a neck, getting up in the last few yards to beat the pacemaker, Smacked. W. E. Boeing's Cuantos, closing resolutely along the rail, also came up with Quien Es, but he wasn't as quick about it, so the best he could do was run a dead heat with Smacked for second place.

Quien Es, a 4 year old son of the fast sprinter, Hygro, raced only five times last season, but he won four of those efforts and was third the other time. This year he has been to the post four times, including yesterday's undertaking, and he has taken three firsts and a second. Trainer Ben Jones and his son Jimmy, who saddled Quien Es yesterday, handle this horse very carefully, but they get the very best out of him when he races.

Smacked at 11 to 1 Odds.

A field of 10 went to the post in the 6 furlong Great Lakes handicap. Smacked, which was one of the best sprinters on Chicago tracks last season, was one of the big overlays on the board. He was held at 11 to 1 odds because the fans didn't realize that he has been coming back to his 1941 form.

It looked just like old times when he went out to make the pace. Buddy Haas got Quien Es into second position without delay and bided his time during the swing around the curve. The field was closely bunched as they came into the stretch.

Quien Es then moved up on the outside of Smacked while Cuantos was threatening along the rail. Smacked held on gamely but in the closing stages Quien Es prevailed and Cuantos had enough finishing zip to run a dead heat with the early pace setter for second place.

The winner paid $5.40, $3.40, and $2.80 across the board. Smacked returned $4.20 and $5.40 for place and show and the prices on Cuantos were $3.20 and $4.20.

Tell Efforts to Arrange Special.

The Arlington Park management yesterday discussed its efforts to arrange a $30,000 special event for the Fourth of July program, proceeds of which will go to the Army and Navy relief funds. Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of Arlington Park, wrote to Warren Wright, Al Sabath, Lou Tufano and Mrs. Payne Whitney, owners of Whirlaway, Alsab, Market Wise and Shut Out, respectively.

PASTOR REFUSES $20,000 OFFER TO BATTLE BETTINA

Says 'No' After Manager Sees Melio Beat Bobo.

Bob Pastor, New York heavyweight trial horse, has refused a $20,000 offer to meet Melio Bettina in a Chicago ball park next month, it was learned yesterday. Jimmy Johnston, manager of Pastor, watched Bettina score a victory over Harry Bobo in Cleveland on Tuesday. Jimmy Grippo, manager of Bettina, had agreed to guarantee Pastor $15,000, the money to come from Melio's 55 per cent of the receipts. Johnston, however, demanded $20,000, and this was met early Wednesday. Then Johnston changed his mind.

YOUTH REIGNS IN WOMEN'S OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

Otto, Row, Cline, Jameson Reach Semi-Finals.

Youth was served in the Women's Western Open yesterday as four girls ranging in age from 17 to 23 years fought their way thru quarter-final matches at the Elmhurst Country club.

Youngest of the quartet is Phyllis Otto, 17 year old high school graduate from Atlantic, Ia., who scored a 3 and 2 victory over another teen age golfer, Sallie Sessions of Muskegon, Mich.

Miss Otto's opponent today will be Marjorie Row, 20 year old blonde co-ed from Michigan State, who yesterday conquered Virginia Ingram of Sunset Ridge, Chicago's last remaining entry, 2 and 1.

The other semi-final match today will pit 18 year old Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., against Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., twice holder of the women's national championship, who at 23 years old is the veteran of the survivors.

Fees Go to Army, Navy Relief.

Today's matches will start at 1:30 o'clock. All proceeds from the admission fees will be turned over to the army and navy relief funds, and officials of the WWGA are hopeful of large galleries at the remaining matches.

The tournament's record for an upset a day remained intact yesterday when Miss Cline eliminated Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., former southern women's champion, 2 and 1. The match seesawed thru the first nine with Miss Cline clinging to a 1 up advantage at the turn.

Another mild upset occurred in Miss Row's triumph over Miss Ingram. The latter led, 3 up, at the sixth, but she lost the next two holes when her drive fell in the creek at the seventh and she was trapped at the eighth. A lost ball cost Miss Ingram the 14th, and the match ended on the 17th, where the Detroit girl dropped a 10 foot putt for a birdie.

Miss Otto's Putter Clicks.

Miss Otto's victory over Miss Sessions was attributable to accurate putting. The Iowa girl ran down putts of more than fifteen feet to birdie the fifth and eighth holes. She reached the turn in par 38 to lead, 2 up. Miss Otto retained this lead thru the back nine, ending the match at the 16th.

Betty Jameson was forced to the 18th green to win, 2 up, from Dorothy Foster, the former Western Junior champion from Springfield, Ill. She shot a 37, one under par, for the first nine, but could do no better than be all square at that point.

De la Torre in Semi-Final of College Golf

the greens and good pressure putting on them.

Hal's also a Ski Star.

Probably the most interesting of the foursome is Gjolme, a tow-head who will presently trade a brace of skis and his set of golf clubs for a pair of air controls. This 21 year old, who is a real life reproduction of Gasoline Alley's Skeezix, has won a National intercollegiate title before, but not in golf. He won same in the 1939-'40 ski jumping tournament at Sun Valley, but suffered a broken right leg while practicing three months later. This afternoon Hal put out John Stoltz, Northwestern sophomore, 4 and 3, and then played out the bye holes for a 34—32—66, five under par, and an unofficial course record. Harold got in shape for this performance by winning a tough 1 up argument from towering Ray Brownell of Stanford, runnerup to Stewart for last year's individual title.

Gjolme comes by his skiing talent quite naturally, for his father, Reidar, a native of Norway, is a one time world's champion. He already has enrolled in the army air corps and will report for duty next month.

Mr. Tatum Is Resourceful.

Sandy Tatum, the fourth member of tomorrow's quartet, is one of the most popular players in the tournament, and if any one brought Stanford to this party, it was Sandy. Earlier in the year, the authorities at Palo Alto decided that the athletic budget wouldn't permit sending Coach Eddie Twiggs and his boys here. Tatum thought otherwise. He had not been graduated as class valedictorian and a Phi Beta Kappa scholar for nothing. After reviving Twiggs, Sandy proposed a fund raising campaign. He not only received the approval of Chancellor Ray Lyman Wilbur, but a $25 check from that gentleman to start the fund.

It grew and grew thru the medium of an exhibition match between Brownell and Warren Berl, last year's captain, at which donations were accepted. A hole-in-one contest helped out and the dapper Twiggs and his little company landed at Chain O'Lakes last week. They won a share of the team championship with Louisiana State Tuesday evening. Sandy, a native of Los Angeles who will be 22 in October, earned his well deserved place in the last foursome with a 3 and 2 morning victory over Keith Welts, a team mate of Gjolme, and then came back to put out Dale Morey, the Martinville, Ind., boy who was Louisiana State's last hope. It is interesting to note that last year Gjolme won the Northern division of the Pacific Coast conference play while this year Tatum was the southern division leader.

Third round results:

John Holmstrom, Illinois, beat Earl Stewart, Louisiana State, 5 and 4.

Robert W. Kuntz, Yale, beat John Krisko, Ohio State, 5 and 3.

Manuel de la Torre, Northwestern, beat William R. Kuntz, Yale, 2 and 1.

Allan Whaling, Cincinnati, beat David H. Paul, United States Naval academy, 3 and 2.

Harold Gjolme, University of Washington, beat Ray Brownell, Stanford, 1 up.

John Stoltz, Northwestern, beat John Donohue, Georgetown, 4 and 3.

Frank Tatum Jr., Stanford, beat Keith Welts, University of Washington, 3 and 2.

Dale Morey, Louisiana State, beat Jim Teale, Minnesota, 7 and 6.

Quarter-final results:

Robert Kuntz beat Holmstrom, 3 and 2.
De la Torre beat Whaling, 6 and 5.
Gjolme beat Stoltz, 4 and 3.
Tatum beat Morey, 2 and 1.

Semi-final pairings:

Kuntz vs. De la Torre.
Gjolme vs. Tatum.

TIGERS' 6 RUNS IN 8TH CONQUER RED SOX, 7 TO 3

Bloodworth's Homer Helps in Big Inning.

Detroit, Mich., June 25 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers scored six runs in the eighth inning today to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 3, for the first time in six starts, and snapped Cecil [Tex] Hughson's winning streak at four games. The rally was topped by Jimmy Bloodworth's ninth homer of the season with one aboard.

For seven innings Hughson yielded four hits, including Ned Harris' fourth inning homer, his sixth of the year, for the lone Detroit run. Rookie Hal White achieved his sixth victory against five defeats. It was Hughson's third defeat against six victories.

Before driving Hughson from the box the Tigers had been limited to one run in 17 innings against Red Sox pitching. Detroit hadn't defeated Boston since May 19.

about distributing base hits, yielding only five, and didn't give up a run until the sixth.

Novikoff, who of late has been the toast of Chicago, made a single and walked once, while Foxx drew a pair of walks that figured in both scoring innings and singled once.

Events were dull after the third. The Phils finally scored in the sixth when Danny Litwhiler doubled, went to third on Ernie Koy's infield out, and came home on a fly to center.

In the eighth Bill Nicholson singled and stole second. Foxx walked. Novikoff grounded out, and Hernandez was purposely passed, filling the bases, whereupon Lee singled, Nicholson and Foxx scoring.

FLEMING VS. EARLY.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 25 [Special]. — The Cubs tonight boarded sleepers for Boston where tomorrow they open a four game series with the revived Braves. Les Fleming will pitch for the Cubs and Tom Early probably will be his opponent. It was against the Braves that Fleming pitched his recent one hit 1 to 0 victory. Early worked for the Braves that day, too.

A delegation of [small] friends from Chestertown, Md., came up to watch Bill Nicholson of the Cubs perform.

Sox Bid for First Triumph Over Yankees Tonight

The New York Yankees will play the White Sox under the Comiskey Park lights tonight. Eddie Smith, only White Sox representative on the All-Star squad, will pitch for Chicago. Three of Eddie's 11 defeats have been administered by the Yanks.

Before the game yesterday the sweeter singers among the Sox assembled in the dugout and croaked "Happy Birthday" to Joe Kuhel, who was 36 years old.

NEALE DEFEATS EARL BARTLETT IN COLLEGE TENNIS

New Orleans, La., June 25 (AP).—One seeded player, Earl Bartlett of Tulane, No. 7, was defeated today as the national intercollegiate tennis tournament moved toward the semi-finals.

Bartlett lost to Emery Neale of Stanford, 6-2, 6-4, and the lower bracket was almost cleared of seeded stars. Neale will face the winner of a match between Elston Wyatt of Annapolis and Larry Dee of Stanford, seeded No. 6, in the semi-finals tomorrow. The Dee-Wyatt affair was halted today after each player had won a set.

In the upper bracket Ted Schroeder of Stanford came thru with a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Jack Rodgers of Rice, and Bill Reedy of Southern California beat Harris Everett of North Carolina, 6-0, 6-4. Schroeder, seeded second, and Reedy, No. 4, make up the other singles semi-finalists.

MORT COOPER AND CARDINALS SHUT OUT BRAVES, 4-0

Dodgers Blank Reds by Same Score.

Boston, Mass., June 25 (AP).—An army-navy relief game crowd of 25,093 saw Mort Cooper win his 10th victory of the season and collect his sixth shutout today when the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Boston Braves, 4 to 0, on his two hit performance.

While running his string of consecutive scoreless innings to 32, Cooper, whose three losses have been by one run margins, retired the first 16 Boston batters to face him.

Before the game the army, navy, and marine corps presented a program which included the induction of 200 into military service and a parade. That included the rival teams and all of their service guests. President Bob Quinn reported that the receipts, which are far from complete because of the widespread sale of tickets, now total $28,537. David Provizer of Brookline provided $200 of that sum with his successful bid during the auction for home plate.

DODGERS BLANK REDS.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 25 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers made four runs after two were out in the third inning tonight to rout Ray Starr and shut out the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 0, on the five hit hurling of Johnny Allen. The Dodger rally included a single by Joe Medwick, extending his hitting streak to 27 games.

Gene Thompson yielded one hit in 5 1-3 innings and gave no walks, but his effort was futile. It was the third defeat against 10 victories for the 36 year old Starr.

Police Benefit Baseball Games Begin July 4

The Policemen's Benevolent association of Chicago will start its 20th annual series of baseball games in which only policemen participate, Saturday and Sunday, July 4 and 5, in Wrigley field.

Many former major league and semi-pro players, now members of the department, will play under Capt. Harry O'Connell of the Summerdale station, manager of the north side team, and Capt. Patrick Crotty of Grand Crossing station, manager of the south side nine.

A third game will be played Saturday, July 11, in Comiskey park, and the proceeds of all three contests will go into the reserve fund for dependents of policemen killed in line of duty. This includes 250 policemen now in the country's armed service. Tickets are $1 each and may be purchased at the park or from Chicago uniformed policemen. Service men in uniform will be admitted free.

Within the ivy-covered walls of this distillery no whiskey other than Old Taylor has ever been made.

THE late Col. E. H. Taylor Jr. wrote a fine hand. But he was an even better hand at making bourbon. He judged one so far the best that he proudly gave it his name. That one is OLD TAYLOR. In its bottle, you identify it by his signature on the label. In your glass, you identify this princely bourbon by its glorious good taste.

STUDY DOLOMITE SUPPLY IN STATE FOR MAGNESIUM

Deposits Form Potential Aid to War Effort.

Dolomite deposits in various parts of Illinois are being studied as possible sources of magnesium, Gov. Green was informed yesterday by Frank G. Thompson, state director of registration and education. Thompson filed with the governor a report on a special research project aimed at locating and utilizing Illinois natural resources needed in the war program.

The state geological survey at Urbana, under the supervision of Dr. M. M. Leighton, is conducting the research.

Dolomite was one of a number of natural resources mentioned in the report. As a source of magnesium ore, dolomite deposits in the state are of potential value in the war effort, Thompson said. Huge quantities of magnesium are needed for making light weight alloys, incendiary bombs, airplane flares, and other war items.

List Petroleum Reserves.

"The geological survey also is making an inventory of Illinois' petroleum reserves and is mapping potential producing areas as a means of assuring continued supplies of petroleum," the report said.

"Geological information is being provided to aid in exploration for more reserves of fluorspar in Hardin and Pope counties. Fluorspar is essential in making steel, aluminum, refrigerants, and dyes. More than four-fifths of the fluorspar produced in the western hemisphere comes from mines now operating in the two counties and in adjacent parts of Kentucky.

"Salt brines in Illinois oil pools are being studied as possible sources of chemical substances needed in abnormal quantities.

Feldspar Supply Good.

"An investigation on the presence in Illinois sands of feldspar—used in making glass—is nearing completion. It indicates the presence of feldspar in important amounts. Existence of this resource in Illinois had not previously been known. It may be a factor in promoting the glass industry in the state."

Thompson observed that glass is being substituted extensively for metals required for armaments.

Among other activities of Leighton's staff Thompson mentioned surveys to locate construction raw materials and ground water in the vicinities of military establishments and munitions plants.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By BOB BECKER

Farm in June Glory.

June 25, 1942.

THE end of June finds Illinois farms with all their traditional June symbols in evidence despite the inconsistency of the weather. The unseasonably cool days have not prevented the hollyhocks from blooming in the cottage yards and the rose arbors seem to be more brilliant than ever just to spite the weather man.

As we wandered over the Wheaton farm the other day we spotted these and many other signs of summer. The waving wheat is turning gold . . . the first blue chicory flowers are in evidence along country roads . . . huge clusters of sumac fruit can be seen in many places . . . the green pods of the bittersweet are climbing over the fences and promising an abundance of winter bouquet material . . . under the wild mandrake umbrellas the green May apples may be seen.

Flowers Vie for Attention.

Vesper sparrows hop along the top of the old rail fence north of the barnyard in their customary summer game . . . jittery barn swallows dart in and out of the big barn doors when visitors come too close to their nests . . . oxeye daisies and brown eyed Susans vie for attention in open fields and roadsides . . . and in the woodlot south of Half Moon pond we found the first flowers of Queen Anne's lace.

In the shallow water at the edges of the farm ponds summer fishermen patiently wait for their "strikes." In this case the fishermen use no rods, lines, or artificial baits, because they are green herons making use of natural equipment—their long, sharp bills. When we hiked around the ponds the other morning we flushed a number of herons, and on the shore of the Round pond we spotted one of these long-legged anglers standing silently in the shallow water. By watching thru field glasses we could follow his routine of spearing his morning meal.

Heron Expert Fisherman.

"Silent as a heron" is an apt simile to any one who has watched these big birds on a feeding spree. The bird we watched didn't make a single unnecessary move, but when a small bullhead or frog would come into range its beak would dart out as if released by a strong bow. The fish or frog which comes into the range of a heron's bill and escapes can consider itself lucky, because these big birds don't fish for fun and they don't miss very often.

The killdeer which had its nest and four eggs on the gravel driveway of one of the farm homes evidently has hatched its young and moved to parts unknown. When we visited her nesting site early in the week she had disappeared, so evidently the traffic of automobiles, trucks, and tractors right past her nest didn't disturb her sufficiently to keep her eggs from hatching.

BANKS' RESERVES LITTLE AFFECTED BY TAX PAYMENTS

Treasury Financing Eases Shock.

Reserve system member banks emerged from the quarterly income tax paying period with only a mild disturbance reflected in excess reserves, the federal reserve board's weekly report indicated last night. During the week ended Wednesday excess reserves dipped 140 million dollars to a total of 2 billion 650 million dollars.

In recent quarters the treasury has adjusted its financing to ease the shock which payment of income taxes by individuals and corporations formerly had on banks' excess reserves. This easing is accomplished by shortening the maturity dates of some of the bill issues of the treasury so that extra large amounts of the bills have to be paid by the treasury at the time when large amounts of income tax money are flowing into the treasury.

Lessens Disturbances.

The effect is that the treasury pays out money at the same time it receives money, causing relatively little disturbance in the excess reserve position. Without such an arrangement, income tax paying time would cause a sharp drop in member banks' excess reserves and an upward whirl in treasury deposits with the reserve banks.

In the latest weekly period the general account of the treasury at the 12 reserve banks, instead of showing the normal rise, dipped 21 million dollars, as a result of the extensive paying off of treasury bills.

Illinois Central Income Double Year Ago.

Major trunk line railroad companies reporting earnings yesterday announced increases in income from operations and gains in net profits for May and for the first five months this year.

May net profits of the Illinois Central and Union Pacific were more than double earnings in the corresponding period in 1941. Net operating incomes of the Pennsylvania, Chicago and North Western, Rock Island, and the Santa Fe showed wide gains over a year ago.

Profits of the Illinois Central advanced to $2,141,593 in May from $1,040,418 a year earlier. For the first five months of this year the road reported profits of $7,657,647 against $4,525,406 in the corresponding 1941 period.

Chicago and North Western net operating income in May climbed to $2,050,570 from $1,674,695; Rock Island to $2,117,134 from $1,444,254; and Santa Fe to $5,385,557 from $2,865,723 in May, 1941.

ODOL OF CHICAGO AND ODOL (DEL.) NOT CONNECTED

P. J. Seger, secretary of the Odol Chemical corporation, 417 South Dearborn street, said yesterday there is no connection between his firm and a Delaware corporation, the Odol Chemical company, mentioned recently in a Washington dispatch.

The alien property custodian announced early this week that the government had taken over from German national controling stocks of the Lingner corporation, Chicago, which controls trade-marks, patents, secret formulas and manufacturing processes of the Odol Chemical company.

Seger said the Odol Chemical corporation in 1935 acquired sole manufacturing and selling rights in the United States of Odol mouth wash from the Odol Chemical company. He said no royalties or fees of any kind have been credited or paid to the Lingner corporation by Odol Chemical corporation nor does it have any financial interest in it.

FORD CO. DISPUTE WITH CIO UNION IS GIVEN TO WLB

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—Secretary of Labor Perkins certified to the War Labor board today the dispute between the Ford Motor company and the United Automobile, Aircraft, and Agricultural Implement Workers [CIO].

About 115,000 workers are involved, but there has been no work stoppage. The company seeks to remove from a new contract the present provisions for a check-off system, contained in a contract which expired June 20. The union asks a $1 a day wage increase, the right to represent probationary employés, and the establishment of a shop steward system.

The WLB already is studying a CIO demand upon General Motors corporation for a $1 a day wage boost and is expected to receive a similar case involving Chrysler corporation. Altogether, about 200,000 men in the "big three" automobile company plants are affected by the union demands.

FACILITIES CONVERTED.

With the conversion of the automobile industry to war production, what is the principal outlet for Eaton Manufacturing company products? I am interested in the company's stock and also would appreciate any information on recent financial operations.—T. M.

Answer: A leading maker of automotive parts, including axles, springs, valves, and related equipment, Eaton Manufacturing company began converting its facilities to war production in 1940. Several plants have been enlarged, partially financed by the government, and war materiels, principally aircraft parts, now are being produced on a large scale. A record of recent financial operations follows:

	Manufacturing profit.	Net income.	Dividends.
1941	$14,293,835	$4,364,696	$3.00
1940	7,986,013	2,994,657	3.00
1939	5,575,520	2,707,340	2.50
1938	1,892,932	23,154	.25
1937	5,536,345	2,568,961	2.75

Successor company to the Eaton Axle and Spring company in 1932, its sole capitalization is 703,646 shares of $4 par capital stock outstanding. The stock ranged in 1941 from 27 to 36⅞.

ALTON ROAD.

Please report on the April and four months' net income of the Alton railroad. How did it cover fixed charges in the four month period?—E. B.

Answer: The Alton railroad earned $36,979 in April and $420,864 in the four month period in which fixed charges were covered 1.68 times.

TAXABLE INCOME.

Is income received from Cuban Telephone company securities taxable?—C. F.

Answer: The internal revenue department ruled recently that income from securities of this company is taxable as income from sources outside the United States during the calendar year 1942. Such income received by a nonresident alien is not subject to United States income tax this year.

DIVIDEND APPROVED.

Has the Securities and Exchange commission approved the proposed North American company dividend distribution of Detroit Edison company capital stock?—E. D.

Answer: Yes, on June 3 the SEC approved the distribution to be made on or about July 1.

2 DEVELOPMENTS MAY DETERMINE TREND OF GRAINS

Feed Wheat Sales to End; Oil Order Unfilled.

Start Barley Trade

Members of the Chicago Board of Trade voted yesterday to provide a market on the exchange for trading in feed barley futures, with transactions to start today. While the mart has had facilities for trading in barley futures for many years, limitations on grades deliverable on the futures contracts have made trading almost impossible, officials said.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Two developments that grain men said may be major factors in shaping the trend of grain prices in the next few weeks were reported yesterday.

1. Commodity Credit corporation officials in Chicago revealed that the government's program for selling wheat for feed purposes at low prices will end June 30.

2. Oil market authorities disclosed that a lend-lease request for 15,000 tons of edible oils for Russia had been only a little more than two-thirds filled as far as they could determine. Part of the order had been filled with South American oils bought below domestic market prices.

Affect Grains Little.

These had little discernible effect on the grain markets yesterday but attracted considerable attention because of the influence they shortly may have on all grain prices.

The CCC officials said they had received no official notice from Washington on the future of the feed wheat program. Grain men said that feed buyers and manufacturers have bought as much of the low priced wheat as their storage space will hold.

Purchases "of all the feed wheat you can take" were urged by CCC officials, the grain men said, on the premise that the future of the program is uncertain and depends almost entirely on the outcome of agricultural legislation now pending before congress.

Involves Heavy Purchases.

The oil men said lend-lease purchases on contracts awarded Saturday would involve approximately 13 million pounds of linseed oil; 5 million pounds of bleachable cottonseed oil from South America, and 3 million pounds of soy bean oil. They reported the cotton oil was sold for 13 cents delivered New York, compared with a current market of 14.3 cents a pound for the domestic product.

Hedging and liquidating sales depressed wheat futures on the Board of Trade with the market closed ⅛ to ½ cent lower with July at $1.18⅛ a bushel. Corn futures were unchanged; oats, ¼ cent lower; rye, ⅛ to ⅝ cent lower, and soy beans, ¼ to ⅝ cent lower.

Tuesday is the first day for giving notice of intentions to deliver grain on July futures contracts. Expectations that they probably will be of fair size induced liquidating selling on the part of speculative holders of wheat, corn, and rye futures.

NATION'S FLAIR FOR ORGANIZING HELD WAR HOPE

A.T.&T. Official Says Output Will Win.

America's genius for organizing large-scale engineering work will determine the future freedom of the world, M. R. Sullivan, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, said yesterday in an address before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The institute is holding its 58th annual convention this week in the Drake hotel.

"The thing that distinguishes America on the battlefront is its capacity for organization," he asserted. "The capacity to produce is not entirely a matter of raw materials and skilled labor. Other nations have as much or more of these than we have. Our ability to roll out the machines and munitions lies in soundly engineered, well trained organizations."

Output Job "Down Our Alley."

Sullivan said that large scale engineering organization is this nation's choice of a battle front. Compared with other countries, he declared, the United States has advanced more in organization than in science, but it is because of this that the production of planes, tanks, and other instruments of war is "down our alley."

The United States is meeting its enemies on the ground of organization, he continued. He told the engineers "it is fortunate that this is true, for the freedom of the world depends on our acceptance of this front and our success on it."

R. C. Muir, vice president of the General Electric company, another speaker at the institute's general session, stressed the importance of shaping the organization to fit the qualifications of the personnel, rather than shaping the men to conform to a specific form of organization. He asserted that this is the principal difference between industrial and military organizations.

Lauds Depth of Vision.

H. B. Gear, vice president of the Commonwealth Edison company, said that the successful use of engineering as a management instrument "depends greatly on men who have depth of vision and see beyond their own immediate tasks." He declared that when engineering is thus employed as an effective tool of management, it becomes "the implement of human achievement."

George Sutherland, War Production board salvage manager for New York and New Jersey, declared that the nation's salvage and scrap program was essentially an engineering program to help furnish the tremendous amount of materials required for the war of production. He said that one-third of the copper, one-third of the zinc, 20 per cent of the lead and 20 per cent of the rubber used comes from salvage and scrap.

In the last year, Sutherland said, the nation's scrap dealers have collected 70 million pounds of aluminum, or enough for 5,300 bombers, 26,000 tons of tin, or enough for 150,000 airplane engines, and enough rubber to produce 12 million tires. He urged the engineers to check up on the scrap operations of their own companies, and declared that altho the scrap salvage program is operating successfully, still more is needed.

Pan Drive "Unfortunate."

Sutherland referred to the campaign for collecting aluminum pots and pans as an "unfortunate scrap drive put on in a burst of enthusiasm—and we're sorry for it."

The electrical facilities and operating plan for the Chicago subway were described before a technical session of the convention by Charles E. De Leuw, acting chief subway engineer. He said that modern streamlined cars to carry 80,000 passengers an hour on the State street line, automatic signal equipment, fluorescent lighting, and escalators will provide innovations in subway train service.

"One of the principal objectives of the State street subway is to provide terminal facilities for the rapid transit lines to relieve the elevated loop," De Leuw said. "The importance of additional terminal tracks in Chicago became vastly more important with the coming of tire rationing."

Warns Water Shortage May Hit Some Cities

J. A. Krug, head of the War Production board power branch, warned yesterday that many American cities may experience a shortage of water before the war ends. The reason, he said, would be that war industries must have first call on critical materials needed for maintenance of water plants.

Krug discussed wartime problems of the water supply industry at the closing session of the American Water Works association's annual meeting in the Stevens hotel. He disclosed for the first time two new WPB regulations affecting the water industry which will become effective July 1.

New Extensions Forbidden.

One new ruling prohibits construction of extensions to any new customer, except where the premises already are piped or the foundation started by July 1. The exception is defense housing projects. The other gives utilities an A-1-c rating on emergency repair items, compared with ratings of A-2 and A-5 available to utilities under present priorities orders.

Elaborating on his remarks in an interview following his talk, Krug said that where water shortages develop voluntary restrictions will be tried first, but if local conservation attempts fail the WPB has adequate authority to order certain uses of water eliminated or curtailed.

So far, he told reporters, the WPB has had no occasion to use this authority. Shortages have developed in areas of rapid wartime population expansion, but the affected cities have successfully dealt with the problems thru voluntary curtailments. Norfolk, Va., far example, has a "rather serious problem" as has San Diego, Cal., he says.

Economy of Materials Urgent.

The nation's water systems, Krug said in his address, are as efficient and economical as the world has ever seen. That is basic common sense, he continued, in normal times, but now the basic question is one of economy of materials.

"You must redesign your equipment to keep uses of critical materials at a minimum," he asserted. "Certainly that means cutting off new lines where reduction in use can solve the problem. You are justified in taking chances with your water system, because these critical materials are worth 5 or 10 times as much to the war effort now as they will be worth later."

Krug said that in many cases where water shortages develop a "really effective job of curtailing use will meet the situation. He urged water company officials to study the needs and use of water in defense plants, and show executives of these plants how to save water thru more efficient use. To illustrate, he said it has been found that test cells in aircraft engine plants can turn back almost as much power as they use.

F. J. LEWIS TO RETIRE AS CHICAGO RESERVE BANK BOARD MEMBER

Frank J. Lewis.

Frank J. Lewis will retire July 1 as chairman and a member of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. He said yesterday his resignation has been accepted by the federal reserve board in Washington.

Lewis will complete six years on the board next month. He is retiring, he said, to devote more time to other business activities. He is the chairman of the F. J. Lewis Manufacturing company and has recently given much of his time to development of silk culture in Florida. This project, which was started by Mrs. Lewis several years ago, has demonstrated, he said yesterday, that silk can be produced successfully in the United States. The war department and other agencies of the government are interested in the development, he said.

Lewis' successor as a class C director and chairman will be picked by the Washington board. Other class C directors now on the board are Simeon E. Leland of Chicago, who is deputy chairman, and W. W. Waymack, Des Moines, Ia.

Dr. Alvin H. Hansen, special economic advisor to the federal reserve board, attended yesterday's meeting of the Chicago bank directors. At an informal meeting later he spoke on wartime fiscal problems and the probable course of fiscal policy after the war.

ILLINOIS OUTPUT OF MILK RISING, GOVERNOR TOLD

Illinois farmers are responding wholeheartedly to the government's plea for increased dairy production, Howard Leonard, state director of agriculture, reported to Gov. Green yesterday. He estimated milk output would show an increase of fully 5 per cent over the record set last year.

"Early season pasture conditions have been excellent," Leonard told the governor. "According to official reports of the department of agriculture there were 1,144,000 milk cows on Illinois farms Jan. 1, compared with 1,122,000 a year ago. Last year these cows produced 5 billion 453 million pounds of milk to set a new record, an output that was 5 per cent larger than the 5 billion 188 million pounds produced in 1940.

"The war production goal suggested for Illinois in 1942 calls for a further increase of 5 per cent. Given average or better weather Illinois farmers will do all they can to bring production of their dairy herds up to this goal.

"The state's farmers received $105,142,000 in 1941 from the sale of dairy products, as compared with $83,423,000 in 1940."

Banker to Buy Mexican Steel Mill Company

New York, June 25 (AP).—Paul Shields, of Shields & Co., Wall street investment banking firm, announced today that he and a group of associates had closed preliminary negotiations for purchase of La Consolidata, second largest steel mill in Mexico.

Shields said the purchase price of the mill, which last year had 6 million dollars in sales, would be 5 million dollars. Capitalization of the mill, he said, is $1,500,000.

Will Buy All Common.

Shields said he and his friends would acquire all of the common stock while the present owners—Harry Wright, president, and his brother, Bolling Wright, Americans who have been operating the mill for more than 30 years—would retain preferred stock.

There would be no public financing, Shields said.

The mill, covering 16 acres at Mexico City and 20 acres at Piedras Negras, has 1,500 employés.

Deal Includes Iron Mine.

Harry Wright said that the deal would include an iron mine which he considered one of the best in the world.

"I spent 16 months in Mexico and came to the conclusion that the Camacho government is all right," Shields said.

"We've reached the decision that the way to improve Latin-American relations is to go into Latin America and do business."

The mill at Mexico City, Shields said, had three electric furnaces while there is one open hearth at Piedras Negras.

ASK 100 MILLION IN SUIT AGAINST STANDARD (N. J.)

New York, June 25 (AP).—Suits totaling 100 million dollars against the Standard Oil company [New Jersey] to recover losses alleged to have resulted from the company's former agreement with I. G. Farbenindustrie, German chemical trust, were disclosed today in a Supreme court motion to consolidate 10 suits into one.

Thirty-six present and former officers and directors of Standard Oil and six corporations were named as defendants in the stockholder actions.

The suits alleged that the company violated anti-trust laws by entering into a conspiracy with the German firm and others to "create a world monopoly of essentials in the chemical and oil fields, which include the production of synthetic rubber, synthetic oil, and synthetic gasoline."

Losses sustained, it was charged, resulted from the failure of the company to exploit patents obtained at considerable cost, and from turning over certain patents to the German firm.

Warns of Perils to Freedom

Louis E. Leverone, president of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, asserted yesterday that the nation must guard against use of the war emergency as a vehicle for unnecessary social and economic changes. He warned that such changes, if allowed to gain a foothold now, would remain after the war and "destroy the very freedom of thought and individual enterprise for which we are fighting."

Leverone, addressing the Illinois Board of Private Employment Agencies in the Palmer House, said that much of the central government control that has replaced private management in the last year is necessary for prosecuting the war. He cited, as an instance, the necessity of central control for the effective use of raw materials.

Calls Danger Grave.

"But there are, unfortunately, many who feel that this centralized control might become so firmly planted in our way of doing things that it will be impossible after the war to return to the traditional free enterprise system," he declared. "In my opinion this is a grave danger that we face and one which must be reckoned with before the rolling snowball of centralized control gets too large for us to handle."

Leverone told the private agencies' organization it should be of "immeasurable service" in helping solve the important problem of effective placement of man power. He asserted that the private employment agency should be used by the government in expediting the placement of essential workers.

"The government should not attempt to instruct employers to use only federal employment services if the employer sees fit to continue his relations with private employment agencies," he declared. "The closing of a free market to employers would be a long step on the road to socialized labor—and you can't have socialized labor without socialized industry."

Urges Aggressive Stand.

Leverone urged the group to take an "aggressive stand" on this matter. He asserted that private agencies are in a far better position to aid the government in employé placement than "any other agency by or of government creation."

Frank Graves, chief inspector of private employment agencies in Illinois, told the group it was its duty to see that the production of war materials was carried out with consistent speed "by filling personnel requests with the right person for the right job."

WPB CUTS COCOA BEAN QUOTAS TO EKE OUT SUPPLY

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—Attempting to spread out dwindling supplies of cocoa beans and make current supplies last until mid-1943, the WPB today ordered the quota of beans which may be processed each quarter cut to 60 per cent of last year's figure. Previously the quota was 70 per cent.

At the same time, however, WPB boosted the monthly allowance of cloves—imported from Zanzibar in increased quantities recently—to permit use of the same average monthly amounts consumed last year.

Production of commercial type truck trailers for nonmilitary use was ordered halted effective July 1.

WPB undertook to expand the capacity of the heat exchanger industry—which manufactures coolers, condensors, and feed water heaters—by 150 per cent in the shortest possible time. Officials told industry representatives that 200 million dollars' worth of heat exchangers were needed before July 1, 1943, for the production of synthetic rubber, aviation gasoline, chemicals for explosives, and power plants for use ashore and on ships. Last year the industry, made up of 53 companies, turned out only 60 million dollars' worth.

Gimbel's Get Most of 5 Millions Loan in Chicago

New York, Jan. 25 [Special].—Gimbel Brothers, Inc., department store organization, has borrowed 5 million dollars from two banks to supplement working capital and pay off a $1,300,000 balance on a loan, it was disclosed today. The First National Bank of Chicago handled 3 million dollars of the loan and the Bankers Trust company, New York, the balance.

FIRST NATIONAL OF DETROIT WILL PAY ON INTEREST

Detroit, Mich., June 25 [Special].—Depositors in the First National bank, the closing of which by a governor's order in 1933 led to a national bank holiday at the outset of the first Roosevelt administration, will receive 25 million dollars soon in final settlement of interest claims, it was reported today.

All deposits have already been paid and the new offer is for an additional 7½ per cent. Depositors are not obliged to accept the offer. They may instead assign claims for interest to a First Liquidating corporation, and take chances on obtaining more thru liquidation of the bank's remaining assets.

The First Liquidating corporation is being organized by a group of majority stockholders to buy the remaining assets from Receiver B. C. Schram. The assets include real estate, notes, and mortgages.

O. K. Transfer of Socony Units to Magnolia Pipe Line

Transfer of pipe line properties of the Socony-Vacuum Oil company in Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio, valued at $4,629,052, to the Magnolia Pipeline company was approved yesterday by the Illinois Commerce commission.

STEEL PAY CASE CRUCIAL TEST OF INFLATION FIGHT

Boost Likely Would Be First of Many.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

As an expected decision in the "little steel" wage case was deferred yesterday, developments made plain that the critical phase of the fight to head off inflation is at hand. The steel wage is regarded as the crucial test of the wage stabilization policy enunciated by the President in his anti-inflation message.

Involved are the demands for wage increases of $1 a day for employés of the four big independent steel companies. Granting of the increase, it is conceded, would be followed by a general increase thruout not only the steel industry but in other industries as well. In 1936 and 1937 and again in 1941, increases in steel wages were the signal for a general raising of wages thruout the entire industrial field.

Report, Hearing Delayed.

A panel of the WLB that has been taking evidence in the steel case was scheduled to release its report yesterday in Washington. The panel report is a preliminary finding on which the full board, after brief public hearings, bases its decision. Late yesterday attorneys for the steel companies involved in the case were notified that the panel report would not be ready before Monday and that public hearings before the full board would begin next Wednesday instead of Monday as scheduled.

Earlier the panel had prepared a preliminary report which reported to have recommended favorable action on the wage increases. After this the companies and the unions were given an opportunity to present rebuttal arguments and testimony which will be incorporated in the report to be released next week.

Panel Progress Slow.

In the first draft of its report the panel was said to have side stepped the larger issue of whether a boost in wages at this time was in the national interest, passing along this critical question to the board.

The steel case was certified to the board last February. Its progress has been exceedingly slow. The board itself recently made plain that it was irked at the delays in its own machinery and had sought to turn the heat on panel groups to make speedier decisions.

Meanwhile, however, from other administration sources there have been definite indications that there is a mounting concern over the fate of the entire inflation program. The two dangerous spots, officials admit, are wages and farm prices. In other directions rationing and price fixing were considered to have achieved moderate success but the real test on farm prices and wages has not been met.

Test of Whole Program.

For this reason, the steel case is regarded as of the utmost importance to the entire anti-inflation program.

In opposing the wage demands, the Inland Steel company, one of the four companies affected, pointed out that the government itself will shoulder most of added wage expense. In Inland's case, the treasury would absorb 89 per cent of the prospective 3 million dollar increase because, based on estimates of 1942 taxes, the company's federal income taxes would be decreased by $2,662,500 thru the wage increase. Its net profit would be cut only $337,500.

It is estimated that a comparable wage increase would lift the pay rolls of the entire steel industry by about 200 million dollars annually.

FEDERAL LEASE OF RAIL BUILDING GIVEN APPROVAL

The Illinois Commerce commission yesterday approved a 10 year lease of the 14 story Chicago and North Western railway office building at Jackson boulevard and Franklin street to the United States government. As previously announced, the government plans to use the building for office space for war agencies and will move there about Sept. 1.

Terms of the lease provide for a rental of $187,500 for the first year and $150,000 a year for the next nine years. The contract also gives the government an option to purchase the building at the expiration of the lease for $500,000 plus reimbursement to the railroad for improvements, for which the railroad is spending $250,000 to $300,000.

Chrysler Asks Authority to Do Business in Illinois

Chrysler corporation, which is building a huge plant in Chicago, yesterday filed for record an application for a certificate of authority to transact business in Illinois. It will make airplane engines and other war supplies under contract, the application made in Springfield says.

Pour 108 Millions More Capital Into Chicago Area's War Plants

More than 108 million dollars of capital has been poured into new industrial projects in the Chicago area in the last month, Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, reported yesterday. The month's expenditure authorizations, $108,708,000, compared with $11,568,000 in the corresponding 1941 period.

The new projects raised to $389,146,000 the amount of funds earmarked in the first half of this year for industrial plant expansion, either for new plants or for addition to existing facilities. In the first half of 1941 expansions costing $118,750,000 were undertaken.

Huge Expansion in Area.

Lyon said that $748,412,000 of industrial expansion arising directly as a result of army and navy needs has been undertaken since the arms manufacturing program began in July, 1940.

Commenting on last month's projects, Lyon said "the biggest factors in the Chicago industrial spurt were final authorizations for the new Douglas and Howard aircraft plants, announcement of several important additions to the large plant recently started by Chrysler corporation, and important additions to several local factories already loaded to capacity with war orders."

Two New Firms Operate.

Two companies that have not operated in the Chicago area previously announced projects this month. They were Sciaky Brothers, maker of welding equipment, and the Akerite Chemical works. Sciaky Brothers began construction in the Clearing industrial district on a factory that will produce spot welders. Akerite Chemical acquired a location on the northwest side where it will manufacture glycerin and other chemicals.

Additions to plants already operating in this area were begun by Magnaflux corporation, Conveyor Systems, Inc.; Simpson Electric company, Drying Systems, Inc.; Barkling Fuel Engineering company, Excelsior Die and Tool works, Offner Electronics, D. O. James Manufacturing company, and others, Lyon said.

CLOUD WAMPLER NEW CARRIER PRESIDENT; FORMERLY OF CHICAGO

Cloud Wampler.

New York, June 25 [Special].—Cloud Wampler, former Chicago investment banker, today was elected president of the Carrier corporation, Syracuse, large manufacturer of air conditioning equipment. Wampler, formerly executive vice president, was chosen by the board of directors to fill the vacancy created by the death of J. Irvine Lyle.

Wampler was a resident of Chicago for many years. After graduating from Knox college in 1916 he started work with the Harris Trust and Savings bank. A year later he went with the army and after the first World war returned to the Harris Trust. Later he was president of Stern, Wampler & Co., Chicago investment house.

The Carrier directors elected Edward T. Murphy, senior vice president, a director. Murphy formerly was in charge of Carrier's middle western business, with headquarters in Chicago.

Business on Carrier's books is now the largest in history, orders booked during the first seven months of its fiscal year totaling $18,023,582.

PIPE MILL SHUT BY UNAUTHORIZED CIO UNION STRIKE

Lorain, O., June 25 (AP).—A strike involving 3,500 CIO United Steelworkers seeking wage adjustments closed the war-rushed pipe mills of the National Tube company here today and threatened to involve the rest of the company's 10,000 employés.

One of the largest strikes in the steel industry since Pearl Harbor and the first in the 46-year history of the United States Steel corporation's Lorain subsidiary, it came as corporation officials from Pittsburgh assembled here for the blowing in tomorrow of a new blast furnace.

Declaring the strike "illegal and a direct violation of a contract signed with the company last April," William F. Donovan, district director of the union, pleaded with them to return to their jobs. His appeal went unheeded as nearly 1,000 strikers voted not to return before a Saturday meeting. No strike vote was taken before the walkout, said Thomas Tycraft, recording secretary of the plant local.

Pullman Rests Its Case, but Decision Is Year Away

Philadelphia, Pa., June 25 (AP).—The Pullman group of companies, charged with violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, have rested their case in federal court, but a decision is not expected for more than a year. A three judge court announced it will hear governmental rebuttal next Tuesday. The government then will have until Oct. 31 to file briefs and the Pullman companies until June 30, 1943, to submit replies. The government contends the companies have monopolized the manufacture and servicing of railroad sleeping cars.

Patterson Jr., chairman of the board. Rathvon was associated for many years with Floyd B. Odlum in Atlas corporation, the announcement said.

BING GETS $300,000

Philadelphia, Pa., June 25 (AP).—Crooner Bing Crosby received $300,000 from Paramount Pictures last year to rank among the highest paid persons in the United States. He augmented his picture income with $100,640 from Decca records and an undetermined amount from his radio program. His earnings put him second behind Louis B. Mayer, production director of Loew's, Inc., who was paid $704,426, annual reports filed with the Securities and Exchange commission disclosed today.

Just behind Crosby in picture earnings were Fred MacMurray, $299,333, and Bob Hope, $294,166, both of Paramount.

Radio Pay Not Reported.

Crosby's radio earnings were not shown in the report of the National Dairy Products corporation, parent firm of Kraft Cheese company, sponsor of his radio show. National Dairy paid its chairman, Thomas H. McInnerney, $150,580, and L. A. Van Bomel, president and director, $73,640.

Another picture company, Radio-Keith-Orpheum did not report payments to its actors, actresses, directors, producers or writers, saying these payments were not considered bonus or shares in profits.

R-K-O listed $103,410 for George J. Schaefer, president and director, and $78,350 for Ned E. Pepinet, vice president and director. An agreement dated May 19, 1941, showed that Joseph I. Breen, in charge of production, was to be paid $104,000 a year at the rate of $2,000 a week.

Some Paid Much More.

Among executives who received sizable increases was Raymond H. Fogler, president, general manager and director of the W. T. Grant company, who got $120,000, including $60,000 as bonus or profit share. Fogler got $75,000 in 1940.

G. L. Steifel, president of Central Ohio Steel Products company, Galion, O., jumped from $31,499 in 1940 to $78,799 last year; Harry Scullin, president of the Scullin Steel company, St. Louis, drew $47,541 last year against $19,999 in 1940.

Other remunerations included:

CARNEGIE TURNS SHEET MILL AT GARY TO PLATES

Unused Machinery Put in Service.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation within the space of only a few months has converted the facilities of its big Gary sheet and tin mills from production of sheet steel for automobiles to steel plates used for ships and other war materials, J. L. Perry, president, announced yesterday.

J. L. Perry.
[Bachrach Photo.]

In order to convert the mills to roll the heavy steel required for plates suitable for ship construction many adjustments in the huge machinery used had to be made. A considerable amount of equipment was brought from other plants where it was not in use.

Rolling steel suitable for use in automobile bodies and other peacetime articles presents a considerably different problem from that of rolling heavy steel needed for ships.

Requires Thicker Steel.

Steel used for automobile bodies—it is also used for mechanical refrigerators, washing and ironing machines, steel furniture, and other items—is only a small fraction of an inch thick. Plate steel for ships and war materials is an inch or more thick.

The big 80 inch hot strip mill at the sheet and tin mills already is turning out steel plates which are to go into ships. Next month it will be producing plates at the rate of approximately 65,000 tons a month, altho originally rated when put up in 1936 at a capacity of 60,000 tons a month.

On a basis of the estimated 3,400 tons of plate required to build a war cargo ship, the mill will produce enough of this essential material to build about 19 ships a month. Production at the converted mill is in addition to Carnegie's production of plates elsewhere in the Chicago area.

Some Workers Displaced.

"Ingenuity of the type which made America great is winning, and will continue to win, the battle of production until victory is won in the present war," Perry said in commenting on the Gary achievement.

The conversion resulted in some dislocation in employment because fewer workers are required on the plate operation. However, most of the employés affected have been transferred to other mills in the Gary district.

Officials of Carnegie-Illinois and other Chicago area steel companies refused to comment on the charges of "inefficiency and greed" made against the nation's steel mills by Philip Murray, president of the CIO and its United Steel Workers.

SEC DENIES PLEA TO VACATE NORTH AMERICAN ORDER

Philadelphia, Pa., June 25 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission denied today the petitions of the North American company and two subsidiairies for rehearing and to set aside order directing the company to reduce its system to a single integrated unit.

The SEC, however, granted the two subsidiaries, Illinois-Iowa Power company and Northern Natural Gas company, permission to introduce further evidence relating to oil drilling facilities of Illinois-Iowa and pipe line facilities of the gas company.

The SEC in its order of April 14 directed North American to reduce its system to the Union Electric Company of Missouri and its subsidiaries.

Washington, D. C., June 25 (AP).—The labor department's wholesale price index for last week was 98.1, down 0.3 point for the third consecutive weekly decline and at the lowest level since mid-April. In three weeks the index has dropped 0.7 point. A year ago the index was 87.2 and in 1937 it was 86.5. For the month of June, 1929, it was 95.2.

STOCKS UNEVEN AS TRADERS SCAN DARK WAR NEWS

Late Bids Fail to Break Market Stalemate.

New York, June 25 (AP).—The stock market had little to go on today in the way of hopeful war news or tax optimism, and the result was a continuance of mild irregularity.

There was some late bidding but not enough to break the stalemate. Declines were small at the start, and most leaders finished with minor variations. There were a few wider gaps either way.

Expressions of encouragement by congressional leaders after a conference with Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt lifted Wall street spirits a trifle, but inconclusive battle developments in Egypt and at Sevastopol made for speculative and investment conservatism.

Stock Average Unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 35. Transfers of 245,420 shares compared with 243,680 Wednesday.

United States Distributing preferred jumped 3½ points to a new top since 1931. Chicago Great Western preferred was up 1⅛, and lesser advances were retained by Great Northern, United States Steel, Chrysler, and United States Rubber.

Allied Chemical dropped 3 points. Smaller recessions were shown for Pennsylvania, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Texas company, and Eastman Kodak.

CHICAGO STOCKS DIP.

Chicago corporation, which closed unchanged at 1, accounted for 6,450 of the 15,000 shares traded yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Prices were unevenly lower. Of 56 issues traded, 17 advanced, 27 declined, and 12 closed unchanged. Among other more active stocks, Potter company advanced ⅜ to ⅞, Zenith Radio advanced ¾ to 13¾, and Armor & Co. was unchanged at 2⅜. Commonwealth Edison advanced ¼ and Zenith declined ⅛ in the half hour after the close in New York.

2 MORE UNITS IN BELL SYSTEM VOTE LESS TO AMERICAN TELEPHONE

Two subsidiaries of the American Telephone and Telegraph company yesterday announced reductions in dividends. At Philadelphia directors of the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania declared a quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the common stock, a reduction of 25 cents from the rate paid in previous quarters.

The Northwestern Bell Telephone company, Omaha, Neb., authorized a 75 cent dividend on its common, a reduction of 50 cents from the $1.25 quarterly paid since 1937. Directors said the action resulted from "continuing downward trend in earnings which has been evident for some time." All the common stock in both companies is owned by A. T. & T. Several other subsidiaries previously have reduced dividends this year.

Chicago and Southern Air Lines of St. Louis announced a 50 cent dividend on its common stock, the first since 15 cents was paid in June, 1939. Boeing Airplane company voted $7 on the common stock, the first since the initial dividend of 40 cents in December, 1937.

HOG PRICES DROP AFTER STRENGTH IN EARLY TRADE

Wholesale Pork Market Remains Unchanged.

Moderate supplies and reports of heavy lend-lease purchases of pork and lard resulted in a steady to strong market for hogs at the opening of yesterday's session. Some sales of "lard type" stock indicated 5 to 10 cents advance over the low close of Wednesday. Action quieted later in the day and the close was weak with a few scattered sales 5 to 10 cents lower.

Both the top and average prices remained unchanged at $14.55 and $14.30 a hundred pounds respectively, later weakness offsetting the early strength. Packers reported no changes in the wholesale markets for fresh pork.

Steady prices were paid for the majority of good fat lambs. Top new crop stock again reached $15.85, the same price that bought the top loads the two preceding days. Old sheep and yearlings remained unchanged.

Cattle sold steady to strong. The best available brought $14.35, with the bulk of steers and yearlings from $12.25 to $13.75. Beef cows, canners, and cutters were steady. Calves advanced 50 cents. Bulls were steady to 25 cents lower.
